HOOVER OPPOSES FEDERAL REGULATION OF POWER

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—Federal regulation of the electrical power industry was opposed by Secretary of Commerce Herbert C. Hoover in an address here tonight before the convention of the National Electric Light Association.

Mr. Hoover expressed the opinion that the States safeguarded the interests of the public amply.

"During last year," he said, "the Department of Commerce has been engaged upon a study into the efficiency and the results of State regulation of the industry. Few persons seem to realize the fullness, the power and the authority of the regulation now in effect. It is not necessary for me to say that in either State or municipal regulation of the rates of return of 6 per cent in all but two States and of service in all but a large majority of cases. These principles are generally recognized over the United States.

"When we survey the work of State commissions and the increasing body of court decisions governing their rulings as a whole we find that we are rapidly becoming a science of fairness and of understanding, on the one hand, of the means of production and, on the other hand, of such a reasonable return to the industry as will assure its advancement. It is apparent from this investigation that public-service commissions, with very little just criticism, are proving themselves fully competent to control the situation. The powers now written in the State laws are sufficient to protect the public and the investing parties to the utilities."

[IN RATES CITED]

Specific rates are cited to show that rates are below former averages "despite an increase of 100 per cent in wages, and increased cost of fuel and many supplies," he cited instances of the reasonableness in many sections.

He opposed Federal regulation.

Kellogg Statement Expected to Help in Checking Unruly Element

Obregon Message Denouncing Interference is Topic in Capital Circles

BY JACK STARR-HUNT
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, June 17.—A desire to aid President Calles and to provide him with a lever to control the unruly elements of this country is attributed as the motive prompting the recent statement of Secretary of State Kellogg demanding the protection of Americans in Mexico, according to opinions expressed today in official and unofficial circles.

The atmosphere is gradually clearing and the comment as a whole is much more moderate in tone. The press shows less inclination to attack Secretary Kellogg, although El Democrata is still violent in its denunciation of the statement.

An article in El Universal compares Kellogg's statement to "a full broadside fired at a sailing ship which dared cross its path."

The Excelsior declares commercial circles are optimistic.

NEW CRISIS CONFRONTED BY PAINLEVE

Split in Left Bloc Looms as Socialists Threaten to Bolt Over Morocco

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, June 17.—Premier Painleve must decide whether he will continue in power with a changed majority emanating from the Left Center, the Center and part of the Right, instead of the old Left bloc majority, or whether he will refuse to carry on the government unsupported by the Radicals and Socialists and he may have to decide tomorrow.

The Socialist Deputies, at a caucus today with the party's central administrative committee, were inclined to impose abstention on the 103 members of the party when the vote on Moroccan credits for war against Abd-El-Krim comes up in the Chamber. If the Socialists abstain from voting a split in the Left bloc is inevitable. They adjourned until tomorrow without reaching a decision.

The Socialist extremists voiced opposition to M. Painleve at the meeting of the Military, Naval, Foreign Affairs and Colonial committee chairmen meeting this afternoon, one of them explaining, "French action in Morocco recalls Poincare rather than Painleve."

Units of Battle Fleet Arrive at San Francisco

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—The scout cruisers Milwaukee and Raleigh, destroyer squadron No. 14, destroyer division No. 18, and mine squadron No. 1 arrived in port here today from Hawaii, where all the warships excepting destroyers in division No. 18 engaged in the recent war maneuvers. The warships are on the way to the Atlantic coast for station with the scouting fleet, and are due to leave this port the 24th inst.

The battleship Wyoming, flagship of Rear-Admiral J. S. McKean, is to arrive tomorrow and the destroyer Rail, disabled by a broken propeller, and now in tow of the minesweeper Bobolink, is expected at the same time.

Division No. 18, made up of twelve destroyers, is returning from the Asiatic station, where it has been stationed for several years.

SCOFFS AT FEAR OF ICE ERA

Scientist Says Glacier Age Was Due to Climate of Greater Average Warmth Than at Present

BY WATSON DAVIS
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTLAND, June 17.—The human race will escape freezing in another ice age, which some scientists have predicted will occur 10,000 years in the future.

For C. E. Grunsky, San Francisco engineer, in his presidential address to the Pacific Coast division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science here tonight, explained that the great ice age of the past was due to a climate, not of extreme cold, but of greater average warmth than at the present time. Since the earth is continually cooling, never again will the heavy rainfall and great accumulations of snow and ice be possible. Man is to be saved the possibility of having to live like Eskimos during some future revival of the times when great sheets of ice covered the northern half of Middle Western and Eastern United States and great glaciers crept slowly down the slopes of Sierra Nevadas.

Paradoxical as it may sound, Mr. Grunsky holds that his researches among the beds of the ancient lakes of which the Great Salt Lake is a typical remnant, show that the ice age was a time when temperatures were higher, not lower, than they are at the present time. This must have been so in order to have the great precipitations of rain and snow more than twice as great as at present that were necessary in order to form the glaciers.

WHY GLACIERS GROW

"Under the conception of a gradual cooling of the earth from a condition of great heat to the surface temperatures as we now know them, there is no place for the sudden arrival of a temporary era of cold causing an ice age, as so generally assumed by geologists," said Mr. Grunsky.

"Whether an ice field will grow or will shrink in any region where snowfalls in winter, depends on the annual amount of snowfall compared with the annual melt and evaporation."

"If more snow falls than can be melted during the summer, the glacier grows; if not, it recedes just as is the case in Alaska and Switzerland today. Generally warm temperatures are necessary to bring about the abundant rainfall that will cause more snow than can be melted."

About 10,000 years from now the earth in its yearly journey around the sun will be its farthest point from the sun at just the time when its axis is so pointed as to cause winter in the northern hemisphere. This coincidence is a favorite cause of the ice age and the basis for the prediction of a cold spell for man and everything else living on the earth. Mr. Grunsky holds, however, that such arrangements of the earth and sun will have but little effect on the amount of snowfall and certainly an almost negligible effect on the winter rate of melt and evaporation, while the increased heat of the somewhat shorter summer will have a relatively great effect on the melting of the snow.

He believes "conditions will then be less favored for extensive ice fields in northern latitudes than they now are."

SCIENTISTS REPORT

In fact, the great glaciers of the ice age were formed by the same agency that caused great lakes and rapidly flowing rivers—that is, ample precipitation. The reason that the great ice sheets were concentrated south of the Arctic region, which then had a mild climate, is that rainfall was greatest

GENEVA ARMS PACT SIGNED

Seventeen States Back Plan; Twenty-seven Outlaw Gas; United States Subscribes to Both

GENEVA, June 17.—Peace and good will among nations was the dominant note when today the international conference on the control of the traffic in arms and munitions ended with eighteen countries emphasizing their desire for international co-operation by signing the arms traffic convention. Twenty-seven subscribed to the protocol outlawing the use of bacteria and poison gas in war time. This is a new record for Geneva.

This is a new record for Geneva.

The American delegation signed both documents. It is anticipated many more States will sign later. After several had praised the conciliatory spirit shown by the Americans, Representative Theodore E. Burton of Ohio replied, emphasizing the United States is ever ready to co-operate in movements toward peace, asking only that other nations recognize America's exceptional geographical position and understand America's traditions. The United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan were the first to sign the arms traffic convention. All the great powers except France signed the poison gas protocol, but it was officially announced that France would sign later.

The signers of the arms convention are: The United States, Brazil, Great Britain, India, Chile, Spain, Esthonia, Abyssinia, Finland, Italy, Japan, Latvia, Luxembourg, Poland, Rumania, San Salvador, Jugo-Slavia and France.

The signers of the gas protocol are: The United States, Germany, Brazil, Great Britain, Canada, India, Chile, Denmark, Spain, Esthonia, Abyssinia, Finland, Greece, Italy, Japan, Latvia, Luxembourg, Nicaragua, Holland, Poland, Portugal, Rumania, San Salvador, Switzerland, Jugo-Slavia, Turkey and Nruguay.

The arms convention will come into force as soon as it is ratified by any fourteen States. The gas protocol becomes operative for each signatory as soon as that country deposits its ratification, though a ratifying power will be bound only toward those who have also ratified.

The arms traffic convention institutes a complete system of licenses and certificates, which, with the accompanying obligatory publicity, will permit international knowledge of all movement of arms and war materials from one country to another.

CHINA REDS BEHEADED

Powers Warn of Radical Plot

Communists Are Rounded Up to Counter Widespread Antiforeign Move

Government Sends Protests to Russia Over Arms Supplied Canton

BY CHARLES DAILEY
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PEKING, June 17.—Warned by the powers of a wide-spread Communist plot involving an attack on foreigners, China has begun a round-up of radicals in provinces where they have been active. Several Chinese Communists have been beheaded by order of the Governor of Hupeh, six others have been jailed and five leaders of the student bodies in Hankow have been arrested.

Chang Tso Lin's troops at the request of the consular body have occupied the foreign concession at Tientsin, while loyal troops may possibly enter other concessions when invited.

Chang Tso Lin's troops are continuing to arrive at Peking, many showing signs of fatigue from their forty-eight hour forced march. The troops of Feng Yu Hsiang, the Christian leader and rival of Gen. Chang, are remaining outside the city, but they will be asked soon to evacuate.

When told of a suspected Communist plot here in connection with Monday's parade, Lu Chung Lin, commander of the Christian general's Peking garrison, said he sent troops purely to prevent an invasion of the legation quarters, while officers, in student gowns, were ordered to participate in the parade for the purpose of preventing a Communist outbreak.

Chang Tso Lin's son is in Shanghai conferring with the consular body there at his father's request. Chang is willing to patrol the Shanghai foreign settlement the same as at Tientsin. Chang has sent Chang Tseng, the military governor of Shantung, to Shanghai to co-operate with Chang Hsueh-Ling in restoring order. Chang is making further dispositions of troops for the protection of both foreigners and the Peking government. The government is becoming more alert in watching officers accused of Kuomingtangism, or Communism. Protests are being made to Russia for the sending of arms, men and ammunition to the Communist group now holding Canton. Peking counts on foreign warships to assist it in averting an outbreak at Swatow. Airplanes of the Christian general's allies in Honan Province are dropping pamphlets favorable to the Communists.

CHINA SITUATION UP IN COMMONS TODAY

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, June 17.—Answering a question in the House of Commons today, Arthur M. Samuel, who is acting for Austen Chamberlain, the British Foreign Minister, in the latter's absence, said that all possible steps are being taken to protect British subjects in China. He said 1100 troops of various nationalities have landed at Shanghai with 800 more in reserve.

Prime Minister Baldwin told Ramsay MacDonald that he proposed to give an opportunity tomorrow for debate on the Chinese situation. Foreign Minister Tchitcherin of Russia has circularized all the soviet legations, informing them that the soviet will insist on participation in any international conference on Chinese affairs.

He declares that soviet Russia is China's nearest and most powerful neighbor and it cannot be excluded to permit exploitation by British and American capitalists and missionaries.

CANTON STRIKE SET TO BEGIN 25TH INST.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

CANTON, June 17.—The threatened general strike of all Chinese workers today was set definitely to begin the 25th inst.

The situation today, both as regards antiforeign agitation and troubles among different factions of the Chinese, was quiet, but foreigners expected further trouble.

General Ngai Bong-Ping, one of the leaders in the present Canton government, was said to have retired from active participation in its affairs because of a disagreement with his associates over allotment of government posts.

Proclamations were issued today forbidding gambling and trading in opium. The two occupations were observed continuing as usual, despite the proclamation.

Troops in the army occupying Canton were requested to move beyond the city limits, in anticipation of orders.

BRITISH POLICEMAN MOBBED BY CHINESE

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

SHANGHAI, June 17. — P. S. Gavin, a British citizen and a motorcycle policeman for the Shanghai international settlement, was mobbed by Chinese here tonight. He was seriously hurt, but injuries are not believed fatal.

Gavin encountered a throng on the near-by East Kashing road, being harangued by a student. He interrupted the speaker and ordered the crowd to disperse. He was answered with threats. Gavin then ordered a Chinese constable to return to the police substation, only a short distance away, and obtain help.

HEAT WAVE AGAIN HITS MIDWEST

Mercury Soars to Nineties in Chicago and Adjacent Country Districts

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, June 17. — Chicago and adjacent portions of the Middle West again are in the grip of another heat wave, with the mercury up in the nineties. At Chicago the temperature touched 91 deg. at 5 p.m.

Two children were drowned while seeking relief from the heat. They were Mitchell Tonek, 15 years of age and Louise Zumf, 17.

Meanwhile, inhabitants of the Fox River Valley are menaced by a typhoid epidemic, due to the recent drought. According to complaints made to State officials by the authorities of Elgin and St. Charles, Ill., the water in the Fox River is so low that it is barely able to move sewage and the result is described as a cesspool of disease-breeding slime. Bert C. Norris, of the St. Charles health department, says the river is almost dry.

During a heavy thunderstorm early this morning, fifteen passengers in a South Side street car were endangered when a bolt of lightning ran down the trolley pole and set fire to the roof. The top of the car burst into flames and the passengers, among whom were several women, hurried to the platforms in great confusion.

In different sections of the city, five families were driven from their homes in the downpour of rain when lightning struck the roofs. Basements were flooded and sewers clogged.

Little relief from today's heat is in sight for this section, the Weather Bureau reported tonight. Temperatures will remain the same.

ROBISON TO LEAD NAVY

Succeeds Coontz as Commander

Five Captains Promoted to Rank of Rear-Admiral by Secretary Wilbur

Engineering Bureau Head Fails for Second Time to Win Place in List

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, June 17. — Admiral Samuel S. Robison, commander of the Battle Fleet, was appointed commander-in-chief of the United States Fleet today by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur. He will succeed Admiral Robert E. Coontz immediately after the conclusion of the Australian cruise.

Admiral Robison's elevation to the high command featured a day during which several important changes were made in the high command of the Navy and five promotions to the rank of rear-admiral were announced. All changes will take effect about October 1.

The five captains promoted are Thomas Jones Sonn, Richard Henry Leigh, George William Laws, George Calvin Day and Luke McNamee. In naming these men, the selection board which made the recommendations to Secretary Wilbur passed over five captains and failed to recommend Capt. J. K. Robison, the chief of the engineering bureau of the Navy, who approved the leasing of the naval oil reserves.

WAR COLLEGE MEN

In making these selections the ruling authorities gave a larger degress of representation to the officers who have taken the course at the Naval War College at Newport than in any recent year's distribution of promotions and assignments.

Al lof the five captains promoted have a war college background and three of the new admirals to command the forces at sea, also hold war college diplomas. The notable exception is Admiral Robison, who is a non-war college graduate.

The campaign which has been waged by Rear Admiral Williams Sims, retired, of Newport, and other officers to have the key position in the Navy filled by officers who have perfected themselves in their profession by taking the war college course, apparently has borne fruit.

ENGINEER CHIEF FAILS

The omission of Capt. Robison, who failed of promotion last year, although at that time he was recommended, caused a stir in navy circles, because it was confidently predicted that he would be sent up for promotion again this year. His friends declare that developments in the oil trials had vindicated him and had high hopes that he would win higher rank.

Following his failure to win promotion this year, his friends today predicted that he would shortly retire.

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur stated that in case Capt. Robison left the service while chief of the Engineering Bureau, he would be retired with the rank of rear-admiral, the temporary rank which he now holds. He said that Robison would be kept in his present post until September, but refused to state what would be done at that time.

Other changes in the command-

[A full page of pictures of leading participants and ships of the MacMillan expedition will be found on Page 13, Part II.]

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BOSTON, June 17.—With impressive ceremonies conducted on the deck of the frigate Constitution, oldest and most cherished of America's naval craft, the steamer Peary of the MacMillan Arctic expedition was sent from the Boston Navy Yard this noon on her double mission of exploration of the uncharted area between Alaska and the North Pole and to seek Capt. Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer, and his five companions if they are still missing when the expedition reaches its base at Etah.

The beginning of the voyage was one of the principal events in connection with the city's celebration of the 150th anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill. The navy yard from which it started is in the shadow of the monument commemorating that significant event in American history.

An enthusiastic gathering of 5000 men, women and children assembled to see the departure of the steamer and to listen to the addresses by the intrepid leader of the expedition, representatives of the nation, State and city, the Navy Department and the National Geographic Society, the two latter of which are sponsoring the venture which Lieutenant-Commander Donald B. MacMillan believes may result in the discovery of a new continent in the great white North and which he is sure will collect data of scientific value.

While the crowd cheered, cannon roared, steamship whistles shrieked and a squadron of seaplanes from the Squantum naval air base circled overhead to add the drone of their motors, to the din, the Peary cast off from her pier at exactly 12:15 o'clock. Escorted by three city fire boats spouting geysers of water high in the air, and three navy eagle boats, which will convoy her until she leaves the coastal waters of the United States, she steamed slowly down the harbor, riding low in the calm sea under the huge burden of food, fuel and other stores and equipment which she carries.

The demonstration marking the sailing continued until the steamer disappeared far down the harbor to head up the coast for Wiscasset, Me., where she will join the schooner Bowdoin. The Peary is due to reach Wiscasset tomorrow. Additional supplies and equipment are to be taken on there and then both vessels will sail from that port on Saturday afternoon.

SAYS CALLES HAS PUT MEXICO ON HER FEET

Leading American in Mexico Tells President's Achievements in Six Months in Office

"When you stop to think of the vast obstacles in his path, President Calles has in the last few months since his inauguration made tremendous progress in bringing Mexico back toward stable and economic life," said Benjamin F. Johnston, the leading industrial and agricultural figure on the Mexican West Coast, who is at the Biltmore. Mr. Johnston is president of the United Sugar Companies with enormous American-owned plantations in Sinaloa and he is the colonizer and developer of other large acreage now producing vast quantities of food produce around Los Mochis. He has been a successful operator in Mexico for thirty years and is thoroughly qualified to speak on Mexico from the American's standpoint.

Mr. Johnston comes directly from Mexico and brings with him data on the actual situation of the Calles administration which he summarizes as follows:

"Gen. Calles has been President of Mexico since December 1, 1924, about six months.

"In those six months he has instituted and made effective reforms which in themselves constitute a greater progress toward the ultimate rehabilitation of the republic than have been made in any similar period since the days of Diaz.

"His predecessor in office, Gen. Obregon, was a man of extraordinary ability and determination but was given little opportunity to do more for his country than to suppress the De la Huerta revolution. During much of Obregon's regime Mexico was under arms. The effects of the hard-fought campaign upon the republic's finances were demoralizing.

When Calles took office the government was flat broke and facing a staggering financial situation at home and abroad.

"Her foreign debt of 500,000,000 pesos was a source of pressing embarrassment by reason of the insistence of creditors made uneasy by their knowledge of Mexico's empty treasury.

"The government owed $5,000,000 pesos in domestic debts. About half of this was for supplies from merchants. The other half represented back pay for clamoring employees.

"Calles has paid the workers every centavo due them and all but a small part of the remaining domestic debt.

"By a rigid reorganization of the government's financial system he has paved the way for a resumption of interest payments on Mexico's foreign debt and for the adjudication and payment of American claims for damages suffered during the revolution.

"He has put the government on a pay-as-you-go basis. Bills are now paid when due for the operation of the government.

"He has a balance of something like 50,000,000 pesos in the erstwhile barren treasury. The exact sum on May 13, over a month ago, was 36,000,000 pesos.

BUSINESS METHODS

"Calles has installed business-like methods in his government. He has discharged between 4000 and 5000 unnecessary civil employees and has taken steps to see that those remaining earn their pay.

"He has dismissed the entire first reserve of the army, which had been kept on pay. At one stroke this relieved the government payrolls of 20,000 men, or one-third of the whole army.

"Calles has put the National Railway in a way to become self-supporting instead of the dead loss of millions of pesos a year which they have been since 1915. When his present program of reforms in operating methods and payroll-pruning is complete, the railway personnel will have been reduced by between 3000 and 4000 men and the railways will save 12,000,000 pesos a year.

"Calles has broken the stranglehold of the labor unions on the government-owned utilities by making the railways subsidiary to the Department of Communications. Hitherto all railway employees have been unionized, at a tremendous increase in operating expenses due to strikes, agitation, incompetence and the ceaseless demands for overpay. Now railway employees are forbidden to join the union.

"Calles has canceled 8000 free passes on the National Railways, representing another saving of some 8,000,000 pesos a year.

"He has discontinued the practice of subsidizing labor unions.

"He has canceled all State loans, long a dead weight upon the Federal government.

"By his radical reforms in governmental business methods he has gone far toward restoring the confidence of foreign investors in Mexican enterprises.

"He has largely lifted from domestic industries the heavy yoke of union domination and by the restoration of law and order has made possible a resumption of gainful occupations throughout the republic.

AMERICA BENEFITTED

"His encouragement of friendly relations with the United States has been reflected in a considerable increase in international business, to the benefit of both countries.

"Lastly and perhaps most important of all, Calles has won the confidence of the substantial element of his own people by the strong and uncompromising stand he has taken on public questions. He has braved the wrath of the labor unions, of the military faction and of a powerful political element controlled by the discharged army of civil employees. He has declined to accept dictation from any source and has devoted himself wholeheartedly to a constructive program for restoring Mexico to her place among stable governments.

"It seems to me that a real service has been done both Mexico and the United States through the interchange of communications beginning with the note of Secretary Kellogg, in that they have brought to light some of the serious conditions which Gen. Calles is combatting, and this seeming clash will prove a real and practical benefit."

farm in Sonora, fully supporting the President's reply. Surprise was manifest over the message sent President Coolidge by the Regional Confederation of Mexican Labor Regarding Kellogg's statement.

Obregon stated he considered President Calles's reply fully defended the nation's decorum and that "none can deny your reply was justified." According to Obregon, Secretary Kellogg pretends in each of his conceptions to show that the fate of the Mexican government rests with the Department of State, and that he "appears to ignore that past experiences have shown to the world, with unimpeachable evidence, that in Mexico the government can function and exist normally without the official support of the White House."

WHITE HOUSE SUPPORT

The former President adds that "Carranza's government did not have the support of the White House or Wall street and it was able to establish itself, and when it did become friendly with the United States, internal political events overthrew it. My own government functioned and was consolidated with the most complete normality under analogous conditions, and your government, which is trying to carry out its internal and external obligations, happily, does not depend on the action of any public functionary or foreign power."

The message praises Calles for his disregard of foreign pressure, stating that "Kellogg's statements are perplexing, but none of them as much as the statement that Mexico stands on trial before the world."

In conclusion Obregon asserts, "I have not been able to see the silhouette of American opinion behind Kellogg's statement, and the one I see is a very different one."

ing personnel call for the promotion of Rear-Admiral C. F. Hughes, at present in charge of fleet training at the Navy Department, to the position of commander-in-chief of the United States battle fleet.

Rear-Admiral C. F. Williams, at present in command of the naval war college, becomes commander of the Adriatic fleet, with the rank of Vice-Admiral.

Rear-Admirals Roger Wells, commanding the naval operating base at Hampton Roads, Va., becomes commander-in-chief of the European fleet, with the rank of Vice-Admiral.

Rear-Admiral R. H. Jackson, at present assistant chief of the bureau of operations, Navy Department, will be commander-in-chief of the battleships division, with the rank of Vice-Admiral.

An unusual feature of the promotions is the fact that both Admiral S. S. Robison and Hughes were in the same class at Annapolis with Secretary of the Navy Wilbur. The Secretary graduated in 1888.

Other promotions announced include twenty-seven commanders raised to the rank of captain and forty-nine lieutenant-commanders raised to the rank of commander.

ADMIRAL ROBISON HAS WAR RECORD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Admiral S. S. Robison has been commander of the Battle Fleet since June 30, 1923 and has had the permanent rank of Rear-Admiral since 1921. He was born in Juniata county, Pa., in 1867 and graduated at the Naval Academy in 1890. During the World War he was for a time commander of the submarine force of the Atlantic Fleet, then supervisor of all submarines in commission with the Pacific and Asiatic fleet, and later commander of Squadron No. 8 of the patrol force who combatted the campaign of the German submarines. After the war he was named American naval representative on the commission for executing the naval terms of the armistice with Germany.

He has also served on the general board at Washington and as military governor of the Dominican republic.

ORDERS CITY IMPROVEMENTS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) June 17. Ordinances authorizing the expenditure of $125,000 of city funds for improvements have been passed by the City of San Antonio council. The proposal of the McKenzie Construction Company to build the outfall sewer for $95,000 was accepted, and an ordinance passed appropriating that amount out of the 1924 general fund.

IDENTIFIED CAR HINTS MURDER

Wrecked Auto in Chinatown is Missing Men's

Pomona Pair's Disappearance Laid to Foul Play

Officers Redouble Efforts After Clew is Found

Disclosing a possible double murder, identification was made yesterday of a wrecked automobile recovered by police in Chinatown several days ago as the car in which two young Pomona men left their homes on May 23, last, to go on a fishing trip to Santa Monica.

Coincident with the identification of the automobile, relatives appealed to Chief of Detectives Home to clear up the mystery surrounding the disappearance of the two men.

FOUL PLAY FEARED

The relatives were emphatic in expressing belief that the men had met with foul play.

The two missing men are Marvin J. Gilardy, 27 years of age, 551 North Alvarado street, Pomona, and Harold (Bud) Coppland, 17, residing on West Fifth street, Pomona. Gilardy resided with his wife and baby, and Coppland lived with his mother. Since the two left Pomona on May 23 no word has been heard from either of them.

When the two men failed to appear at their homes on the day following their departure, the Sheriff's office was notified. At the time the customary inquiries were made but were without avail. It was thought the men had decided to remain on their trip a day or two longer than planned, but with the discovery of the automobile, the property of Coppland, both police and Sheriff's office have ordered a thorough search.

FINALLY IDENTIFIED

The abandoned automobile of Coppland was found on the 1st. inst., by a policeman, parked in an alley near Machesrsault street, in Chinatown. One wheel was damaged and the car had been stripped of accessories. It was only yesterday that police were able to learn the owner's name, as marks of identification had been removed.

Neither man has ever before absented himself from his home, according to relatives. Detective Lieutenants Jones and Lloyd have been assigned to the case.

FIRST LADY OF MEXICO VISITS HERE

Mrs. Calles and Party in Los Angeles for Shopping; Arrival is Surprise

The lure of the city's exclusive shops and the widely heralded wonders of the Southland brought Mexico's first lady of the land, Senora Natalia de E. Calles, wife of President Calles, to Los Angeles yesterday for an intensive shopping and sight-seeing tour.

Mrs. Calles arrived here incognito. She was accompanied by her two daughters, Alicia, 13 years of age, and Mrs. Hortensa Torreblanca. Mrs. Torreblanca's husband, Fernando, and Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Barnachano.

The distinguished visitors registered at the Biltmore and are making their home there during their stay in Los Angeles. They came here from San Diego, where Mrs. Calles's youngest daughter has been attending school.

Mrs. Calles stated her presence here is "a visit of friendship." She came here, she said, to shop in Los Angeles stores, because, "better things can be purchased in this city than anywhere else in the United States."

in that area in which the ice became more than 10,000 feet thick at one time. The famous Dead Sea, in Palestine, was once much bigger than it is now as a result of greater precipitation, which also caused glaciers in that region many years ago.

Scientists of the West began reporting the results of their research at the meeting here today. Those interested in soil and agricultural research discussed how to reclaim for crops the vast expanses of land now rendered unfit by their high concentrations of alkali and salts, while foresters discussed the woods of the Pacific Coast and how they can be made to supply timber for increasing populations.

Gland Surgeon Gets Monkey Guests of City; Couldn't Settle Up

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, June 17.—A troupe of jungle simians at Bordeaux don't know it, but they have leaped from the frying pan into the fire. After arrival to take part in a small circus their owner, an amateur Barnum, was jailed for failing to pay for them before leaving Algeria.

When the city couldn't obtain payment for the monkey dinner bills while the owner was in jail, it seized the entire troupe and has sold them to Dr. Voronoff, the gland surgeon, and to the Pasteur Institute.

KRUTTSCHNITT RITES TODAY

Officials of Espee and Lifelong Friends Will Bear Him to Grave; Road to Observe Silence

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW ORLEANS, June 17.—Officials of the Southern Pacific and lifelong friends will be the active pallbearers for Julius Kruttschnitt, when his body is laid to rest in beautiful Metairie Cemetery, tomorrow afternoon.

Many executives of the Southern Pacific will meet the private car in which the remains are being carried over the Louisville and Nashville Railroad to the city of his birth. The train is due here at 7:20 a.m., Thursday. The body will lie in state from then until 11 a.m., the hour of the funeral at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Camp and Gaiennie streets.

At 9 a.m. Thursday the great Southern Pacific system will be stilled one minute out of respect to the dead chief.

The following will serve as pallbearers:

G. S. Ward; general manager; R. W. Knox, chief surgeon, and H. M. Lull, chief engineer of the Louisiana and Texas lines, with offices at Houston; Charles S. Fay, traffic manager, with headquarters at New Orleans; Guy Hopkins, a former official of the Louisiana lines of the Southern Pacific, and now a director in on the subsidiary companies; George Denegres, general attorney of the Louisiana lines; John W. Phillips of I. L. Lyons & Co., and Walter A. Staffor.

W. R. Scott, president of the Texas and Louisiana Southern Pacific lines, sent the following telegram in reply to a message of condolence from Charles Theard of the Citizens' Bank:

"I have no doubt that the citizens of New Orleans and of Louisiana will pay marked tribute to this great man, through his activities in building up the great railroad system with which he has been connected nearly half a century, for the future development of his native State, he has builded a monument which will endure for all time."

LOCAL DIVISION WILL JOIN IN TRIBUTE

In tribute to the memory of Julius Kruttschnitt, who until May 31, last, was chairman of the executive committee of the company, arrangements were made for all activities of the Southern Pacific Company in Los Angeles to halt for one minute today.

The minute of silence was set from 9 to 9:01 a.m., Pacific time, in Los Angeles, as well as at all other points where the company operates, as this is the hour of the funeral services for Mr. Kruttschnitt at New Orleans.

Orders for the halt in company activities throughout Southern California were issued by T. H. Williams, assistant general manager. They called for all trains to pause, all machinery in the general shops and elsewhere to be stopped and for all employees to cease work in silent tribute.

FEDERAL POWER RULE IS OPPOSED

still regulates the price and service of the distributing company. Most commissions exercise supervision of the contracts for purchase of power. The commissions are unlikely to blindly accept as an item of cost the amount paid to an external transmission company for its power, but rather they will examine the cost and reject it as a basic element if found unfair or excessive or collusive."

As further considerations he asserted: "Power is, by necessity, bound to be local in its districts—as to its service, its generation and distribution. It differs widely from the interstate implications of the railways where they are dependent not upon districts but upon whole groups of States. Local acquaintance, local valuation and public opinion can operate upon power to their fullest extent. Nothing will produce worse service than to attempt to transfer local problems to absentee solution at Washington. And, if our democracy will stand at all, it must stand upon the local responsibility. Nothing could be a more hideous extension of centralization in the Federal government than to thus undermine the State utility commissions and State responsibilities."

MUNICIPAL PLANTS

Mr. Hoover pointed out that municipally owned plants comprised about 3 1-2 per cent of the nation's generating capacity, and that in about half of the States they were immune from State regulation, whereas "it is vital to the local communities, which have such plants, that they should be able to judge the competency of their managers and the relative advantages of private versus municipally operated by comparison of results."

Tracing the tremendous growth of the industry, he maintained that the establishment of vast systems, amounting to monopolies, had been necessary to provide consumers with the cheapest and most efficient service, but that thereby the obligations of the industry were increased. A primary obligation, he said, "requires the full equipment of the country with central generation and interconnection."

By increasing its stockholders from 400,000 to 2,500,000 in five years the industry is "creating real popular ownership," he said.

Besides Secretary Hoover, Secretary of Agriculture William M. Jardine, today joined the coterie of nationally prominent men and women attending the forty-eighth convention of the National Electric Light Association. Secretary Jardine speaks tomorrow forenoon.

The Consumers' Power Company of Jackson, Mich., was announced winner of the Charles A. Coffin gold medal for the most notable achievement in the electric light and power industry during 1924. The award included a $1000 check to go to the employees' organization of the Consumers' Company. The presentation was made by President Franklin T. Griffith of the N. E. L. A., following Mr. Hoover's address.

NEW TYPE LIGHT GLOBES

Outstanding among the day's developments was the announcement by representatives of the Edison Light Works of the contemplated withdrawal from the market of present types of electric light globes and substitution of a new type of globe, frosted on the inside. The replacement is planned to extend over a period of years.

The increasing tendency of large investors to purchase light and power securities was stressed by Haley Fiske, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of New York, and B. C. Forbes, a financial writer and editor of Forbes's Magazine. The Metropolitan Company, Mr. Fiske said, now owns some $75,000,000 in such securities and he quoted figures showing that 2,000,000 individuals hold back stock in public utilities of all kinds.

The Alabama Light and Power Company broke into the list of prize winners today by capturing the B. C. Forbes cup for notable accomplishment in the industry. Second place went to the Nebraska Power Company and third to the Consumers' Power Company of Michigan, winner of the Coffin medal.

The electrical refrigerator was mentioned by Mr. Forbes as "one of the most important developments in the electrical industry in recent years, from the standpoints of producer and consumer." He forecast rapid expansion in the demand and output for this type of electrical equipment.

The afternoon's program inluded addresses by Henry M. Robinson, president of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, and Francis E. Frothingham, vice-president of Coffin & Burt of Boston, Mass. Martin J. Insull of the Middle West Utilities Company of Chicago, preceded Mr. Hoover tonight in an address on public policy. He advised utility managements to take the public into their confidence to a greater extent than is customary at present, as a means of overcoming much of the suspicion and ill will directed at public utility corporations.

COOLIDGE TO START TRIP ON TUESDAY

Servants Will Start for Summer Home Saturday to Prepare for President

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Members of the White House staff of minor officials, servants and others who have been selected to cater to the wants of President Coolidge at the summer White House will leave Saturday for Swampscott on the Mayflower.

The President will go by train next Tuesday.

The servants, who leave Saturday, will have White Court ready for occupancy of the President when he arrives. Other officials will have the Executive office open at Lynn and all arrangements will be made so the President can change to his vacation schedule without a hitch.

Mrs. Jaffery, housekeeper at the White House for several administrations, is not going to White Court, taking a long-delayed vacation instead. Just who will serve in the capacity of housekeeper at White Court has not been decided. While no announcement has been made, it is possible that Mrs. Coolidge will dispense with the services of a regular housekeeper and personally supervise the running of the household.

Frank W. Stearns and Mrs. Stearns, close friends of the President, will supervise the preparations for the arrival of the President.

The White House dogs, Rob Roy and Paul Pry, will be among the list of passengers on the Mayflower. Blackie, the White House cat, who ate himself out of the home of the first lady of the land, will miss the trip.

POWERS WARN CHINA OF SPREADING UNREST

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PEKING, June 17.—The representatives of the powers addressed to the Chinese Foreign Office today another note reminding the government of the state of unrest which is spreading throughout China and imperils the lives and property of many foreigners.

The note recalls previous representations made by the diplomats regarding China's responsibility for the troubles in Shanghai and cites the subsequent disturbances in Hankow, Kiukiang and finally, the murder of W. W. MacKenzie, a British minor official, and the wounding of his companion, Miss Duncan, in the streets of Shanghai.

The note asserts that, while the incidents mentioned are the most serious, reports coming from all directions indicate the development of antiforeign sentiment throughout China and an unrest that is causing the gravest apprehension. The ministers again "draw the particular attention of the Chinese government to the gravity of the situation and the imperative necessity of meeting the situation."

Prof. Millikan Given Honorary Degree at Yale

WRECK TOLL IS FORTY-

Dozen Others in Eastern Rail Crash Not Expected to Recover; Score in Critical Condition

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 17.—While a score of Chicagoans, identified today, sought to identify injured and dead victims in the scene of yesterday's wreck of the Lackawanna Limited at Chicago, the death toll mounted to forty-four. At least a dozen are not expected to recover and twenty more are in a critical condition.

The arrival of Chicago relatives from the rails to the scene at Easton, Pa., where the majority of the dead and injured are located, was a tragic scene. Thousands of automobilists from miles around practically surrounded the hospital, making it necessary for police to form a cordon about the building and open an avenue through which the grief-stricken Chicagoans were able to enter.

The work of identifying some of the dead and others so badly injured that they could not give their names or were unrecognizable by their friends, was a tedious occupation.

Two representatives of the steamship company on which the excursionists had planned to sail to Germany and other points in Europe were present. Assisted by Leopold Neumann of Chicago, who arranged the trip, and was on the ill-fated train, they went over lists and scrutinized the victims.

Although the public officials are inclined to the belief that the wreck was due to natural phenomena and was therefore unavoidable, there will be a number of formal inquiries.

TWO INQUESTS

The New Jersey Public Utilities Commission has abandoned its project of holding a special meeting to investigate the wreck. The inquiry of that body is being made by James Mayburg, chief of the railroad department. The tracks at the scene of the wreck have been cleared and traffic has been resumed. A quantity of baggage and personal property belonging to the victims is still unclaimed.

There will be two coroners's inquests, one by the Coroner at Hackettstown, and the other by the Coroner at Phillipsburg. The inquest started yesterday by Coroner Fisher of Phillipsburg adjourned until Monday night after hearing several witnesses.

Agents of the Lackawanna Railroad in Chicago were notified today to provide relatives of the victims with transportation, sleepers and meals on the trip from Chicago. In addition to those who arrived today, a number more are expected tomorrow. Easton Hospital is so crowded that surgeons and physicians from near-by towns were called in to help in the care of the injured and dying.

Eight of the twenty-one injured in the hospital there are regarded as critical and the same fear is held for the five victims of the wreck who are in the Warren County Hospital in Phillipsburg.

BLANKET BURIAL PERMIT

The bodies, it was announced today, will be released under a blanket burial permit, and will probably be shipped to Chicago on a special train.

H. B. Hopson and A. F. Duffy, members of the Bureau of Safety of the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington, arrived today to investigate the wreck. They were accompanied by H. H. Pierce, assistant general manager of the Lackawanna. Among other things, it has already been established that there were no track-walkers on duty at night along that section of the railroad. It was pointed out, though, that even should one have been on duty, he might have been miles away from the scene and not have seen the mud that sifted down to the tracks.

The special train carrying 132 German-Americans from Chicago to Hoboken, where they were to embark for Germany, was thrown

WRIGHT ACTS TO CLEAR JOHNSON

Tract Owner Reveals Bunko Loss to Aid Friend

Declares Bank Chief Never Invested in Property

Setback Kept as Secret for Sick Wife's Benefit

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN BERNARDINO, June 17.—Sumner B. Wright, principal owner of the Wrightwood tract, came to the defense of State Superintendent of Banks, John F. Johnson, today with a statement that the official had never been and is not now financially interested in the development of the tract, as has been charged.

At the same time the rancher and tract owner declared that Mr. Johnson was being persecuted and subjected to unjust charges merely because of the friendship that the State bank head had shown him.

Mr. Wright disclosed that five years ago he lost approximately $21,000 to a Los Angeles bunko ring. The loss was kept secret, he said, because he feared that his wife, who is in ailing health, might be seriously affected by the disclosure of his misfortune.

CONFIDED IN JOHNSON

Only one other person, Mr. Johnson, knew of his loss, he said. They had been old friends and he obtained from the official a pledge that the loss would be kept secret for Mrs. Wright's sake.

It was this friendly and entirely legal that caused Mr. Johnson's name to be linked with the Wrightwood project, the rancher declared. The difficulties in which Mr. Johnson has found himself as a result of the pledge to secrecy has caused him to release the official from his word in order that he might be able to defend himself against the charges, Mr. Wright stated.

The swindle in which Mr. Wright lost $21,000 led indirectly to the collapse of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank of Chino. He confided in Mr. Johnson, the rancher said, and asked the latter if he knew anyone who could finance the development of the mountain ranch of 1100 acres and the extensive water rights.

"Frank told me that he believed he knew some men who would be interested in the property. But he told me plainly that he could not have anything to do with it as his position as bank superintendent prevented him from becoming interested in any private project."

BANK COLLAPSED

It was at about this time that the Chino bank collapsed, the rancher said, and Johnson began to liquidate its affairs. The bank held notes for about $9000 signed by him, he said.

"I told Johnson that I had talked to attorneys who told me that I might escape paying the notes on the ground of fraud," said Wright, "but I did not wish to have my paper floating around. He said he would have to sue me just like any one else and would if I did not pay the notes."

In September, 1923, Wright said he mortgaged the Wrightwood property for $50,000 with the Pacific Southwest Bank, the loan being arranged by James M. Oliver, Johnson's attorney and A. J. Wheeler. Wright said he and his wife alone signed the mortgage and received the $50,000 loan. He paid off the $9000 note at the Chino bank and paid something on $12,000 additional in notes. Today he said he had paid $17,000 of the original $21,000 loss, admitting his losses reluctantly.

ANOTHER MORTGAGE

Later in April, 1924, Wright said another $50,000 mortgage was made for the development of the Wrightwood subdivision, this being handled by Wheeler and Oliver. In neither of the deals did Johnson have any interest whatever, Wright said.

If Johnson has been reluctant to talk of his connection with Wrightwood because of his knowledge of Wright's secret of his stock losses, he is released from that obligation, Wright said, particularly since he (Johnson) has been involved.

Notations in pencil in the photostatic copies of letters taken from Johnson's files were explained by Wright. He said he wrote that he would give Johnson $25,000, Wheeler $25,000 and Oliver $5000 and $5000 for fees in the event that Johnson and Wheeler sold his property. This he said was made before the property was mortgaged and when he contemplated selling the property in its entirety. Wheeler, he said, had an option for six months to buy the property for $600,000. The amounts he listed as presents to the three men in the event the original sale plan succeeded represented $60,000 or a 10 per cent commission. This was long before the mortgages, however, he said.

"Johnson has never been interested in any way in the property since the mortgages were signed," Wright added.

YUMA CASE IN HANDS OF JURY

Publisher is Accused of Libel in Article

Town's Foremost Citizen Plaintiff in Trial

Blackmail Plot Charged by Prosecution

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

YUMA (Ariz.) June 17.—The case of George W. Lynn, Yuma publisher who has been on trial here for the past two weeks on a charge of criminal libel, went to the jury at 6 o'clock tonight.

The charge against Lynn was preferred by E. F. Sanguinetti, prominent in the business life of the community, and was based upon an article published in the Yuma Herald referring to the use of formaldehyde in milk from a dairy operated by Sanguinetti as one of his numerous business and ranching enterprises. The State contended that the article made the direct charge that Sanguinetti allowed formaldehyde in quantities sufficient to kill to be placed in the milk and that it was printed with malice. The defense asserted the article merely asked that an investigation of such charges be made in fairness to Sanguinetti and to the public.

During the arguments which continued throughout the day Lynn was alternately referred to as an idealist sacrificing profits for the good of the community and as a wandering newspaper man who sought to blackmail the town's principal merchant for personal gain.

F. C. Struckmeyer, who presented the chief argument of the defense, this afternoon said the principle of a free press was at stake, and characterized Sanguinetti as a tyrant and dictator who ruled the town with an iron hand, and that the Herald article which caused the prosecution of Lynn was inspired solely by the desire of the publisher to see justice and independence take the place of greed in his own community.

State's attorneys described Lynn as an itinerant printer who had attempted to assassinate the reputation of Yuma's foremost benefactor, and ascribed the editorial to a well-planned scheme of blackmail. The prosecution contended the truth of the statements in the editorial had not been established and that even if they were true the fact had been established that malice prompted the publication.

GANGSTERS PATRONS OF CIVIC OPERA

Disclosures in Chicago's Crime War Prove Shock to Auditorium Artists

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, June 17.—While the general public breathes easier and heaves a sigh of relief as the notorious gunmen, bootleggers and criminals of sorts are being wiped out, or driven into retirement, they will be sadly missed by Italian members of the civic grand opera company.

It is difficult for the opera artists to believe that the hospitable, generous, music-loving Gennas are the same bootlegging, sawed-off-shotgun, mudderous Gennas the police are obliterating. All the Gennas were opera enthusiasts. They rarely missed a performance of Italian opera and they knew and entertained the artists lavishly.

At the Auditorium they were respected as intelligent, enterprising leaders in the Italian community, making their money, it was supposed, as commission merchants. After an evening at the opera they would entertain most lavishly.

Then came the killings and the exposure of the notorious gang of professional slayers, rum-runners and evil doers of every description. Wherefore there is shocking sadness in grand opera circles.

The Piano Accordeon

In the past few years the popularity of the piano accordeon has grown by leaps and bounds until today it can almost be said to have become a "craze" among musicians everywhere.

So many remarkable improvements have been incorporated into the new piano accordeons that they scarcely resemble the old-time instruments.

Contrary to common belief, the piano accordeon is not a difficult instrument to learn to play, and with a little knowledge of the piano keyboard may be mastered in a short length of time.

It may be had in a variety of models with the following key arrangements and prices:

48 Basses
37 Keys
. . . an accordeon particularly well suited for beginners and with but one register is..... $250

60 Basses
37 Keys . . . is..... $275

80 Basses
39 Keys . . . is..... $375

120 Basses
41 Keys . . . is..... $450

All have the hand-made reeds and some have octave couplers.
Besides the "Priore" we have other accordeons of foreign as well as domestic make and some used Piano accordeons that are priced from $75 upwards.

A course of free lessons is included in the purchase price of these accordeons and very moderate terms are available.

PHOENIX DENIES BUREAU'S POWER

City Affairs Not in State Body's Jurisdiction

No Intention of Operating Street-Car Lines Held

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, June 17.—The pronouncement of the Arizona Corporation Commission that the City of Phoenix may buy the local street car lines only in the event a favoring vote has been obtained from the electors is a step beyond the limits of the commission's authority, according to city officials.

It is considered in the same line as a certificate of authority given by the commission to a bus company for operation in the city in competition with the street railway. At the time this authorization was given, notice was served that the city would arrest the driver or manager of the first bus that should attempt service without proper municipal franchise. No attempt has been made.

According to Assistant City Attorney J. E. Nelson. "The only way I can see how the Corporation Commission can interfere in the street car situation would be on the ground of public policy and protection of the rights of citizens or stockholders. The provision of the city charter cited by the Corporation Commission has no application to the situation as it exists. "Its declaration assuming that the city has taken over the franchise of the Phoenix Railway of Arizona and proposes to operate the car lines. What we have done is to contract for purchase of the material that now is used in operation of the lines, this to be at an appraised salvage valuation.

"The franchise is something decidedly separate. We hope to find someone who will take this over and who will rehabilitate and operate the property. Just what the Corporation Commission could do to prevent transfer of stock that is signed in blank is a question beyond my ability to solve, for the franchise still would continue as under the old ownership.

Incidentally, the commission's declaration that the railway company has an outstanding debt of $150,000 is in error. The title is clear and the bonds are in the same hands as those which hold the stock and which are dealing with the city."

University to Graduate 1050 Pupils Today

The forty-second commencement exercises of the University of Southern California will be held this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the Los Angeles Coliseum when 1050 graduates will receive diplomas and certificates.

The academic procession will leave the campus an hour earlier, led by the university band. In the procession will be the candidates for degrees, faculty members, trustees, president emeritus and president.

Dr. C. E. Leitzell will be the commencement chaplain and offer the opening prayer. Dr. R. B. Von KleinSmid, president of the university, who will return this morning from Chicago where he received an honorary degree Thursday, will deliver the commencement address following which he will bestow the diplomas and graduation honors.

Class reunions will be held at 6 o'clock in the various fraternity houses and at 9 o'clock a general alumni reunion will be held in the basketball pavilion.

Film Player's Wife is Freed; Dancer Named

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 17.—Mrs. Lillian L. Miller of this city received a decree of divorce from Walter Corwin Miller, motion-picture actor, in the Supreme Court today. Justice O'Malley confirming the report of former Justice Robert L. Luce, who as referee recommended the decree. The court awarded Mrs. Miller $100 a week alimony and gave her the custody of the couple's daughter, Isabelle Marjorie, 19 months of age. Mr. Miller is also directed to pay $500 twice a year toward the support of the child, whom he is permitted to visit on occasions convenient to Mrs. Miller.

Irene Scofield, a dancer, was named in the case. Testimony was given before Referee Luce. The star witness for Mrs. Miller was Mike Cantatozani, who used to deliver ice at Miller's apartment.

[P. & A. Photo]

Miss Florence Trumbull

YOUNG JOHN COOLIDGE has gone "a-courting," capital gossip has it.

The son of the President has been the house guest of Gov. and Mrs. John H. Trumbull of Connecticut, at their home in Plainville, and the daughter of the house, pretty Florence Trumbull, has been seen much in his company.

The young couple met on the way to the inauguration in 1924, since which time, according to gossip, they have seen more of each other than a casual or platonic friendship would call for.

PRISON AS HEALTH RESORT

Oklahoman Asks Sentence to Learn Worth for Benefit of Its Regime to Cure Dope Habit

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GUTHRIE (Okla.) June 17.—United States Judge Williams, in the eastern district of Oklahoma, suggests to prisoners appearing before him for sentence that living conditions in the Leavenworth penitentiary are far preferable to those in the jails in Oklahoma.

But Judge Cotteral of the western district, in eighteen years on the Federal bench, never had a man attempt to break into the prison in Kansas via his court until R. J. Williams of Oklahoma City appeared before him with credentials that could not be denied.

Well past middle age, said to be a morphine addict and an efficient stenographer, book-keeper and telegraph operator, Williams sought a year's imprisonment to cure him of the narcotic habit. He laid his plans cleverly.

First, it is asserted, he forged the name of an Oklahoma City physician to a prescription for the drug he used. After making his purchase he notified the police of what he had done and demanded to be arrested. He was promptly accommodated, and in less than twenty-four hours appeared before Judge Cotteral in Guthrie with a plea of guilty.

Given his choice of a year in an Oklahoma jail or a day more at Leavenworth, he chose the latter, because there, he said, he would receive treatment and regular exercise. When formal sentence was entered he thanked the court profusely.

Not so smooth was the court's course of action in the case of Sally Street, another asserted addict, who, when she was known by another name, had been a woman of means in an Eastern Oklahoma city. She, too, insisted on pleading guilty, but Judge Gotteral ordered her released without bond and himself contributed $2 toward railroad fare to her home.

This proved misdirected charity, for the unfortunate woman was in custody again two hours after her release. There is no government institution to which she can be committed for treatment, and physicians certified that further jail confinement might be fatal to her.

SIX ARRESTED ON NARCOTIC CHARGE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) June 17.—Sweeping down on a South Richter street residence, United States narcotic agents arrested six persons, seized $15,000 worth of contraband drugs and $600 worth of tequila, and confiscated two automobiles, Thursday. Two women were among the prisoners.

The Federal agents had obtained evidence that the suspects had been receiving smuggled narcotics and tequila from Mexico. Those arrested were taken to the county jail, pending filing of charges before United States Commissioner Edwards.

MONTANA INDIANS AT CANADIAN FETE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CALGARY (Alta.) June 17.—Commissioner Robert J. Hamilton, of the Department of Justice for District of Montana, is bringing a large party of Blackfoot Indians from that State to the Macleod and Calgary Stampedes. These Indians will bring their tepees and ponies and will camp out. In their party will be a dozen highly educated Blackfoot girls who will give musical recitals and exemplify the latest dances.

About twenty members of the original Northwest Mounted Police Force who were members of the contingent that established the fort at Calgary in 1875 will attend the jubilee and stampede here July 6-11.

FOSSILIZED BONES ARE ELEPHANT'S

Find on Arizona Mesa is Confirmed by Official of National Museum

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

YUMA (Ariz.) June 17.—On the Wellton mesa, east of Yuma, have been found fossilized bones of the imperator elephant. The discoverer is C. W. Taintor, who lately led in taking California electric power to the mesa.

He sent the jaw bones to the Smithsonian Institution, from which has come a letter confirming his judgment concerning the character of the find, with added information that the specimen belongs to the early Pleistocene period and probably became extinct not less than 500,000 years ago.

A. Wetmore of the institution writes: "As to the environmental conditions then prevailing in that region, these can only be conjectured. However, it may be assumed with reasonable degree of certainty that the climate was quite different from Arizona of today, including more moisture, which produced more luxuriant vegetation. It is not impossible, also, that semi-arid conditions may have prevailed during a part of the time in which the great proboscidians inhabited that part of America."

IRRIGATION TO BE DISCUSSED

Secretary Work, Elwood Mead to Confer in West

Real Chance for Settlers is Object of Officials

What Part States Will Pay to be Investigated

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, June 17.—Conferences will be conducted next week by Secretary of the Interior Work and Elwood Mead, Federal Reclamation Commissioner, in Western States with reference to irrigation projects "to learn what ought to be done to make these projects real opportunities for settlers and to find out what part of this work the States are willing to undertake," Commissioner Mead said today in an address at the City Club.

He recalled that the reclamation policy of the national government has existed twenty-three years and that 130,000 persons have found homes and the value of reclamation farms has risen from "almost nothing to $300,000,000 with a crop value in 1924 of $66,000,000."

The theory that if water were provided settlers would come has been changed by the World War, the commissioner said, and the movement away from the farms and to the cities has developed. The last Congress gave much attention to reclamation, the speaker continued, the committees on reclamation being of the opinion that radical changes should be made in the future and held that the development of any new area should include selection of settlers.

"Now the Secretary is authorized to fix the capital and other qualifications which a settler must have," the commissioner said, "Congress also considered and favorably reported a bill which would require a program of farm development as a part of the preparation for settlement of each new project. This would embrace the kind of crops to be grown, giving settlers practical advice about their work and would also authorize making advances of money in special cases to help to complete the improvement of farms."

PERSIANS OF NOTE HIT BY OPIUM EDICT

Dismissal Looms for All Officials of Government Addicts to Drug

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TEHERAN (Persia) June 17.—The Persian Premier has ordered the immediate dismissal of all government officials who use opium. The number of officials addicted to the drug is reported as very large and is said to include men in the highest positions.

The Premier's edict has caused a sensation and it threatens to paralyze the War Office and other departments. The Premier has been advised by the "highest authority" to delay the execution of his order so as to give the addicts time to take a cure. Then if they are not cured it is proposed that they be replaced by those who do not use dope.

A time limit of three months given opium-eating officials has nearly expired. The government offices are swamped with all sorts of patent cures and the officials' pockets are filled with anti-opium pills and quack medicines advertised to give relief.

Postal Clerks Brush Up Their Marksmanship

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) June 17. Postoffice attaches have been polishing up their "shootin' irons" preparatory to a round of practice on the Brackenridge Park target range when, together with Postmaster P. G. Lucas, they will train themselves in accuracy, anticipating the time when their target may be a mail bandit.

As an incentive to the improvement of their shooting ability, the government offers $2000 for the capture of any person who either robs or attempts to rob the United States mails. G. C. Ridgeway, superintendent of the motor service department, now is the sharpshooter of the staff.

Dakotan Tells Strong Feeling for President

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Crops plus conservation equals Coolidge all through the Northwest, according to Maj. Stanley Washburn of Wilton, N. D., who called on President Coolidge yesterday to talk over the freight situation.

"There are three C.'s that make a combination hard to beat out in the Northwest country," said Maj. Washburn after a conference with the President. "His trip out there has closed a gap that always exists to some extent where the farming population has had a lot to think about in the past. The President took a stand of the greatest interest to the Northwest and West when he refused to lower the sugar tariff. The sugar-best industry is a going proposition out where I come from.

"The Scandinavian people 'got' Coolidge the moment he landed. They can understand him, for he seems to be one of them."

GLENNA COLLETT DEFEATS BRITON IN FRENCH TOURNEY

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

VERSAILLES, June 17.—Miss Glenna Collett of the United States today went into the second round of the French international golf championship for women by beating Mrs. P. Garon of Great Britain, 2 up and 3 to play.

Mrs. Cecil Leitch, the strongest British contender in the French tournament, forfeited her match because of the hot weather.

Her withdrawal from the tournament was a disappointment, as she was expected to survive the early rounds and meet Miss Collett, both of them being in the upper half of the draw.

Miss Kathleen Fairbanks, daughter of the American Consul at Dieppe, the only other American entrant, survived, defeating Mrs. Lilian Heisch of England, one up.

YANK TEAM SMOTHERED BY DETROIT

Tigers Get Thirteen Runs in Sixth Inning to Defeat Hugmen, 19 to 1

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 17.—The biggest thing seen in this area in many a dry moon was the Detroit sixth inning at the Yankee Stadium today, where the Tigers beat the Hugmen to a soft and juicy pulp by a score of 19 to 1. The Detroit team batted twice around in that frame and scored thirteen runs. Fourteen men came to bat and reached first on the safety before a man had been put out. Twelve runs were over the plate, the bases were filled, and nobody was out when Sam Jones came to the mound in that inning. Six hits, seven bases on balls and two errors went into the run-making. Ty Cobb hit a homer with the bases full, but the Yankee pitchers filled the bases right up again. Alex Ferguson, Walter Beall and Henry Johnson were on the mound at various times in this large inning and among the three they couldn't get one man out. The score:

ARMY DEFEATS CRACK BRITISH TEAM IN INTERNATIONAL POLO

BY DON SKENE

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1925, by the Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, June 17.—The American army polo team, playing in by far its most brilliant form since its arrival in England, crushingly defeated the Harlequins, one of the crack English teams, 13 to 4, in a practice match of six chukkers at the Roehampton Field this afternoon. Gerhardt was the shining star for the Americans, scoring seven goals.

The whole team played with a snap and dash which was lacking in most of the previous matches. The teamwork was smooth, the stickwork excellent and the daredevil riding completely swept the Harlequins off the field, smashing up the British team's play.

The Americans took a lead of 2 to 0 in the first chukker. The Harlequins tied the score and it was 3-all at the end of the second, but after that the Britishers were completely outclassed and outplayed.

The Harlequins, composed of the Duke of Penaranda at No. 1; Thakur Dalpat Singh, Indian star, who shot three goals today, at No. 2; Lord Wodehouse, the international player, at No. 3, and Wing Com mander P. K. Wise, back, presented the stiffest test which the Americans hitherto have faced here.

Maj. Beard used his final line-up—Wilson, Gerhardt, Rodes and himself—which will clash with the British army team in the first international match on Saturday.

FAST PLAY IN FEAGAN EVENT

Mrs. T. H. Pike and Mrs. Ted Haas Win Matches

Wilshire Women Play Well in Annual Golf Tourney

Semifinals Today Promise Stellar Round Friday

BY W. C. WISE

Both Mrs. T. H. Pike and Mrs. Ted Haas, championship favorites in the Feagan Trophy event at the Wilshire Club won their second round matches yesterday and should land in the finals after their matches of this morning.

Mrs. Pike continued her winning streak with a 4 and 2 victory over Miss Thelma Jacobson, one of Wilshire's younger golfing stars, while Mrs. Haas won a well-played match from Mrs. Clyde Hendrie, 4 and 3.

Mrs. E. Everett Bennett traveled twenty holes to win a hard-fought 1-up match from Mrs. Harry Belden. Both Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. Belden played stellar golf throughout their overtime round and the result remained in doubt until Mrs. Bennett sank a long putt for a win on the difficult 529-yard twentieth hole.

Miss Miller was forced to cut loose with a flock of good golf to win her match from Mrs. Dan Forker, 2 and 1. Wilshire's newest championship contender has taken up golf in earnest and is going great guns and should give Mrs. Haas an enjoyable battle in the lower bracket of the semifinals today.

MRS. BENNETT THREATENS

Mrs. Bennett will play Mrs. Pike this morning and at the rate both golfers are traveling, the match is sure to be a thriller. Miss Jacobson played a very good game yesterday, but Mrs. Pike was in a golfing humor, as her score proved.

Mrs. Frank Harris inaugurated match play in the defeated eight with a runaway 5-and-4 win over Mrs. Glenn Duncan in the feature surprise of the day. Before the dust from the fast match had settled, Mrs. Tom Wilkes came sailing home with an 8-and-7 win over Mrs. T. L. Woolwine. Mrs. Woolwine has been away from golf for more than a year and

KRUG, TWOMBLY ARE BANISHED

Fans Hurl Cushions at Ump When Game is Ended

Angel Errors Also Aid Suds to Take Hectic Tilt

BY ROBERT E. RAY

A rotten decision at first base by Umpire Ed Finney stopped an Angel rally in the eighth inning and allowed Red Killefer's Seattle Indians to take the series opener from the Seraphs, 5 to 3. John Miljus, on the mound for the Indians, gets credit for turning in the victory, but Finney deserves more credit than the Serbian flinger for turning back the Cherubs.

Manager Marty Krug and Babe Twombly were put out of the game by Finney for protesting the verdict and the game was halted for about ten minutes by the Seraphs. A sprinkling of cushions greeted Finney as he went to the dugout following the completion of the game. Finney will be in for a lot of grief this week if the attitude of the fans following his poor decision is any criterion.

The Angeles outhit the Indians, but between Angel errors and Finney's terrible decision, the Suds were able to eke out the victory. Whitey Glazner pitched good ball for the locals, but the support tendered him by his mates was nothing to write home about.

SUDS PICK UP TWO

The Indians picked up a couple off Glazner in the opening frame, a walk, a two-base hit and an error by Ray Jacobs doing the trick. Billy Lane started the shindy by drawing four wide ones. Brady struck out, but Frank Brazill, the third best batter in the league, rode one against the left-field fence for two bases; Lane pulling up at third. Eldred hit to Jacobs, who bobbled the ball, Lane scoring. Brazill taking third and Brick arriving safely at first. Herman forced Eldred at second and Brazill crossed the plate on the out. McCabe lined to Horan in right for the final out.

Ted Baldwin opened the Seattle

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CINCINNATI, June 17.—Adolfo Luque, Cincinnati Cuban hurler, pitched the Reds to a 1-to-0 victory over the faltering New York Giants here today, getting the best of Jack Bentley after a brilliant mound duel. It was the Giants' sixth straight defeat, and reduced their lead over the Pirates to one and one-half games.

Critz scored the only run of the struggle in the first inning, when he walked, and scored all the way from first on Roush's double to right center. The score:

CUBS BEST BRAVES

CHICAGO, June 17. — Sheriff Blake, in addition to pitching a fine game, scored the winning run which gave Chicago a 5-to-4 victory over Philadelphia. Blake's double and Adams's single in the Ninth inning decided the game. Home runs by Brooks, Fonseca and Harper and a running one-hand catch by Harper in deep center depriving Weis of a possible homer were features. The score:

BRENTWOOD TOURNEY OFF

Desiring to give visiting golfers the benefit of a course that has been remodeled to compare favorably with any in the country, officials of the Brentwood club yesterday authorized the postponement of the annual invitational golf tournament from July until some time in November. The action was decided after M. A. Leach, greens chairman, and other officials had authorized additional changes to the beautiful rolling course.

second with a hit to left and took second on Earl Baldwin's infield out. Miljus hit to Jacobs, who threw to Krug too late to get T. Baldwin at third, both runners being safe. Lane tried to work a squeeze play, but Spencer picked up the bunt and nagged Billy before he got started. Miljus went to second, but T. Baldwin held third. Brady popped to Beck for the third out.

The Angels picked up a marker in the home half of the second after two were out, Miljus's wildness being responsible for the run. After two were out, Beck started things with a hit over second. Spencer walked and Glazner singled infield, filling the bases. Jacobs also drew a walk, forcing Beck in with a run. Twombly popped to Herman for the third out.

Seattle got the run back in the fifth when Lane walked, was sacrificed to second by Brady, took third on Brazill's infield out, and scored when Eldred smashed a single to center.

SERAPHS SCORE

The Angels scored another in the sixth and had one man thrown out at the plate by Bill McCabe. After Krug had lined to McCabe, Beck walked and went to second on Spencer's poke to left. Glazner sacrificed the runners along and then Ray Jacobs delivered a safety to left. Beck scored on the hit, but Spencer was thrown out at the plate by McCabe. McCabe had a great day in the field also having thrown out Glazner at the plate in the fourth when Whitey tried to score from first on Jacob's double against the left-field wall.

In the eighth the Siwashes bunched doubles by Eldred, Herman and McCabe for two more runs, their margin of victory. Horan allowed Eldred to take third on his two-base swat to right by holding the ball as if in a daze and then lobbing the pellet to Grimes, allowing Brick to get a big enough lead off second to easily make third. All three doubles went down the right-field foul line.

All of the excitement happened in the Angel half of the eighth, when the Angels scored two runs, of which they were robbed of one by Umpire Finney's cheesy decision. Twombly and Krug were both ousted from the contest for protesting. Krug started the inning by grounding out, but Beck laced a double to right center. Spencer's hit to left put Beck on third. Whaley, batting for Glazner, walked, filling the bases. Jacobs forced Whaley at second, Brazill to Brady and Beck scored. Twombly hit to Brady, who fielded the ball out on the grass. Brady's throw pulled Herman off the bag and everybody but Umpire Finney saw that the Seattle first-sacker was almost a step off the bag. Finney called Babe out so the run Spencer made on the play did not count. The game was halted for about ten minutes by the protesting Angels and finally Krug and Twombly were put out of the contest. Herman never touched the bag until the next inning.

When the contest was resumed finally Payne was pitching. Whaley was in center and Gunther on third. Brady and Brazill hit safely off Payne after two were out, but Eldred grounded to the pitcher for the third out.

Grimes opened the Angel ninth with a hit to center. Had Finney ruled Twombly safe in the eighth and Grimes followed with the hit the score would have been tied. Hood fanned, following Bummer's safe smash, and Horan hit into a double play to end the game. Score:

RABBIT PUNCHES

By PAUL LOWRY

WHO taught Bud Taylor to box?

After watching the terror of Terre Haute in one of his simply marvelous exhibitions of poke and parry that is the first question that pops into everybody's mind.

It did in ours, and we satisfied our curiosity by putting the question to Bud.

"Who taught me to box?" he repeated. "Why, none other than Jack Blackburn, colored lightweight of Chicago, the greatest boxer of all times—a man who took on all comers from lightweights to heavyweights and beat 'em."

There you are. The name of Jack Blackburn probably doesn't mean much to the present-day fight fan. He did most of his fighting in the first decade of this century.

But we can class him for you by saying that six times he met Sam Langford, the Boston Tar Baby, who outweighed him pounds and pounds, and twice defeated him. The record books are hazy on the other trials, but Eddie Long, Taylor's manager, says he believes they were draws.

What a record for a lightweight! Nothing but remarkable skill, an almost superhuman ability with the gloves, could enable a boxer at a weight disadvantage to beat the great Langford.

And this chap taught Bud Taylor. Also Sammy Mandell. There you have the two greatest boxers in the game today.

They were both in the same stable once. When Eddie Kane and Eddie Long broke up, Kane took Mandell and Long took Taylor.

It's hard to say who got the better of the bargain. Both are game, classy, wonderful kids.

Personally we favor Long's boy. He is a frank, winning little fellow. He can box and he can hit. Mandell can box, but he can't hit.

Mandell may be the next lightweight champion, but we'd bet our last dime Taylor will be the next bantamweight champion.

Lost or swiped—one English brindle bulldog. Thoroughbred. Has a white face.

If found, please apply to Tom Gallery and be suitably rewarded. If you're a boxer, one main event at Hollywood.

Which is by way of saying that Hollywood's matchmaker, the demon athlete of yesteryears, is extremely anxious to recover a perfectly fine specimen of bulldog worth on the open market something like $1500.

Incidentally, Tom is sore under the collar. He had two bridles. A fortnight ago he lost the female. This week the male vanished. He suspects thieves. But if the dogs simply wandered away he'd be very grateful to have them returned.

Cushion throwing at Hollywood last Friday was slightly more costly than reported in the papers. We are informed by Gene Doyle, the galloping news purveyor, that it cost three of the soft-seat heavers $25 apiece and a fourth one forfeited a $50 bond.

Maybe that news will stop some of the gentry who are inclined to become disturbed over perfectly just decisions.

As a matter of fact, Referee Larry McGrath admits he could very well have stopped the Rivers-Ryan fight and disqualified Ryan for unsportsmanlike tactics. He had the cash-paying public to consider in the matter and he simply cautioned Ryan. The latter was guilty of jabbing Rivers's eye with his thumb, he slapped with the open glove, and he continually played to the sympathies of the crowd when McGrath broke the boys, falling back against the ropes with his hands up as if the referee had thrown him back.

OBSERVATIONS

By THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER

BILL HENRY

THE British tennis world has failed to come to the acceptance of the "seeded draw" for big tournaments. Over here we take the four best players and put them in the four quarters of the draw and let luck take care of the rest. This insures fine matches for the semi-finals and finals. Over in England they draw 'em as they fall, which is strictly fair to all concerned, but sometimes a little tough on the audience. We note in the announcement of the draw that Suzanne Lenglen, Bunny Ryan and Kitty McKane, the three best players in the tournament, are all in the same quarter—which virtually assures the survivor of a walkover in the days of the tournament which ordinarily furnish the climax.

A challenge has been rushed east to the winner of the Yale-Harvard baseball series on behalf of the Times Bulldogs, the undefeated ball-playing champions of western journalism. Little is known of the ability of the easterners, but it is presumed from a report or their first game that they play a very similar variety of baseball to that dished out by the local prides. Yale beat Harvard Tuesday, 25 to 15. After more than two hours of comparatively air-tight ball the score was knotted 7 to 7 in the sixth inning. Yale then rushed to the fore and placed the game on ice by scoring nine runs in the eighth and nine more in the ninth.

The value of mathematics seems to have been shown by the reversal of the previous verdict in a recent automobile race whereby Peter De Paolo was named winner over Tommy Milton, who had been previously awarded first money. Nowadays the boys rush past the grand stand so blamed fast that the scorer is always liable to get tangled up and award the victory to some guy who is a lap or so to the bad. The new system is to have an individual scorer for each driver and he checks on a roll of paper each time his man comes past. Before the money is paid out this is checked against the other scorers and mistakes are frequently discovered.

There was quite a celebrated case here a decade or so ago. Venice was jealous of the success of Santa Monica in holding road races and staged quite an elaborate affair. Just as the racers had rolled two or there laps the scoreboard blew down, and it developed that this was the only official check. They discovered that one of the automobile editors had been keeping tab for his own amusement, and they took his word for the standing of the cars. Oldfield was awarded the victory, with Billy Carlson next. Everybody in the stands and most of the drivers said that Johnny Marquis, who was driving a Sunbeam, won the race by several miles, but Marquis couldn't prove it, and collected money for fourth or fifth place.

Johnny Doeg, interscholastic tennis champion, and Howe Bancroft, Pacific Coast boy champion, are going to get a nice trip this summer. Accompanied by Bancroft, Sr., they are going to take in the circuit of Pacific Coast tournaments, starting with the Pacific Coast championships at Berkeley the coming Saturday, and extending through the Canadian tourney, Pacific Northwest, Washington State, Oregon State, and one or two invitation events. That should be fine experience for both of them.

MAT PROGRAM COMPLETE

Four Bouts on Next Wednesday Night's Bill at Exposition Park Armory

Spurred on by the promise of Lou Daro that he will have a chance at the world's title if he wins from Jbe Mapa, the Canadian middleweight champion, Carl Johnson is working to get in shape for his match Wednesday night at the Exposition Park Armory.

"I will make Johnny Meyers, the middleweight champion, a big offer to meet you if you can defeat Mapa next Wednesday night," Daro promised the wrestling instructor of the Hollywood A. C.

"I believe Meyers would be willing to come to the Coast and I will offer him anything within reason to meet you."

Johnson, middleweight champion of New York State, has wrestled most of the good men in the mat game. He claims to have had 150 matches and that he never has been returned the loser.

The "Unbeatable Swede," as his admirers call him, has not had a chance at the world's middleweight title and he believes he could grab it if he had an opportunity to meet the champion.

Daro, matchmaker for the Olympic Auditorium, has lined up his entire card of bouts for next Wednesday night.

Wladek Zybszko, the giant Pole, tackles Don Andres Castano, the 235-pound Spanish champion in the big bout of the evening.

Renato Gardini realizing that he has one of the hardest matches of his career before him when he meets Dan Koloff has refused all invitations to spaghetti feeds.

Ned Golden in Ring Debut as "Pro" Tonight

This is the night for Ned Golden to forsake the amateur ranks, which he has ornamented to the extent of achieving the Pacific Coast amateur bantamweight championship, and jump over to the pro class. The jump will be made at the Pasadena Armory, where Golden takes on that tough boy, Sally Martinez, over the ten-round main event.

Martinez has licked most of the boys he has faced in the Pasadena ring. Moreover, he will have about a four-pound weight advantage. But despite all that Golden is confident he can win.

The six-round semifinal tonight is between Kid Esau and Young Carpenter, two 118-pounders who have steadily climbed up from the curtain-raiser and always put on a good scrap.

Johnny Lopez and Eddie Lasbury meet in the four-round special preliminary at 150 pounds, and the other two prelims, each of four rounds, are: Henry Miano vs. Kid Garcia, 112 pounds; Sabio Labra vs. John Varela, 118 pounds.

San Bernardino Mountain Golf Club Mile High

Endeavoring to shoot a par over a new nine-hole golf course situated over a mile high in the San Bernardino Mountains is the latest outdoor sport of many Southern Californians who are now enjoying vacations at the famous Rim of the World Drive resorts.

The newest course to be opened is situated at Cedar Pines Park, three miles off the main Crest road as it reaches the summit of the Waterman Canyon grade. A small clubhouse, comfortably furnished, adds to the enjoyment of vacationers who crave golf along with other outdoor sports.

All of the greens are being grassed and the course is already one of the sportiest in the San Bernardino Mountains. It adjoins a popular section where over 1000 mountain cabins provide summer vacation homes for many valley residents.

TRAGEDY PROMOTES SURFBOARD RIDING

Inspired by the brilliant performance of Duke Kahanamoku, Hawaiian star swimmer, who, last Sunday, saved five persons from drowning when a boat in which they were passengers went on the rocks off Newport Beach, Ben Thrash, swimming instructor of the Edgewater Club of Southern California, at the club's new home in Santa Monica, yesterday announced that surfboard riding, which made possible Kahanamoku's sensational rescue, will be taught on an extensive scale to members of the Edgewater Club this summer.

STEWART M'LEAN READY

St. Paul Featherweight Completes Training For Tomorrow Night's Scrap With Morgan

Stewart McLean, St. Paul featherweight, imported by Hollywood Post 43 of the American Legion to fight Tod Morgan tomorrow night, knocked off training yesterday afternoon. He is satisfied that he is in good enough condition to cop the decision and Pacific Coast featherweight title now claimed by Morgan.

This is the first of a series of championship bouts that will be staged by the Hollywood American Legion Post during the summer months. One week later Fidel La Barba, the Pacific Coast bantamweight champ, defends his title against Buffalo Tommy Ryan.

HIGHLY THOUGHT OF

Tod Morgan is highly thought of in fight circles all over the country. Very few boys have a better claim to the world's featherweight title than Morgan.

The main event is the first of a series of bouts that Fred Morgan, Tod's father and manager, expects to arrange for his boy. When he has completed his work Fred Morgan feels as though Tod will have made so good that Kid Kaplan can't refuse to fight Tod for the featherweight championship.

Fred Morgan is going to post a forfeit with the California Boxing Commission to bind a title fight with Kaplan, and if he refuses to accept this offer within a certain length of time Morgan is going to ask the California boxing body to award the world's title to Tod.

ON EVEN TERMS

Morgan and McLean will be on even terms when they enter the ring tomorrow night. Morgan may rule a slight favorite in some sporting quarters, but there are enough McLean supporters to even things up.

Billy McGowman came from New Orleans to break into Los Angeles' fight colony. He makes his first start against Lou Rollinger in the semi-wind-up.

BIG STAFF TO COACH CLUB TEAM

Southland's Finest Coaches to Train Galaxy of Track Stars for A.A.U.

The Los Angeles Athletic Club has secured a coaching staff of the highest class for its team that will compete in the National A.A.U. track and field meet at San Francisco next month.

Training the L.A.A.C. athletes to go after the American championships will be Coach Nixon of Pomona College, Coach Pipal of Occidental College, Coach Comstock, formerly of Yale, and Coach Sid Foster of Manual Arts High School. This personnel constitutes a coaching galaxy that will work under the direction of Track and Field Commissioner Owen Bird.

That the Mercury organization will have a powerful representation in the national contests was disclosed yesterday when an extensive list of athletes who have signified their intention to strive for the L.A.A.C. team in the tryouts at the Coliseum next Saturday afternoon was released by Athletic Director Charley Keppen.

The list is by no means complete, the big club at Seventh and Olive having still more good timber available. Some have not reported back to verify their entries. Keppen reports good athletes constantly rallying to the Mercury colors and he expects a number not yet heard from to show up on Saturday.

The tryouts will be open to all athletes of Southern California and those desirous of making the L.A.A.C. team should report to Maj. Bird at the Coliseum Saturday at 1 p.m.

Pole vault—R. Smith, H. Smith, McDermont, Bickmore.
High jump—Bradshaw F. Anderson.
Broad jump—Frisbe.
Hop, step, jump—Hinskey, Pattee.
Shot put—N. Anderson, C. Lewis, R. Clark.
Discus—H. Anderson, Richards.
Hammer throw—Clark, Wiley, Brubaker, Cooney.
High hurdles—Maxwell, Dapp, Sagar, Clenbrook.
Low hurdles—Maxwell, Regan.
440 hurdles—Clenbrook.
Javelin—Eaton, Lang, Lewis.
Walk—Simons.
100-yard—Lloyd, Hasford, Floyd, Bergsfeldt, Taylor.
220-yard—Taylor, Floyd, Hasford.
440-yard—[illegible] Powers.
880-yard—Hampton.
Mile—Carter.
Six-mile—Forward, Humphries.
56-pound weight — Richards, Brubaker, Bissett.

Ray Casey and Hennessy Lose Tennis Matches

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

EASTBOURNE (Eng.) June 17.—The two young Americans, Ray Casey of San Francisco, and John Hennessy of Indianapolis, were beaten today, three sets to two, by L. A. Godfree and J. D. Wheatley, in the British-American tennis matches being played here. The score was 4-6, 6-4, 11-9, 4-6, 6-3.

The Americans played more brilliantly than the Englishmen, but Godfree and Wheatley hung on with tenacity, took advantage of every error and concentrated on Hennessy.

Casey was the star. He played a dazzling game. In the critical games of both the third and the last sets the Britishers broke through Hennessy's service by concentrating their returns on him and waiting for him to make one of his frequent net shots from midcourt.

The American pair must win both singles matches tomorrow to be victors in the three-day team competition.

Offered Film Job Red Grange Emulates Liza

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, June 17.—Harold (Red) Grange, that irresistible force of the University of Illinois football eleven, who turned down movie contracts figured to bring more than $100,000, was back at his old summer job today, peddling ice in Wheaton, his home town, a suburb of Chicago.

Grange, rated as America's outstanding football star, is earning about $30 a week, but he likes his job because, he says, it's real work and keeps him fit.

Grange has acquired a new assistant, Garland Grange, his 19-year-old brother, who will be eligible for the Illinois football eleven this fall. He's another halfback.

Professional Sweepstakes at Hacienda

Southern California professionals will play in the regular semimonthly big-gun sweepstakes at Hacienda Monday. Harry Pressler, Hacienda pro, has made arrangements to entertain more than a score of Jack Malley's fast traveling pros.

George Kerrigan, Charlie Guest and Ed Gayer, down-State representatives in the national open a few weeks ago, will make their return debut—and with the golf they learned back East, should score well in the play.

LENGLEN READY FOR NET PLAY

French Star in London for Wimbledon Tourney

Claims to be in Better Shape Than Ever

Meets Miss Ryan in First Round of Play

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, June 17. — Suzanne Lenglen, the world's tennis queen, arrived in London today ready to try to prove her supremacy once again in the Wimbledon championships, which start on Monday.

"I am in better shape than ever," Suzanne said smilingly today. "I have lost twenty pounds in the last year, which has made me much quicker and given me speedier footwork—perhaps I used to be too fat and lazy sometimes. The report that I plan to act on the Paris stage after the Wimbledon tournament is untrue. I would lose my amateur standing, and, besides, imagine me behind the footlights in Paris, of all places. I have no new trick this year, just the old system of playing as hard as possible, although I am using a new type of racquet for the first time. The only new thing I am planning is my costume. I will wear a new head band with the filmiest silk dress out in a surprising new style. I may be foolish, but I like to hear the warm-hearted English people talk about my new tennis court dress, because I am a woman and I like to be different from the others."

The draw today makes Mlle. Lenglen meet pale Elizabeth Ryan, the Anglo-Californian, in the second round, with Kitty McKane, the English star, in the same half of the draw.

The men's singles seemed to place Hennessy, the American crack, in the first quarter, with Henri Cochel of France and Gordon Lowe of England, his most dangerous opponents. Casey, America's other hope, is placed in the fourth quarter, with Rene Lacoste, the French boy wonder; Randolph Lycett, the English veteran, and S. M. Jacobs, India Davis Cup player.

ROSENBERG AND TAYLOR MINGLE

moter received Segal's okeh. A contract was mailed Segal last night.

Long is so sure Taylor can beat Rosenberg that he is willing to let Bull Montana referee the match if that will satisfy the titleholder's manager.

Local boxing authorities predict that the match will draw the biggest crowd in the history of California ring engagements.

Taylor is a tremendous local favorite by virtue of his scintillating victory over "Baby Face" Jimmy McLarnin, his extraordinary boxing ability and terrific hitting.

And the additional fact that the match will be for the title makes it one of the biggest gate prospects in sight.

TAKES ABIE'S CROWN

Rosenberg has held the title only a few months, having snatched it away from "Cannonball" Eddie Martin, another short-time occupant of the throne.

Martin won the diadem during the Christmas holidays from Abe Goldstein.

The latter was beaten by Taylor just before he came to the Coast to face McLarnin, and Bud previously had beaten Rosenberg before the latter gained the title. Martin is another of Taylor's victims.

Plans formulated by Doyle yesterday call for a rearrangement of the seating capacity of the ball park to accommodate $5,000 persons at a price scale of $2 to $10. The intake would be $145,000 if all seats were filled.

LEAVE FOR OAKLAND

Long and Taylor leave tonight for Oakland, where next Wednesday Bud will tangle with Dynamite Murphy in Tommy Simpson's arena. A match with Bobby Wolgast is scheduled for July 4 in Terre Haute, Ind., but the proposed one here July 21 is off. In its place Long plans to send Bud against Pete Sarmiento, a Filipino, in Cleveland, July 23.

Articles call for Taylor to be here thirty days before the fight with Rosenberg.

MRS. HILL WINS

Mrs. E. Paul Hill shot from the inside to trip Mrs. Milo Johnson, 4 and 3, and Mrs. Harry Carroll, after Mrs. A. J. Sherrer from the first tee, won her match, 5 and 4.

Competition in the Feagan tourney over the fast Wilshire course is waxing hot in every match. Semifinals are scheduled to start at 9:30 this morning, and with Mrs. Bennett fighting for another leg on the beautiful trophy—Mrs. Haas and Mrs. Pike with the same golfing motive in mind—anything may happen.

JOE LEWIS STAGES COMEBACK

Joe (Kid) Lewis, well-known eastern lightweight, is to attempt a comeback within a few weeks as a welterweight, having outgrown the 135-pound class. Several years ago Lewis boxed in these parts, then went east, where he met with considerable success. He is under the management of Fulton Benoit, and is working out with Benoit's hard-hitting southpaw banty, Kid Chile, at the Vernon Athletic Club.

Kelly Flexible Cord

The New Kelly Way

The drawing shows how the bead of the new Kelly Cord is formed by enclosing strips of braided wire in the loops of the cord fabric. The cords which form these loops are continuous from the beginning of the inmost ply to the end of the outer. The whole tire thus has a flexibility and "give" that is necessarily lacking in tires made by the ordinary method.

KELLY Flexible Cords are big-mileage high pressure tires that are almost as easy riding as balloons. The reason they are so comfortable to ride on is that the integral bead construction, used only by Kelly, not only anchors the bead firmly in place but also permits a flexibility of carcass and tread impossible in the case of a tire built by the ordinary method.

LOCAL LAUGHS

Each week The Times produces a film entitled "Local Laughs," consisting of the fifteen best jokes submitted by local people. Weekly prizes are paid of $4, $3, $2, and twelve of $1 each. A list of theaters showing the film, together with rules for submitting jokes, are given daily in a coupon in The Times. Prize-winning jokes, and names and addresses of winners, appear only on the screen. Jokes receiving honorable mention will be given a place of honor on The Times comic page each week-day, and each of these contributors will receive a souvenir of acknowledgment.

Paul Revere's Ride.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

ON THE EVENING OF APRIL 18, 1775, GENERAL GAGE HAD DISPATCHED A FORCE OF 800 REDCOATS UNDER ORDERS TO MARCH ON THE NEIGHBORING TOWNS OF LEXINGTON AND CONCORD TO CAPTURE THE ARMS KNOWN TO BE STORED THERE BY THE PATRIOTS. THEY ALSO BORE A WARRANT FOR THE ARREST OF THE "REBELS" HANCOCK AND ADAMS, — THE LEADERS OF THE PATRIOTS' MINUTE MEN. —

LEARNING OF GAGE'S PLANS AND INFORMED OF THE DEPARTURE OF THE BRITISH BY SIGNAL LIGHTS FROM THE BELFRY OF OLD NORTH CHURCH, PAUL REVERE, COURIER OF THE COMMITTEE OF SAFETY, WHO WAS WAITING ON THE CHARLESTOWN SHORE, GALLOPED OFF TO WARN THE "MINUTE MEN."

RIDING FURIOUSLY THROUGH THE NIGHT, PAUL REVERE ROUSED THE COLONIAL MILITIA WITH HIS CRY "TO ARMS! THE BRITISH ARE COMING!" — SAMUEL ADAMS AND JOHN HANCOCK WERE LOCATED AT CONCORD AND FLED ACROSS THE FIELDS TO ESCAPE BEING TAKEN.

AWAKE TO THE FACT THAT THE TIME HAD COME TO STRIKE THE BLOW FOR FREEDOM, THE "MINUTE MEN" SPRANG TO ARMS AND RAN TO RALLY AROUND THEIR LEADERS TO OPPOSE THE ADVANCING BRITISH.

TOMORROW — CONCORD AND LEXINGTON —

Priest's Prayer Heeded, Liquor Suspects Freed

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

JERSEY CITY, June 17. — The prayers of Rev. George F. Bennett and his Roman Catholic parish at Weehawken for the acquittal of twelve men charged with giving protection to bootleggers have been answered.

Ten of the men, including nine Weehawken police, were acquitted by a jury in Hudson County Court here. Two others were discharged before the case went to the jury.

Father Bennett was the principal State witness. He testified at the first trial last January and at the retrial just ended that he had run upon the men at the Weehawken River front last August. He threatened to punch the face of the first bootlegger who would attempt to continue landing cases of liquor from the rum runner tied at the dock.

Nine of the defendants are members of his parish. Last Sunday, the day before the trial started, he led his congregation in prayer for the acquittal of the men. He said they had learned a lesson.

...of Human Welfare to Succeed Present ..., Declares Judge Lindsey in Address

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

...e, June 17.—The passing of the present methods of ... now through either criminal courts for adults or juvenile ..., was predicted as a future change in society by ... J. Lindsey, nationally known juvenile jurist of Denver, ... today before the National Conference of Social Work, ... fifty-second annual meeting here tonight.

...ems will be supplanted ... of human welfare," ... suffer from the present defects of the statutes.

Out of 400 children under 8 years old, whose environmental habits were investigated by the Massachusetts division of mental hygiene, 80.5 per cent were found to lack essentials of successful upbringing in their homes, Miss Bertha Reynolds, Boston social worker, told the conference.

Of the 400 cases investigated only 16 per cent lived in homes of poverty, Miss Reynolds said. Absence of American educational standards, of play opportunities and of normal family affection were mainly the missing elements shown by the survey, Miss Reynolds declared.

WIDOW NOMINATED IN CONGRESSIONAL RACE

MRS. J. J. ROGERS MAY BE FIRST NEW ENGLAND WOMAN TO SIT IN HOUSE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LOWELL (Mass.) June 17.—Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, widow of Congressman John Jacob Rogers, was the Republican nominee to succeed her husband as United States Representative from Fifth Massachusetts District with returns from yesterday's special primary complete today.

Mrs. Rogers's victory gives her the opportunity of becoming the first woman from New England to sit in Congress. She will be opposed in the special election the 30th inst. by Gov. Eugene N. Foss. Foss was unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

Final returns today gave Mrs. Rogers an overwhelming lead over her opponents, former State Senator James W. Grimes of Reading and Mayor George H. Brown of Lowell. The count was Mrs. Rogers, 13,381; Grimes, 2003; Brown, 574.

COUP SPRUNG IN SHEPHERD CASE

Crowe Maneuvers to Grill Faiman on Stand

Defense Fights to Keep His Story from Jury

Prosecution Move to Prevent Wrecking of Case

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, June 17.—Objections delayed the appearance today of Charles C. Faiman as a witness against William D. Shepherd, the man he said obtained typhoid germs from him and used them to kill William McClintock.

A strategical move by State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe surprised Shepherd's lawyers, William Scott Stewart and W. W. O'Brien as they protested until the closing of court against having Faiman called as a witness by the court.

The defense was seeking to prevent testimony from reaching the jury. The State was finishing and the State's lawyers were wary.

"The State's attorney does not care to vouch for the witness but will ask the court to call him so both sides may cross examine him." Prosecutor Crowe said when the time came for Faiman to testify.

To some that statement seemed to mean that the State itself did not believe Faiman — pretty good grounds for the belief that the jury wouldn't believe him and that therefore the prosecution against Shepherd had failed. Attorneys Stewart and O'Brien didn't think that. They were on their feet, arguing and they didn't stop arguing until Judge Thomas J. Lynch said it was time to go home.

TAKING NO CHANCES

The position of the State was explained briefly. Mr. Crowe said he was taking no chances. If he called Faiman as his witness he would be bound by Faiman's answers and that he would not do.

For instance, if the State called Faiman and Faiman should have been influenced, persuaded or induced to come to the aid of Shepherd, he could do so by his answer to the first question after he stated his name, address and occupation. That would be in reply to the query as to whether he knew Shepherd.

If he said he had never met him, that would be the end of the trial. The State would be prohibited from questioning him further, and therefore unable to prove that Billy McClintock's death was by a "criminal agency" and that Shepherd was the agency.

As a court's witness, however, if Faiman were to make that answer Mr. Crowe could then proceed to show that he had given contrary testimony previously.

"If Mr. Crowe will say the witness is not worthy of belief I will have no objection," Attorney Stewart informed the court.

FAIMAN IS PRESENT

"I do not say that," the prosecutor said. "It simply means the State does not vouch for him. Under the law it then becomes the duty of the court to call him so that a miscarriage of justice may not occur."

Stewart and O'Brien made many suggestions. Any number of things might happen if the court did as Crowe requested. It was a reversible error. They were trying to make a State's Attorney out of the judge.

"Suppose Faiman should go on there and say this isn't the man that he saw," said Attorney Stewart, "then if he is a court's witness the State will undertake to bring in, by way of cross-examination, some former statements where Faiman said he did identify him. Now we ought not to be called upon to meet that sort of an attack."

The judge held that it would be an abuse of the discretion of the court if the court didn't call him as a State's witness, but the controversy kept on because the defense lawyers wished to have the State denied the right to cross-examine Faiman if the court called him. Mr. Crowe said if Faiman told the truth he wouldn't need to be cross-examined, but that didn't satisfy Shepherd's defenders.

The dapper little president of the National University of Sciences was in the witness room, waiting for Crowe and Stewart to quit arguing about his testimony or for Judge Lynch to end the dispute with a decision. Neither event happened and Faiman went back to the Briggs Hotel under guard.

His germ story is the keystone of the whole prosecution. Without it the State has no case. With it, Assistant State's Attorney Savage said, they have introduced sufficient other circumstantial evidence to justify a verdict of guilty.

Before Faiman was called his former employee, John P. Marchand, had been a witness for the State, and a good one, too, the prosecutors said. He had told his story of being sent by Faiman to interview Shepherd about a course in bacteriology.

A letter had been written to Faiman, Marchand said, and he was sent to see the writer of that letter. The writer was Shepherd, he said again today. On cross-examination he was not rattled or unnerved by the bitter questioning of Attorney O'Brien.

In the morning Miss Amelia Hall was the first witness. She was the nurse in attendance upon McClintock at the time of his death. She was one of those who said Shepherd declared Billy McClintock knew he had typhoid fever the first day he became sick.

L. L. McArthur, Jr., a trust officer of the Northern Trust Company, said the same thing when he was called as the next witness. He said Shepherd came to him while McClintock was ill and wanted the trust company to advance money to pay Billy's bills. McArthur said he informed Shepherd this could not be done, but that if he would send the bills to him the trust company would see they were paid.

Then Shepherd told him about the typhoid statement he said Billy made. In his opening statement State's Attorney Crowe said these three statements about Billy saying he knew he had typhoid were evidences of Shepherd's guilty conduct, and his preparing an alibi before he was accused.

COAST GUARD ORDERED TO LET YACHTS ALONE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Frequent conflicts between Coast Guard craft seeking rum runners and pleasure boats along the Atlantic Coast has prompted Rear-Admiral Billard, Coast Guard commandant, to issue orders that vessels "which may be plainly recognized as yachts or as craft used solely for pleasure" are not to be stopped. Admiral Billard at the same time issued an appeal to all American yachtsmen and owners of pleasure craft to help the Coast Guard by "having nothing whatever to do with rum-running tugs and motorboats.

ROTARIANS PUT UP CANDIDATES

Two Members Entered in Presidential Race

Work Among Nation's Boys Told by Omaha Man

Denver Girls in Bathing Suits Hold Snowball Fight

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CLEVELAND, June 17.—Rotary International convention delegates today turned politicians temporarily and launched the candidacy for officers and then deliberated on work on behalf of the crippled American youth and good citizenship.

Donald A. Adams, New Haven, Ct., first vice-president, and Paul H. King, Detroit, director, were placed in nomination for the presidency. The men were entered in the race for the seven directorships. Balloting will be held and the results announced Friday.

The extensive phases in boys' work, designed to aid the American boy in gaining a better idea of the meaning of service above self with a glimpse of the world-wide activities of Rotarians in caring for crippled children, were brought before the convention by Charles R. Gardner, Omaha, Neb.

The spirit of Rotary as seen by clergymen was described by Canon Elliott of Liverpool, Eng., and Bishop Charles L. Mead of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Denver, Colo.

"It is the boys and girls of today who make the men and women of tomorrow," Bishop Mead said. "Our children have a right to be well born, to be given proper environment and at least some education, to be brought into contact with things spiritual, in short, to be made to feel their share of human responsibility.

"These should be our aims, for as some one has said, 'Save a man you save a person; save a boy you save the whole multiplication table.'"

Denver Rotarians and a group of girls in bathing suits, staged a snowball battle in public square today with a carload of snow brought from Denver, snowballing each other and the crowd. The demonstration was in support of Denver's slogan for next year's convention in that city, "Sunshine and Snowballs, Denver, 1926." The sunshine was missing, however, a heavy rain falling during the staging of the event.

KLANSMEN WILL MARCH IN CAPITAL

Police Permit is Granted for Unmasked Parade in Pennsylvania Avenue

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, June 17.—A police permit was issued here today for conducting in the nation's capital this summer the greatest Ku Klux Klan demonstration ever held in the country. The principal feature of the proposed festivities, which will be held on August 8, will be a monster parade down Pennsylvania avenue from the Peace Monument at the foot of Capitol Hill to the Ellipse at the rear of the White House.

The only difference between the Washington demonstration and the midnight rides through Louisiana swamps or gatherings on Indiana prairies will be that none of the paraders will be masked. The law under which the permit was granted to L. A. Mueller, imperial representative of the "Invisible Empire," provides that "the entire head of every person parading be wholly uncovered, except such portion of head as is covered by an ordinary hat.

In making written application for the permit Mr. Mueller did not reveal the whereabouts of the imperial headquarters, but asked that the permit be mailed to Postoffice box 331.

"We are familiar with the ordinance of the District of Columbia prohibiting the wearing of masks," Mr. Mueller wrote, "which we will strictly adhere to, as this parade will be given with visors up.

"This parade will have approximately 150,000 to 200,000 participants, with music."

NAVY GIRLS WIN RUM TRIAL

Two Nurses Accused of Bringing Liquor Ashore are Acquitted in Court-martial Hearing

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Prohibition, which has been responsible for many anomalies, humorous and tragic, in this nation, today must have made the shade of Farragut laugh, when, for the first time in the history of the United States Navy, two women were tried by court-martial.

The defendants were Miss Ruth M. Anderson and Katherine C. Glancy, white-uniformed and straw-hatted navy nurses, accused of bringing liquor into the United States from Guantanamo Bay. And in the same historic room at the navy yard in which Admiral Schley was acquitted by the famous board of inquiry after the Spanish-American War, they, too, prohibition notwithstanding, were acquitted.

Lieut. Leo F. S. Horan, United States Marine Corps, was counsel for the defense. At the outset he defied the jurisdiction of a court-martial. What was the status of his clients? They were not officers, he argued, nor warrant officers, nor enlisted men—ahem—pardon—"enlisted women." They could be hired and fired by the Surgeon-General of the Navy, with the approval of the Secretary. Three bureau heads had counseled Secretary Wilbur against bringing court-martial proceedings at all, urging disciplinary action instead. But the Secretary had been determined in his stand. The court wisely ruled with Wilbur and against the lieutenant on this point. The case proceeded.

Miss Anderson, who is stationed at the navy yard, dabbed her nose with a chamois and told her story. She was leaving Guantanamo for a vacation aboard the transport Kittery. A friend had brought her a gift at the last moment, a sealed package. She stuck it into her sea chest and locked it up. She received a wire that her mother was ill in a Pittsburgh hospital. In order to save time she changed to another boat at Haiti, leaving the chest to go on to Norfolk aboard the Kittery, forwarding the key there. The chest had stood on the dock from April 14 to April 25 and then J. B. Boone, a customs inspector, opened it.

Mr. Boone was the only prosecuting witness in both cases. He had thought the packages contained dutiable chinaware. That is why he had opened it. Instead, here were the contents.

The court eyed them thirstily. One quart of Scotch, a pint of gin, a fancy green bottle probably containing creme de menthe and a half-gallon jug containing, who knows what. Mr. Boone admitted he couldn't swear that any of them contained liquor. He was not a drinking man. He couldn't even swear the chest had not been molested while it stood on the dock.

The officers comprising the court gallantly returned a verdict that Miss Anderson, not knowing what the package contained, could not have "willfully and knowingly" brought liquor into the country.

CORKSCREW ORDERED

Then came the turn of Miss Glancy, stationed at the naval dispensary. Mr. Boone produced four bottles of Scotch. He had taken them from a package lying on the dock labeled "Glancy."

No, he couldn't say they had ever been aboard the Kittery, but presumed they had.

"A corkscrew," ordered the court in unison.

The judges were informed the Navy yard has not boasted such an instrument since Volstead.

"A knife!" commanded the court.

A knife was produced and some one started prying off the seal and cork from a bottle of Haig and Haig (no longer an advertisement.) The cork broke.

"A sword," ordered the court.

"Or a swagger stick," added a bystander.

The cork was jammed into the bottle.

"Is that whisky?" the court asked of Boone.

"It smells like whisky," he replied. "I have never taken a drink in my life and I couldn't tell by tasting it, even if I would consent to do so."

The gallant court again held that the government's case had not been proved and both blushing defendants received the congratulations of everybody, including Mr. Boone, and hurried away to where an army of barred photographers were trying to crash the Navy-yard gates to get their pictures.

FAMINE CAUSES IN CHINA TOLD

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PEKING, June 17. — Banditry, militarism and opium cultivation are the principal causes of the famine conditions affecting 10,000,000 residents of Szechwan province, according to the international famine relief commission, which has just returned to Peking after making a thorough examination.

It is estimated 130,000 soldiers burden the civil population, where civil war is raging, while 50,000 armed ex-soldier bandits are ravaging many districts. Great arable areas are devoted to poppy growing.

This is enforced by the military authorities because of the large returns to be had from the opium trade.

From Northern Szechwan, where much opium is planted, thousands of the residents are fleeing.

The international famine relief expert suggests the building of a road between Chung King and the capital, Chengtu, a distance of 300 miles. This would bring remunerative labor to the worst of the famine districts. It would also be of benefit to the entire province.

The various warring generals of Szechwan have expressed their approval of the scheme, which will be submitted to the famine relief commission here.

Famine conditions in Kweichow are reported to be as bad as those in Szechwan, and to have resulted from drought and banditry.

THE DEVIL'S BIBLE

The Bible known as the Devil's Bible was written on 300 asses' skins and was taken to Stockholm, Sweden, after the Thirty Years' War. According to tradition, a poor monk was condemned to death, but he was told that the sentence would be commuted if he would copy out on asses' skins the whole Bible in a single night. That night the monk made a compact with the devil by which he exchanged his soul for the required transcript of the Scripture. Because of this tradition the Bible is known as the Devil's Bible.—[Exchange.

BRIDGE TO OAKLAND IS PROPOSED

San Francisco Structure to Cost $60,000,000 is Plan of Eastern Capitalists

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—Details of a project for a combined tube and bridge structure to span San Francisco Bay from this city to Oakland were made known today in a hearing before the City and County Board of Supervisors. It is estimated that the structure will cost $60,000,000, and will take five years to build. It is being planned by San Francisco and eastern capitalists.

The tubes will provide for two clear ship channels on either side of the bay, and will be of a combined length of more than 7000 feet. The problem of operating automobiles through these long tubes without danger from gas has been worked out, representatives of the project told the Supervisors.

The bridge proper will consist of fourteen spans of 300 feet each, and will be but fifteen feet above high tide, with the exception of one span, which will be 115 feet above water, and will be reached by inclines, and eight spans of about 310 feet each.

Application for the franchise for the structure will be heard before the Supervisors on the 29th inst.

Headquarters Gift Accepted by Legion Head

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

INDIANAPOLIS, June 17.—Pledging the American Legion to "carry on as those whose memory is here perpetuated would wish us to," Col. James A. Drain, national commander, today accepted as a gift from the people of Indiana the new National Headquarters Building, the first unit in Indiana's war memorial.

Col. Drain's address at the dedication ceremony followed a speech by Gov. Jackson, who proffered the building to the veterans' organization.

"You may depend upon us of the American Legion to prove fully worthy of the favor you do us by the service we render," Col. Drain declared. "We shall continue to serve God and country in peace as they served God and country in war—unto the death."

GLENDALE REALTORS OFF FOR CONVENTION

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, June 13.—W. L. Truitt and Peter Hanson, delegates of the Glendale Realty Board to the national convention of the national association of Real Estate Boards that is to be held at Detroit next week, left tonight on the California realtors' special train. The Glendale representatives go to the convention with orders to fight the proposed amendment to the constitution of the national association that would force boards in cities that are annexed to other cities to go out of existence.

HOW OLD is YOUR WILL?

A WILL, disposing of a large Estate, was set aside in a Los Angeles court not long ago. A good lawyer prepared it, and earned a handsome fee. It was a "good" Will—WHEN MADE.

Why was it invalid? It had grown "stale". Provisions of the law governing estates had changed. The family conditions of the testator had changed. He had removed to California from another state and to different laws. Incidentally, the Executors he had named were both dead. So the Will failed, and the LAW distributed the property.

Is YOUR Will "stale?" Is YOUR Executor living? A Will filed with the Security Bank will not be allowed to "grow stale," and the Security Bank, as Executor will be alive, active, and very competent when its services are needed.

ORIGINAL WILSHIRE INVENTS HEALING MAGNETIC DEVICE

Gaylord Wilshire, internationally known as the originator of the Wilshire District, has recently established new claims to fame through the invention of what he calls the Iona Life Belt. By the use of this device some truly marvelous results have been obtained in combating pain and disease, according to many who have tried it.

While laying no especial claims to scientific medical knowledge, Mr. Wilshire has conducted a great deal of research and investigation in the realm of electromagnetic therapy, and he expresses the belief that the healing effect of the Iona Life Belt is due to the magnetism generated by the belt, which in turn, he believes, brings about an autoexidation of the blood and a toning up and revivifying of the entire system.

MANY MIRACULOUS CURES

Of the many persons who have themselves been miraculously cured by the Iona Life Belt, or who have witnessed its effect on others, no one has been more astonished than Mr. Wilshire himself. At the time he made the discovery of the curative properties of his belt he had no idea that it would ever accomplish the wonderful things it has already done; and the ultimate possibilities of the device now exceed his power of imagination.

All he knows is that persons suffering from diseases formerly regarded as hopeless have, after a brief treatment, been almost instantly restored to health. He makes the statement that in every case tried to date, the Belt has relieved pain of any kind at once.

Especial success has been obtained in the treatment of rheumatism, arthritis, neuritis and asthma, according to Mr. Wilshire. Several cases of goitre, seemingly hopeless, have also been cured instantly and completely. Even tuberculosis seems to succumb to the Belt, it is claimed.

At the present time, Mr. Wilshire is principally interested in finding out just what the Iona Life Belt can do. For this purpose, he has made a public offer to give free treatments to anyone ill or in pain. These free treatments are being given in rooms adjoining his real estate offices in the Busch Building, at the corner of Wilshire Boulevard and Vermont and also at the Owl Drug Store, corner 5th and Broadway.—[Advertisement.

Statesman Outlines Fight for "Rule of Reason"

Standards of Integrity Are Declared to be High

Says Interest Increases in Social Problems

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, June 17.—Since its victory in the battle for liberty this country has been engaged in another struggle to establish the "rule of reason" and in that struggle it has been measurably successful, Charles Evans Hughes said today, speaking in historic Faneuil Hall at the celebration of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill.

The former Secretary of State cited several dangers which, he said, face the United States, the decline of patriotism, radicalism, racial and religious bigotry, overconfidence rising from our wealth and strength and the "passion for uniformity," which threatens local self-government.

Although recognizing the existence of these forces of disintegration, Mr. Hughes said the standards of integrity in business and political life are higher than ever, the press is fair, the people as brave as their Bunker Hill ancestors and interest in important social problems is constantly increasing.

"When we examine the records of the past, the long story of revolt against tyranny, the disorder, the privations, the helplessness of the multitudes and the mistakes of leaders we may well rejoice at our own inheritance," he said. "The men of Bunker Hill made possible this heritage. Let us preserve it. It is not for us to make America, but to be worthy of her.

"The cure for the ills of democracy," he said, "is not more democracy, but more intelligence. We cannot enjoy the blessings of liberty without the freedom of knowledge.

"To the extent that we exhibit the capacity for self-government we may hope to secure our peace by being reasonable and just in our dealings abroad."

Places $5000 to Assure His Appearance at Trial Next October

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

EL PASO (Tex.) June 17.—Former Secretary of Interior A. B. Fall gave bond before United States Commissioner A. J. W. Schmid here this afternoon for appearance in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia October 5, to answer charges growing out of the Teapot Dome and Elk Hill oil leases.

A $5000 indemnity bond was given under the indictment charging him and Harry F. Sinclair with conspiracy to defraud the United States and a $5000 personal recognizance bond under the indictment charging him and E. L. Doheny with conspiracy. The suggestion of the United States Attorney for the District of Columbia was followed in setting the amounts of the bonds.

The original indictments were thrown out of court April 3 on a technicality.

HUGHES MAY BE HEAD OF UNIVERSITY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, June 17.—Charles Evans Hughes, former Secretary of State, Supreme Court justice and twice Governor of New York, is being considered as a successor to the late Dewitt Ernest Burton, president of the University of Chicago.

Mr. Hughes is now a member of the board of trustees of the university. While no definite decision has been reached to offer the post to Judge Hughes, the general sentiment is that he would, if he could be induced to accept, bring the required prestige to the university. On the academic side he more than fills the requirements. Besides a basketful of honorary degrees conferred upon him by various universities, he has received several for actual work.

Judge Hughes is 63 years of age, an able and active man, and it is the general hope that he may be induced to accept the post. The position requires a big man. While raising the $17,000,000 endowment fund, President Burton put in long hours and the same requirements will be made upon his successor.

BIRTH CONTROL URGED TO SWEDENBORGIANS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CINCINNATI, June 17.—Unqualified approval of birth control and a challenge to the Swedenborgian church to "take its stand" for the support of the practice was voiced in a paper read before the National Council of Ministers of the denomination today.

MAY SEARCH FOR AMUNDSEN PARTY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The navy section of the MacMillan expedition to the Arctic will make special flights in search of the missing Amundsen party if information justifying such action is received, Secretary Wilbur said today, but no detailed instructions on the matter will be given to the party and the aviators are not expected to take any unusual hazards in that work.

In a formal statement, Mr. Wilbur said:

"In regard to the plans for the relief of Amundsen, I want to repeat concerning the purpose of the MacMillan and the navy expedition that it had nothing to do with the relief of Amundsen, and we expect Commander Byrd to carry out the plans as agreed upon and fully understood. If, however, information is received concerning the planes of Amundsen and indicating with some degree of probability whether a search for him would be reasonably justified, then, of course, those in charge of the navy planes will not only carry out their routine flights, but will make any special flights deemed necessary to discover the whereabouts of Amundsen. No detailed instructions will be given to the party, other than that they shall carry out their plans."

If it is found advisable to hunt for Amundsen by airplane after the expedition reaches Etah, Greenland, it is expected the search will be conducted from Cape Morris Jessup on the northwestern edge of Peary Land at the northern tip of Greenland.

PLAN SURVEY OF UNKNOWN REGION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The primary object of the MacMillan navy expedition sailing from Boston today is to make a hydrographic survey by airplane of the last great unknown region of the northern hemisphere, that territory lying between the North Pole and Alaska and covering 1,000,000 square miles.

Scarcely less in importance will be the exploration of little-known regions such as Ellesmere Island, Grant Land, Baffin Island and sections of Labrador, as well as the ancient Norse settlements on the western edge of Greenland. In addition, plant and animal life, meteorogical conditions, and other scientific questions of the Far North will be studied.

Due to the high mobility given by airplanes, however, the expedition intends to be absent little more than three months, as it is estimated that an airplane in one day can accomplish as much in exploration as could be done by dog sled in more than a month. If all goes well the party will be in full retreat to the south by early fall, in time to avoid the heavy ice movement which by October 1 will to a large extent block the passage of vessels around Northwest Greenland.

BYRD HEADS NAVY MEN

The expedition is headed by Donald B. MacMillan, veteran of many Arctic explorations, and is sponsored by the National Geographic Society, which has contributed to its support both in money and personnel, while the Navy will be a participant through personnel assigned to it on active duty and airplanes and other supplies.

Heading the navy contingent is Lieutenant Commander Richard E. Byrd of Winchester, Va., who has selected the navy personnel and aviation equipment and will be responsible to the Secretary of the Navy, although working in cooperation with the main expedition. With him are two officers and four enlisted men of the Navy while at their disposal are three airplanes of the amphibian type which can maneuver from the land, ice and water. Little difficulty in their operation is expected, as MacMillan believes the minimum temperatures encountered will not be excessive.

The expedition after touching at Wiscasset, Me., and then at Sydney, N. S., for coal and other supplies, will go direct to Etah, Greenland, where the main base will be established. From there the airplanes will go to Cape Hubbard on the northern point of Axel Heiberg land, to establish an advance flying base.

Two ships are being used. The Bowdoin, a veteran of other Arctic trips with MacMillan, accommodate Mac Millan, scientists and other personnel of the main expedition. The Peary is conveying the three airplanes and the navy section of the expedition. But two of the airplanes will be used actively in exploration, the third being held at Etah with the vessels as a reserve for possible emergency.

The plans call for two airplanes to scout northwest from Axel Heiberg land in exploring the unknown region and in looking for land which, possibly of continental mass, is believed to lie between Alaska and the North Pole Unless land is discovered, however, the entire unknown region will not be covered because of the limitation of the aircraft operation. At least 200,000 square miles will be surveyed by having the planes shoot out in three different lines for a distance of about 500 miles. The two will travel together at all times and if land is discovered the advance flying base will be advanced to it and the scouting operations continued from the new point. In such an event it is conceivable that the entire unknown area may be surveyed.

PLAN THREE FLIGHTS

At least three separate flights will be conducted from Cape Hubbard, and if land is not discovered, the expedition will then retrace its steps, making side trips over Ellesmere Island, Grant Land, concerning whose interiors little is known, and possibly to Cape Columbia at the northeast extremity of Grant Land above Greenland.

Retracing its steps still further to the south the expedition intends to survey from the air the interior of Baffin Island, that vast mass discovered 349 years ago by Sir Martin Frobisher, the English navigator, and concerning which little more is known than in the days of Queen Elizabeth. From there the expedition will visit the old Norse settlement of 1500 years ago near Gothaab, Greenland, and then cross to the northeastern coast of Labrador for a survey of its little-known interior and for study of the ruins of an ancient settlement there, believed to be of Norse origin. The expedition will then return to Wiscasset and should be back by late fall.

Everything possible has been done to assure the safety of the expedition. The National Geographic Society points to the fact that MacMillan in his many visits to the Arctic never has lost a man, and Secretary Wilbur says he is satisfied the expedition has been planned on sound, safe lines. No effort to reach the North Pole is contemplated, MacMillan being contented with Peary's effort in that respect and the geographic society and the Navy being interested primarily in the scientific questions awaiting study in the Arctic.

To that end a complete equipment and scientific personnel has been brought together. The airplanes will carry thorough mapping apparatus by which the regions may be photographed and plotted from the air, and an assortment of motion and still cameras. Arrangements have also been made for obtaining color photographs of the regions to be visited as well as their plant, animal and fish life.

All told, including the crews of the two vessels, there are more than thirty men in the expedition. MacMillan is assisted by John Reinartz of South Manchester, Ct., and E. F. McDonald of Chicago, president of the Radio Broadcasters' League of America, as radio experts, while among the scientists are Dr. Walter N. Koelz, an ichthyologist, and Lieut. Benjamin H. Riggs of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, an expert on topography and tides.

The expert of color photography is Jacob J. Gayer, while in general charge of photography is Maynard Owen Williams, both of whom have been assigned by the Geographic Society. Commanding the Peary is Capt. George F. Steele of Roxbury, Mass., while assistants to MacMillan in navigating the Bowdoin are Ralph Robinson of Merrimac, Mass., and John Jaynes of Somerville, Mass.

WILL RAISE FLAG

The navy section in addition to Commander Byrd consists of Lieut. M. A. Schur of Marshfield, Or.; Chief Boatswain Earle E. Reber of Chicago; Aviation Pilots Nels P. Sorenson and Andrew C. Nold of Washington, D. C., and Floyd E. Bennett of Warrenburgh, N. Y., and Chief Aerographer Albert Francis of San Diego, who will observe meterorological conditions.

The officers will fly the airplanes and the enlisted men will assist in the work and keep the planes in condition. Except for the wings, one of the planes is to be carried assembled on the deck of the Peary to Etah, but the other two have been broken down and will not be assembled until Etah is reached.

A complete radio equipment will be carried, so that constant communication may be maintained with civilization. Both the Peary and the Bowdoin have high-powered standard navy sets, while one of the two active planes will have a standard navy set and the other the short-wave apparatus recently developed. The plan is to send in daily reports of the progress of the expedition to both the Navy Department and the Geographic Society for announcement to the press.

Belief that land exists in the unknown region between the North Pole and Alaska is predicated upon traditions of Eskimo tribes, which tell of some of their people years ago going out to such land, never to return, upon tidal observations, which indicate a great obstruction of land or ice in that region, and upon mirages seen from Axel Heiberg land by both Peary and MacMillan.

If such land is found the American flag will be raised, but whether it will be claimed for the United States has not been decided. The expedition sails without special instructions from Washington on the course to pursue on this question, while unofficial advices from Ottawa have indicated that the Canadian government might interest itself if any claims to permanent possession of lands north of her continental borders were set up. The Canadian view is represented as being that all lands in the Arctic from 60 to a 141 deg. West Longitude, up to the Pole are hers.

WARREN S. STONE'S SUCCESSOR NAMED

SPECIAL NOTICE TO ALL FORMER RESIDENTS OF NEW YORK AND THE GENERAL PUBLIC

GENTLEMEN: I have associated with me the former designer-in-chief of J. Corday Co., another one of New York's famous tailoring institutions with a nation-wide reputation. This famous designer and draper known the length and breadth of New York and by the most exclusive tailoring firms throughout all the great metropolitan cities of the east, was under iron-clad contract for a period of ten years with this noted tailoring firm at a stipulation which made him one of the highest salaried designers throughout the entire country. He has designed, cut and fitted the garments of a host of New York's political celebrities, hundreds of prominent Wall Street brokers, famous attorneys and physicians, professional men and men of prominence in all walks of life, and acknowledged to be the most exacting class of men in the world, whose imperious demands of quality regardless of price must be complied with, in order to retain their confidence and future considerations, all of whom were his warm personal friends. Owing to a retiring nature and shy disposition I have, by special request, but not in accordance with my wishes, refrained from making his name public at this time, as he is averse to publicity of any kind, he has been given carte blanche in the designing, cutting and fitting of your garments, including the full management of the tailoring department, which will be under his direct personal supervision. My reason for placing my interests, implicit trust and confidence in him was his credentials from this famous tailoring firm with whom he was associated for a period of ten years previous to coming to Los Angeles, and who was considered by them not as an employee, but as a warm personal friend. The firm members of this noted tailoring institution were also personally known for years by members of this firm and considered an extremely friendly competitor in the great Eastern metropolis.

A GUARANTEED $65 and $70 SUIT TO ORDER $45

Extreme Tailoring Values of James W. Hackett

A $65,000 Stock of High Grade Fabrics to Select From

GENTLEMEN—Since the inception of this advertising campaign, I have not merely doubled, but actually trebled my business, which is proof conclusive that the American public is always quick to take advantage of any unusual offer of any advertising merchant when the reputation for integrity and reliability of the advertising merchant in question is known and conceded. Values of this kind from a reputable tailoring firm have had a far reaching effect on the tailoring industry of Los Angeles. The reputation of the name of James W. Hackett inspires confidence, and confidence once instilled in the minds of the American public means the success of any commercial institution. I am catering to the class of men who know how to use their brains, who are both fully and amply capable of thinking and judging for themselves, and who are past masters in the art of reading between the lines. The wonderful results I have achieved since the inception of this great value giving tailoring campaign have been a revelation to me. I'm fairly swamped with orders. I'm fully determined on my future course of action relative to the conducting of my business, and if I wish to continue to produce values of this kind, which has already trebled my business, caused by my being perfectly willing to cut my margin in two that's my own affair, I have been made to realize that exclusive high-class hand tailoring at popular prices, even though the margin may be extremely small, the volume of business I have been doing is ample recompense and fully justifies my course of action. The tailoring values I'm producing cannot be duplicated by any reliable tailoring firm in this or any other community unless they are perfectly willing to place their business on a very close margin as I have done. These high grade fabrics are not carried by ordinary tailoring firms. This grade of material is carried by the most exclusive tailoring firms only, and by all 5th Ave. tailoring firms, their prices for this grade of material ranging from $65 to $100 a suit, which were also my regular selling prices previous to the inception of this campaign. These fabrics are positively guaranteed to be 100% of the finest pure long staple Australian lamb's wool, which is the finest grade of wool raised in the world, also dyed in the wool and positively guaranteed fast colors. These magnificent fabrics were cold water shrunk in England for twenty-four hours previous to being shipped to me through the wholesale woolen houses. They are of the finest quality and texture and instantly appeal to the eye of men who have always worn good clothes and who recognize quality in value merely by the sense of touch. The most splendid array of both foreign and American fabrics throughout the entire country, enormous reductions also have been made on all foreign fabrics which will mean an actual saving of from $20 to $30. Also bear in mind these $45 suitings that I'm featuring are not merely $45 suitings, they are actual $65 and $70 suits for $45. Those were my former prices for this grade of material, and those are the prices being charged by all well-known tailoring firms at the present time for this grade of material. I'm ready to verify that statement to the entire satisfaction of any inquisitorial body of men that may be appointed by a court. Now then, gentlemen, here is the answer of James W. Hackett to your intention. If you follow my instructions I'll prove to your entire satisfaction that I can do as I claim; any time James W. Hackett issues a statement, that statement is made in all sincerity and in the friendliest of spirits and can be implicitly relied upon. Here are my instructions. If followed implicitly, will mean an actual saving to you from $20 to $25.

Go to any well known reliable tailoring firm in the city of Los Angeles whose prices range from $65 to $70, ask him to give you a sample of any $65 and $70 suit material, a sample of the lining, and by all means, get the number of the goods and the name of the wholesale woolen house it comes from, bring those samples and the number and information to me and I stand ready to duplicate the same identical suit in style, quality and workmanship for $45. If I haven't the goods in stock, I'll order it from the wholesale woolen house it come from, hence my request when getting samples of their $65 and $70 suits that you bring me the number of the goods and the name of the wholesale woolen house it comes from, otherwise I'll be unable to make my guarantee good. In the event I haven't the goods in stock if I fail to make any clothes and the suit you have followed my implicit instructions I'll make you a suit of clothes out of any suit pattern in this institution absolutely free of charge, that's the answer of James W. Hackett.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE, NOTHING HELD IN RESERVE—NOTE WINDOW DISPLAY PREVIOUS TO COMING IN—A GUARANTEED SAVING OF FROM $20.00 TO $25.00.

SPECIAL NOTICE

GENTLEMEN:—Bear in mind, every suit ordered here is beautifully and richly tailored by hand by a force of the most expert tailoring mechanics in the country. Every garment is sewed throughout by hand with the finest grade of silk thread that money can buy; every garment is custom hand-tailored in my own shop. Arm shields are placed in the arm pits of every coat as a protection against perspiration. Your garments are all lined with the world's famous camel mohair or Scotch alpaca linings and interlined with imported Belgian hair cloth, and imported hand-woven Irish linen canvas which insures an absolutely unbreakable front. This grade of linings and trimmings are used by those exclusive tailoring firms only, whose prices range from $65 to $100 a suit. All linings and trimmings are cold-water shrunk in my shop for twelve hours previous to being used in your garments. Every garment is worked into shape strictly by hand. I also wish to emphatically emphasize that the same identical high-grade linings, trimmings and workmanship are placed in those $45 suitings as though the original selling price of the suit $70 had been paid. The designing, cutting and fitting of your suit will be attended to by one of America's famous New York cutters and designers and former designer-in-chief for ten years for J. Corday Co., another one of New York's famous tailoring firms which doubly insures that the fitting of your suit is a foregone conclusion and that it is absolutely perfect in every detail. If otherwise, under no circumstances will I accept any remuneration. I'll either refund all money due you or I'll gladly re-measure you for an entire new suit if agreeable to you. That's the method that the name of James W. Hackett stands for in this or any other community. Bear that statement in mind.

DAWES PLAN BENEFIT TOLD

Distrust and Discord Replaced by Confidence and Conciliation, American Agent-General Reports

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BERLIN, June 17.—The substitution of confidence and conciliation for distrust and discord has been the outstanding accomplishment of the Dawes plan, in the opinion of S. Parker Gilbert, the American agent-general for reparations. His observations on the working of the London agreement of 1924, which put the Dawes plan into effect, are recited in detail in a report made public today covering the last eight months.

The period under discussion includes the temporary administration of Owen D. Young, generally considered the genius of the new reparations plan, during September and October of 1924, and the six months ending April 30, when the agent-general's organization was in complete charge.

Mr. Gilbert acknowledged the loyal co-operation of the Allied governments, the German government and all other agencies concerned. The plan's further progress, he believes, will mainly depend upon the continuance of "that mutual faith and confidence which have made possible a satisfactory beginning."

In his opinion, German industry possesses resources for production on a large scale, although there still is a serious shortage of working capital and a need for building up foreign markets.

The two essentially preliminary objects of the program, the balancing of the German budget and the stabilization of German currency, have been realized, says Gilbert.

Referring to the national currency, the report observes the reichsmark, measured in terms of its exchange value in foreign markets, has remained firm as the equivalent of gold. The foreign trade of Germany since stabilization of her currency has on the whole been adverse, the report asserts.

Referring to problems developing upon German finance, Mr. Gilbert asserts the main reliance in the long run must be on the growth of domestic capital and willingness to broaden the base of home credits.

The report also makes significant reference to the hypothesis assumed by the experts to the effect that the "fiscal and economic unity of Germany would be restored," as a prerequisite for insuring permanent stability of the currency.

These assumptions, in the opinion of Mr. Gilbert, still are valid.

PASTOR HIT BY DIVORCE CASE RULING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, June 17.—The Superior Court's exoneration of Rev. Carl D. Case, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Oak Park, in the Leland divorce suit, was overruled today by the unanimous vote of the three judges of the Appellate Court. The court ordered that a decree of divorce be entered in favor of Albert R. Leland, who accuses his wife, Charlotte, of improper relations with Dr. Case. The court could find no good reason for doubting her. Leland's confession that she and the Oak Park pastor had sinned, the judges said.

Scores of Dr. Case's parishioners were in court. The decision visibly shocked them. The Oak Park Church gave Dr. Case a vote of confidence after the Superior Court had exonerated him, and continued him in his charge. None of those in court today would say what effect the decision will have.

The Leland divorce case came up a year ago, when Albert Leland, an Oak Park manufacturer, accused Charlotte, his wife, of infidelity, naming Dr. Case as the offender. The bill did not name the pastor, but he was identified in a confession read in evidence.

After Superior Judge Charles M. Foell had indicated that a divorce would be granted, the pastor intervened, through Frederick A. Brown, an attorney, asking an opportunity to clear his reputation. He denied the husband's charge and characterized Mrs. Leland's confession was a lie.

REVIEW OBTAINED ON VAN SWERINGEN ORDER

COMMERCE BODY TO CONDUCT HEARING ON RULING MADE IN 1923

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Opponents of the Van Sweringen Nickel Plate merger project were successful today in bringing about a hearing by the Interstate Commerce Commission on its 1923 order giving O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen and their associates permission to serve as directors of the Chesapeake and Ohio and Hocking Valley systems as well as the Nickel Plate.

Attorneys for the George Cole Scott committee of dissenting minority stockholders in the Chesapeake and Ohio sought the re-opening of the 1923 matter in a petition filed early in the commission's hearings on the merger proposal, and the decision was announced today simultaneously with resumption of these proceedings. Several West Virginia coal mine operators today asserted the unification of the Nickel Plate, Erie, Pere Marquette, Chesapeake and Ohio, Hocking Valley railroads, which the Van Sweringen plan proposes, will benefit shippers and the public.

The Scott petition which resulted in the re-opening of the older phases of the Van Sweringen project declared the interlocking directorate constituted "a fraud upon the stockholders of the Chesapeake and Ohio."

JERITZA IS SENSATION IN LONDON

Soprano's Reception at Covent Garden Recalls Patti's Triumph

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, June 17.—Mme. Jeritza took London by storm last night. The name Jeritza rang on everyone's lips in the packed historic Covent Garden Operahouse when the famous star made her London debut in "La Tosca" in Italian. When the curtain rose and Mme. Jeritza, statuesque and beautiful, walked on the stage, one of the largest fashionable crushes that ever filled Covent Garden gave her an enthusiastic reception. All London society had rushed up from the Ascot races to town and changed into silks and jewels to greet the renowned soprano.

Habitues recalled the day when Patti caused a similar sensation on the same stage. There were wonderful scenes of enthusiasm after each curtain.

And at the end the vast audience remained clamoring "Jeritza, Jeritza," while she stood blowing kisses and waving adieu before the curtain. Shoals of floral emblems hid the stage in high banks and when she left the theater huge crowds deliriously acclaimed her.

More than 2000 people were refused admission early in the evening in spite of the high prices charged for seats.

ROMANCE OF WAR CLOSES IN TRAGEDY

French Bride Kills Mate and Turns Gun on Self as Police Arrive

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, June 17.—She called him "Jeem," and her big American hero when, with overseas cap cocked jauntily he loafed in the shade of her father's farm near Paris as the war drew to a close. She loved him and they married.

And she still loved him last night as he silently packed his clothing preparing, she believed, to leave her for an American girl. So Mrs. James S. Lewis, little French war bride of six years ago, shot her husband dead in their cheap room at 1628 West Adams street.

A few minutes later she warned policemen that if they attempted to drag her from the man she had loved and had slain she'd kill herself.

Lewis had tucked his spare shirts under his arm and moved from bureau to suit case. Three shots roared. The shirts were still tightly clutched after it was all over.

A detective squad arrived and hastened up the stairs. Silhouetted against the lone electric bulb the women stood in the doorway.

"If you come nearer I will kill myself," she warned. They kept on. This time there were two shots, and the romance of the little French peasant and her war hero was ended.

Constantinople Plot Disclosed; Sixty Arrested

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 17. Sixty persons, including officials, advisers and army officers highly placed under the former Sultan, have been arrested in connection with a monarchist plot.

The Turkish secret police discovered the existence of a monarchist secret committee with headquarters in Constantinople, which expected to overthrow the present republican government and place on the throne former Sultan Machmed Vahid Eddin, who fled from Constantinople aboard a British warship a week before the Kemalists took over the government of the city.

TUCSON'S CHAMBER HITS ENTOMOLOGIST

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) June 17.—Trouble concerning State appointive officials has extended to Dr. O. C. Bartlett, State Entomologist, who is accused by the Tucson Chamber of Commerce with having made statements damaging to the cotton industry of Arizona, this that weevil infestation in wild cotton in the hills near Tucson "is known to be plentiful."

Secretary Condren declares that "investigations have proven to the contrary, that infestation in wild cotton, if any, is very slight this season."

Local correction also is made of a statement that California maintains an embargo on Arizona cotton. A letter from A. C. Fleury, supervising quarantine officer, states: "We prohibit seed cotton and cottonseed from Arizona, regardless of the purpose for which it is intended, but we do admit cotton lint, linters, waste and samples and other forms of unmanufactured cotton, provided the importer first makes an application to this department for a permit to import."

CALIFORNIANS GO TO ARIZONA TO MARRY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

YUMA (Ariz.) June 17.—Lyell Woods, a Bakersfield business man, and Miss Maude Alice Cohee motored here to be married, this done, they said, to escape their friends. With them came the bride's mother, Mrs. Hazel McConkey. Another California couple united here were Clyde Sharon and Shirlia Oaks, both of Los Angeles. A novelty in weddings was that of William Ballard and Frances Hanners, for it was solemnized by Justice J. H. Smith at the center of the highway bridge across the Colorado River, on the California-Arizona line.

PARAGUAY'S BOX MYSTERY GAINS

Research Adds to Romance About Sealed Coffer

Discrepancies Are Shown in Hidden Jewels Tales

Legation Offer Arouses New Interest in Matter

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BUENOS AIRES, June 17.—The halo of romance surrounding the contents of a mysterious sealed coffor for which the American legation at Asunsion lately offered to deliver to the Paraguayan government has become more pronounced since the researches of investigators reveal discrepancies of the hitherto published versions of the affair.

The recent announcement of proffered restitution stated that the sealed box contained jewels handed over to American Minister Washburn in 1868 by prominent Paraguayan families, who feared confiscation at the hands of the Brazilian and Argentine allies, who were then marching irresistibly toward Asunsion. The box found its way to Rio de Janeiro, where it reposed for many years, and eventually it reached Montevideo, where it is at present deposited in a bank to the order of the American legation.

Investigators point out that the first patrician Paraguayan families did not fear the advance of the allies, whose operations were directed against the notorious Lopez, and not against the Paraguayan people. Second, Mr. Washburn left Paraguay long before the allied advance. Third, there is widespread belief in a legend that Mr. Washburn, before embarking, confided the coffer for safe custody to the Italian Consul who later was assassinated at Buenos Aires, the dagger which pierced his heart also transfixing a card bearing the word "traitor," written in a feminine heart.

The mystery rumors also suggest possibly that the jewels were a part of the immense spoil Lopez wrung from the Paraguayan people when his downfall was a foregone conclusion.

It is also suggested that the jewels may be some of those with which the Irish adventuress, Mme. Lynch, Paraguay's uncrowned queen during the Lopez regime, dazzled Parisian society in the heyday of her fame.

It is noteworthy that Mr. Washburn, who left voluminous writings, does not mention receipt of the jewels, while on the other hand passages in the history of Cal. Thompson, an American, on the Paraguayan war refer to treasure taken by Lopez as he "embarked on a foreign vessel for an unknown destination."

The solution of the mystery attached to the casket may be furnished shortly, when the American Legation hands it over to the Paraguayan government. In the meanwhile speculation is rife with the suggestion that instead of jewels the coffer may be found to contain more gruesome relics of the tyrant's rule.

Discoverer of Gold in State is Paid Tribute

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PLACERVILLE (Cal.) June 17. Tribute to the memory of John W. Marshall, discoverer of gold in California, was paid today by the Grand Parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, in session here.

Margaret Kelly, Grand Trustee, spoke on the life of Marshall and Mrs. Annie Reed, El Dorado county, in an address lauded Marshall's kindness, and in closing read an original poem dedicated to the pioneer.

Other speakers on the program included Mrs. Jackson Harriette O'Neal, Ursula Parlor No. 1, and Lillian Lane, Ione.

Election of officers and an address by Fletcher Cutler, Grand President of the Native Sons of the Golden West, are the features of tomorrow's program.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) June 17.—Serious damage to the local plant of the Pacific Fruit Express Company was avoided by the pluck of John Gray, an oiler, who now is in a hospital suffering from ammonia burns of the lungs. When a valve head blew off, Gray ran into the room and stopped the engine, then fell outside the door. About forty tons of ammonia escaped, filling the air for a mile or more to the leeward.

While the plant has had to be shut down till missing parts can be secured from a similar installation at Colton, ice is available for handling the cantaloupe trains that now are streaming past from Imperial Valley.

ARIZONA FACES LOSS ON DAM INVESTMENT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ST. JOHNS (Ariz.) June 17.—Complications in connection with the Lyman Dam, on which the State has spent more than $500,000, have brought here John W. Murphy, Attorney-General; Earl Anderson, an assistant, and Vernon S. Wright, State Treasurer. The State will be compelled to pay off a tax lien of about $10,000 on the property and its canal system, and there is fear that the State's investment of school-land money in the project will be a total loss. Very little water is available from the project at the present time.

"LOST ARTICLES" INCLUDE INFANT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ST. LOUIS, June 17.—"Women lose about five times as many articles as men," according to H. T. Wetherell, who is in charge of the lost article department of the street railway system in St. Louis. "They leave money, hats, wrist watches, necklaces, rings and various packages when they arise from their seats. Sometimes there is an identification mark but in most cases none.

Wetherell has many compartments filled with all sorts of oddities. Looking at his key collection, one wonders how many persons had to climb through a transom, or telephone for a key expert to admit them to their homes. There are suit cases, hammers, hatchets, spare parts for autos and enough odds and ends to start a variety store.

"What is the oddest lost article ever turned in?" Wetherell was asked.

"Well," he mused, "I guess you won't find any to beat the baby that was left in a basket on a Wellston car. Just a plain case of desertion. The parents never did show up and it was taken to an orphanage."

SALE OF PHONE COMPANY MADE

Control of Redondo Beach Concern Transferred

Bain and Mott Group Plan Better Service

Two Units Serve Large Area in Bay District

Interests identified with the Santa Monica Bay Home Telephone Company yesterday completed the purchase of the Redondo Home Telephone Company, which serves the cities of Redondo Beach, Hermosa Beach and Manhattan Beach. The announcement was made by Ferdinand R. Bain, president of the Southern Counties Gas Company, who becomes president of the Redondo Home Telephone Company.

Under the new management, the Redondo company will begin an immediate improvement program designed to place telephone service in the district served on a more efficient basis. Charles F. Mason, general manager of the Santa Monica Bay Home Telephone, has been elected to a similar capacity with the Redondo company, and will be in active charge of operations.

As the result of the transaction, the telephone business throughout the greater Santa Monica Bay district comes under the control of the same group. The Santa Monica Bay Home Telephone Company is headed by John G. Mott as president; Willis G. Hunt, vice-president; Richard H. Lacey, secretary; Dean Mason, treasurer, and Charles F. Mason, general manager. J. A. Jevne also is one of the directors.

The Santa Monica Bay company serves the cities of Santa Monica, Ocean Park, Westgate, Venice, Playa Del Rey, Sawtelle and Bel Air, having a total population of approximately 50,000. The alliance of the two companies substantially increases the population served under the same management.

Franchises owned by the Santa Monica company include Santa Monica, fifty years; Venice, fifty years, and Los Angeles county, thirty years.

Instruments in service operated by the Santa Monica Bay Home Telephone Company increased from 8491 at the end of 1922, to approximately 8826 at the end of 1924.

Early in 1924, it was announced that a syndicate headed by John R. Mott and J. A. Jevne had obtained control of the Santa Monica company, the same group, it is understood, that acquired the Redondo Home Telephone Company.

In 1923, the Santa Monica Bay Home Telephone recapitalized by retiring the preferred and common stocks and setting up a new capital structure, consisting of $1,000,000 authorized preferred and $1,000,000 authorized common stocks.

SEERS VISUALIZE FUTURE

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Big business apparently is willing to pay any price for vision and imagination, as the Bonbright award yesterday in San Francisco testifies. Those who have the technical ability or the instinct to forecast the future with a fair degree of accuracy can reap their own reward in the stock market, and similarly, there is a reward for those who successfully chart the course of industry.

Business executives are concerned over the possibility of improvements revolutionizing specific industries, making huge investments valueless overnight or demanding colossal expenditures in totally unexpected directions. Apprehensive that these transitions may find them unprepared, it is not surprising that so much time is spent in attempting to peer around the corner.

UTILITY PATH CHARTED

The purpose of the Bonbright prize award was to forecast the development of the electric industry for the ten-year period, 1920 to 1930. Essays were invited from contestants in all parts of the world, and yesterday the prizes were awarded to the winners. In 1930 another prize will be awarded to that contestant whose forecasts of future developments will have been proved the most accurate. This prize will be paid by the American Superpower Corporation.

Something of an idea concerning the things business executives want to know of the future is obtained from the stipulations laid down in the contest. The rules provided that the articles submitted should comprehend the development of the industry in all its phases, and especially should treat of engineering accomplishments, public relations, finance markets, transmission and distribution of electricity, its utilization and its effect on the industrial and social structure of the nation.

It is interesting to know the types of men to whom the first two prizes were awarded. The best essay was written by a 22-year-old Canadian, a recent graduate of McGill University, with first-class honors in economics, political science and French. To a man of distinctly opposite inclination and training the second prize was given. He is a civil-engineering graduate, slightly over 40 years of age, and is the statistical editor of the Electrical World.

GRADUATES ENCOURAGED

One is a man of facts and figures, a skilled technician, while the other is endowed with the courage of youth, the freshness of mind to look ahead on business without the blinders of conventionality.

Lately many bits of advice to college graduates have appeared in print, but very few struck the note of encouragement sounded by the Western Electric Company. In its advertisement addressed to the graduates and printed in the college newspapers throughout the country, the Western Electric expresses the sentiment so well illustrated in the achievement of the first-prize winner in the Bonbright contest.

The message is addressed "To the Marco Polos of 1925," and conveys the thought that there still are countless adventures awaiting the daring in business and industry. Here is part of the message:

"There's high adventure in the lanes of business. Hidden riches underfoot. The very hugeness of modern business demands bigger vision than ever before. Thinking must be on a scale so large and unfettered by precedent as to try any man's mental equipment. Here's where college graduates have proven their mettle. Here's where they have justified their training. And here they may indulge in their fancy for exploring new fields."

LOWER COSTS SEEN

Some of the predictions of the contestants are important to the industry if they materialize. Most of the writers agreed that the cost of electricity would continue to decrease, one of them specifically estimating that the 1930 rates would be 9 per cent under those of 1926. Another general agreement was that municipal ownership of electric power plants was on the wane.

Marked growth in the percentage of the industry controlled through holding companies was freely predicted, one paper stating that by 1930, 95 per cent of the country's generated capacity would be controlled by holding companies. Domestic refrigeration by electrification was forecast on a large scale, several papers emphasizing this trend particularly.

Some difference of opinion developed on the subject of farm electrification. Two of the leading six contestants stated there would be a striking increase, while two others conceded a substantial increase and another held that farm electrification would play no great part. Financing by customer ownership was predicted to play an increasing part of importance.

On estimates of financial condition as of January 1, 1930, the first six papers showed a range in estimates of capital invested from $9,450,000,000 to $12,000,000,000. Four of the six papers estimated that $10,000,000,000 would approximate the actual sum.

London Daily Radio

BY ARTHUR W. KIDDY

[BY WIRELESS—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, June 17.—Financial markets closed with an irregular trend today. Gilt-edged stocks were worried to some extent by expectations of new issues. One of these is for £3,000,000 and may be floated before the end of the week. It is to have a government guarantee.

There was slightly less anxiety over the situation in China and some stocks recovered, but uneasiness was expressed in the renewed weakness of French francs and lire. It is hoped, however, that the lira will improve after the turn of the month.

Oils were dull and rubbers were affected by profit-taking. Courtaulds continued to boom, while iron shares were depressed further; gold shipments are going to India and I understand there is some demand in India for direct shipments of gold from South Africa.

Another dererrent is unemployment in Great Britain, the large figures becoming more. An important factor because of the tendency in many quarters to fasten blame on the sound money policy rather than on the true cause, the unsound industrial organization and the abnormal and uneconomic union wage scales.

Oil shares were weak as were Chinese issues.

Gilt-edged stocks continued to be affected by the forced liquidation arising from the undigested stocks in underwriters' hands. The rate for francs was somewhat better.

Allard d' Heur, Widely Known Oil Man, Dead

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—Allard d'Heur, 66 years of age, president of the Associated Pipe Line Company and vice-president of the Pacific Oil Company, died here today after an illness of more than a year. He was one of the most widely known oil man in the West.

Mr. d'Heur built the pipe line of the Associated Oil Company from the San Joaquin Valley oil fields to Port Costa.

UNION OIL LAUNCHES 'REDLINE'

Tanker to be Placed in Use on Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers

The trial trip of the new Union Oil Company of California river tanker "Redline" was taken yesterday in San Francisco Bay, according to information given out by officials of the company here.

Prominent heads of the transportation department attended the first water journey of the new vessel, including William Groundwater, manager of transportation, Capt. Edward Bugge, marine superintendent, A. O. Pegg, superintending engineer and J. D. Rearden, traffic manager. Officials of the Moore Shipbuilding Company, at the Oakland yards of which the tanker was built, also took part in the initial voyage.

The "Redline," while a comparatively small vessel, is of the latest design and will be the most modern thoroughly equipped river tanker in service on the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers and their tributaries. It is a shallow draft, twin screw vessel, specially constructed for use in the river territory of Central California. It has a draft of 5'6" when fully loaded; a capacity of 150,000 gallons, in addition to fifteen tons of package goods, and a speed of nine knots. It is 175 feet long. There are practically no places along the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers where the "Redline" cannot make a delivery, and it is expected to prove a material aid in filling the gasoline and oil requirements of this region. The motor equipment consists of two 165-horsepower, four-cylinder, four-cycle Diesel engines.

In the construction of the "Redline" safety of the crew has been carefully provided for. Living and navigating quarters are amidships and are raised seven and a half feet from the deck in order to give a clear air space. This accomplishes the double purpose of preventing the living quarters from becoming contaminated with any escaping gases while loading or discharging cargo, and also provides ample room for drum goods. The captain's and crew's quarters are large and well ventilated. Two sixteen and-a-half-foot life boards are carried.

First Mortgage Gold Bonds Series "A" 6%

Dated May 1, 1925 Due May 1, 1950

Redeemable in whole or in part on sixty days' notice on any interest date up to and including November 1, 1927, at 105 and accrued interest, with successive reductions in redemption price on each May 1 thereafter of one-half of one per cent. Semi-annual interest May 1 and November 1, payable in Chicago or New York. $1,000, and $500 coupon bonds with privilege of registration as to principal only and interchangeable with respect to denominations. Harris Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago, Trustee, and M. H. MacLean, Co-Trustee.

California Personal Property Tax Refund

The Company agrees to pay interest without deduction for any normal Federal income tax not exceeding 2% which the Company or Trustee may be required or permitted to pay at the source, and to reimburse the holders of these bonds if requested within sixty days after payment, for the Connecticut and Pennsylvania four mills and the District of Columbia five mill taxes, and for the California personal property tax not exceeding four mills per annum, and for the Maryland Securities tax not exceeding four and one-half mills per $1.00 per annum, and for the Massachusetts income tax on the interest not exceeding 6% of such interest per annum.

From official sources we summarize as follows:

Property

Business

The Iowa Power and Light Company property has been leased to the Des Moines Electric Light Company for a period of fifty years. The terms of this lease provide for a fixed annual rental equal to 12% of the cost of the plant and new transmission lines, which rental will constitute an operating charge of the Des Moines Electric Light Company. The rental is subject to readjustment after thirty years, under conservative restrictions. The cost of the first generating unit including power house for both units and entire water supply facilities is estimated to be $4,000,000. On the basis of the cost of the first unit, the estimated annual rental to be paid under this lease amounts to $480,000, or over three times the annual interest requirements on the maximum amount of bonds issuable against the unit. Surplus earnings of the Iowa Power and Light Company after preferred dividends will be available for the payment of dividends upon the common stock held by the Des Moines Electric Light Company.

Earnings

The combined gross earnings for the year 1924 of the Des Moines Electric Light Company properties were $1,857,016; net earnings (after operating expenses, maintenance and local taxes) were $1,363,369. Substantial economies in operation, resulting from the use of the new plant, with the latest improved types of equipment, will save the Des Moines Electric Light Company a considerable part of the rentals which it is to pay, and make available additional energy for sale to the growing territory served.

Security

In the opinion of counsel, these bonds are secured by a first mortgage on the new Des Moines power station and its transmission lines, and will be a first mortgage on property hereafter acquired, subject to underlying bonds, if any. The cost of the first generating unit of 25,000 K. V. A. capacity including power house designed for both units, water supply facilities and transmission lines when completed is estimated to be $4,000,000. The amount of the First Mortgage bonds issuable against this original unit is limited to $2,600,000 par value. The Illinois Power and Light Corporation has agreed to provide as needed all funds (not supplied by the Iowa Power and Light Company) necessary for the completion of the above mentioned plant and transmission lines, and agrees to pay interest on the bonds during the construction period.

These bonds are offered for delivery when, as and if issued and received by us, subject to approval of counsel. Temporary bonds of the Company will be ready for delivery on or about June 22, 1925.

We recommend these bonds for investment

Wheat Since Government's Bullish Report Week Ago, Has Declined Sharply; Curious Circumstances Results from Offsetting Bearish News.

BY PAUL WILLARD GARRETT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1925, New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, June 17.—Sensational moves in the speculative favorites of the stock market since election have given the country another opportunity to talk about Wall street, but where on the New York Stock Exchange do we find anything like the gyrations that have been witnessed recently in the commodities market.

The reference is not to rubber which has pretty well held its spectacular gains, but to no less important a commodity than wheat. Roughly a year ago we had $1 wheat. The advance that set in last fall carried the price to a new at $2.05 7-8 by late January, 1925. Partly through the influence of the great bear raid, of which Jesse Livermore now reveals some surprising manipulations, the price was driven down to a low of $1.36¼ per bushel by early April. Then in a rebound the commodity actually got back almost half of what it had lost in price during the downward selling. These moves were not based upon changing crop conditions altogether but upon speculative activities of the large operators.

WEEK'S WHEAT NEWS

Knowing these things the public had hoped for a certain degree of stabilization in prices as a result of the forthcoming government estimates.

These estimates were published a week ago. They were extremely bullish; that is, the shortest crop in fourteen years was predicted which many people naturally took as a sign of firm prices for wheat. But wheat prices the next day broke. Since the government made its report prices have fallen nearly 20 cents per bushel. Yesterday the quotation even fell below the $1.50 mark. Why?

It so happened that on the very next day our crop news came out an offsetting report was published of an excellent crop in Canada. The prospect is that our neighbor across the border will produce 80,000,000 to 100,000,000 bushels more than a year ago. That would be an increase in excess of 30 per cent.

Then came from Europe on the following day news of the improvement in Russia which in turn was followed by reports of good crops in Poland and Germany.

Meanwhile rains have improved the outlook for our own spring wheat although the condition of the winter wheat remains about the same.

While the condition of our own crop thus has not greatly changed since publication of the government's bullish report of a week ago, the world outlook has been changed materially by the news from Canada which is a large export country and in Europe where imports are determined in part by production. Altogether we can scarcely expect anything like a stabilization from a market in wheat until July or August when more will be known about our own crop conditions and more too about the world situation.

BAD CHECKS

The following bulletin on bad-check writing was issued yesterday by the forgery detail of the Los Angeles Police Department detective bureau:

Persons having rooms or apartments for rent are warned to accept no checks from the following described Mexicans, who have victimized a number of Los Angeles merchants and property owners recently through the issuance of worthless checks:

Chris Cordova, Mexican, 25 years of age, 5 feet, 9 inches tall, weight 160 pounds, medium complexion. States that he is a dancer.

Bertha Cordova, alias Bertha Babenek, said to be the wife of Chris Cordova. Is also a Mexican, black hair, slender build, 5 feet tall, weight 105 pounds, age 22 years, dark eyes, dark complexion. When last seen wore red dress.

Various fictitious names have been used in the issuance of worthless checks by this couple. On one occasion they are said to have signed the name J. M. Iconberg. The names of J. C. Brown, J. C. Miller and B. Cordova have also been used.

NEW YORK CURB

Prices Irregular

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 17.—Considerable irregularity in price movements developed in today's curb market but major activity was again on the up side. Trading showed a contraction in volume, particularly among the public utility issues.

Oils yielded to profit-taking sales despite the publication of favorable trade statistics. Vacuum, Ohio Oil, International Petroleum, and South Penn gained 1 to 2 points. Losses in the other active issues being held to fractions.

In the industrial list, American Rayon Products continued its remarkable advance by touching a new record high at 44 or double the offering price of a few weeks ago.

The brisk demand for United Light and Power, which was run up over 4 points to 53¾, was the outstanding feature of the public utility group. Lehigh Power Securities fell back 3¾ points and issues of a point or more were recorded by Electric Bond and Share and a few other issues.

Chief speculative interest in the mining division centered in Kay Copper, which was active around its recent high.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, June 17.—A heavy overnight condition was disclosed in all grains today, and with the discovery of black rust in spring wheat in the Red River Valley in the Northwest and materially higher Liverpool cables, prices advanced rapidly. At the top wheat showed 4¼@7 cents, corn 3¾@4¾ cents and oats 3@3¼ cents over the low on Tuesday. The finish was about the top, with net gains of 3¾@5¾ cents on wheat, 3¾@4¾ cents on corn, 2¾@3 cents on oats and 3¼@4 cents on rye. July wheat finished at 155⅛@1.55⅝, September 1.53⅜@1.53¾ and December at 1.53@1.54⅝. July corn was 1.15⅝@1.15¾, September 1.12⅝@1.13⅛ and December 91¼@91¾ cents at the last.

There was a noticeable lack of pressure on the wheat market at the start, with opening prices up as much as 4¼ cents from the close on Tuesday. General short covering was in evidence on the strength in Liverpool, which gained ¼@1¼d, and there was also reinstating of long lines recently sold out, while houses with eastern connections that were recently aggressive sellers were persistent buyers, and helped absorb the surplus in the pit. Toward the last the reports of the discovery of black rust in North Dakota led to increased local buying, and caused the upturn to the high point, July touching 1.54¾, and September 1.53¾ on the bulge.

Thickening conditions in the wheat market were regarded as much better. Minneapolis showed more strength than Chicago and gained 4@6¾ cents. Foreign cables inquired for offers of wheat, and there were sales of over 300,000 bushels in all positions at the seaboard with intimations that the day's business aggregated 500,000 bushels. Murray's report estimated winter wheat crop at 483,000,000 bushels as spring at 272,000,000 bushels, compared with the government June 1 figures of 497,000,000 bushels winter, 254,000,000 bushels spring. Total crop of 875,000,000 bushels is practically 200,000 bushels less than harvested last year.

Threshing returns on wheat from Kansas were somewhat disappointing and light-weight grain is being harvested in parts of Oklahoma as the result of premature ripening. Broomhall estimates the wheat crop of Europe at 288,000,000 bushels in excess of last year, but bearish foreign prospects fell flat as a market influence.

Offerings of corn and oat futures were not large, and while weather conditions in the Central West were favorable for the new corn crop, hot and dry weather continues in the Southwest. Cash corn advanced ¼@¾ cent as compared with futures early, but lost the upturn later. A local house was a persistent buyer of oats.

Trade in rye was fairly active, with the best export demand in several weeks, sales at the seaboard being estimated at 500,000 to 600,000 bushels, with Germany and Scandinavia the buyers.

Packers were aggressive buyers of provisions on the breaks and reported the best domestic and export demand for lard and joints in some time. The close was 2¼ cents lower to 2¼ cents higher on lard, unchanged on ribs and unchanged to 10 cents higher on bellies. Packing of hogs in the West for the season to date as compiled by the Price Current Grain Reporter is 8,701,000 against 11,160,000 last year.

LITTLE TREND IN STOCK MARKET

Specialties Are Center of Speculative Interest

Industrials and Rails Drift in Narrow Range

Skelly Assumes Leadership of Oil Group

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, June 17.—Speculative interest in today's stock market was confined largely to the so-called specialties, standard industrials and rails drifting within rather narrow and irregular limits. Professional operators continued to dominate price movements, although the volume of business was slightly larger than that of yesterday.

Trade news was rather colorless in character, although the further stiffening of red-metal prices attracted fresh buying into the coppers, which have been lagging behind the rest of the list. American Smelting led that group by crossing 105 for a gain of more than 3 points, while Utah, Magma and Cerro de Pasco each moved up about 1 point.

STEEL STEADY

The weekly steel trade reviews showed little change in that industry. U. S. Steel common closed fractionally higher at 116 5-8 after fluctuating within a range of 1 point. Independent steels were mixed.

Skelly Oil assumed the leadership of the oil group by moving up a point to within a small fraction of the year's high. Buying of this issue was based on the discovery of deep sand producing high gravity oil in Lincoln county, Oklahoma. Independent Oil and Gas, which owns adjacent acreage, touched a new top at 41 3-4, but was unable to maintain its gain. Marland moved up 1 point to 45, but the other petroleum issues disclosed considerable irregularity.

Pierce-Arrow prior preferred was the sensational individual feature, soaring 21 points to a record top at 145.

United Cigar Stores jumped nearly 8 points to 80 5-8 and then fell back to 77 3-4 on profit taking. Net gains of 3 to 5 points also were recorded by American Express, Famous Players, Great Western Sugar, "Soo" preferred, Newport News Gas and Electric, Ward Baking A and Universal Pipe and Radiator preferred.

Among the dozen or so issues to record new high prices for the year were Robert Reis, American Foreign Power, Southern Railway, American Telephone, Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies, Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit, Du Pont and Famous Players preferred.

Call money held steady at 3 3-4 per cent all day. The time money market was quiet with 3 3-4 per cent the ruling rate for maturities up to three months and 4 per cent for the longer dates. Commercial paper rates were unchanged at 3 3-4 to 4 per cent. Reactionary tendencies prevailed in the foreign exchange market. Demand sterling ruled about one-fourth of a cent lower around $4.85¼. Italian lire broke over 4 points to 3.77½ and slight recessions took place in a number of the other continental rates, although French francs held firm around 4 3-4.

Franklin W. Richardson Sets Forth Misleading Practices Which Are Very Often Sanctioned by Audit Firms—Should Discourage Certification of Improper Documents.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1925, New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, June 17.—Dwelling on the importance of a properly constructed balance sheet to the thousands upon thousands of people throughout the country who make up the rank and file of the investment army, Franklin W. Richardson, C.P.A., sets forth some of the misleading practices which are very often sanctioned by audit firms.

In the balance sheet of many corporations whose securities are listed on the local stock exchange, he finds items of intangible value, such as good will, patents, trademarks, etc., having no market value, are combined with real estate, buildings and equipment under a single entry. One such exhibit disclosed that the amount of stock shown as a capital liability was approximately $8,000,000 less than the actual amount outstanding.

As such balance sheets provide the only source of reliable information for many people who seek to invest their funds in a way that will return them a desirable yield, it is contended that some means should be employed to discourage certification of documents that mislead.

PROPER METHODS

In the above category are included those balance sheets which conceal the specific values of tangible and intangible assets through combining them under one head, and those that represent assets at figures in excess of their market valuation, or that omit from liabilities any contingent or other obligation that the corporation is accountable for.

In a balance sheet which is properly compiled assets are grouped in three classes—namely, capital, comprising property of marketable value; current, under which quick assets are listed, and deferred, under which items representing no market value are entered. In this manner it is possible to arrive at the balance of net tangible assets applicable to the common stock by simply deducting from the total of capital and current assets the amount of preferred stock at its redeemable price, plus all other amounts shown in the liability column, except common stock and surplus.

Circular letters issued to promote the sale of common stock should be verified by investors through comparison with actual statements issued by the corporation whose stock is involved. Such calculations usually omit common stock liabilities, surplus and intangible assets.

WORKING EXAMPLE

The last balance sheet of the Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation is taken to illustrate the proper methods of computation of share value and of surplus. Net tangible assets for the common stock total $122,160,842, but after adjustment to include estimated excess for reserves aggregate $152,160,842, or the equivalent of about $70 a share on the 2,178,109 shares outstanding.

It is evident that no dependence can be placed on surplus based on no par value stock, except in instances where such stock is carried in the balance sheet as a liability at its book value.

Surplus was shown at $141,288,099, but the common stock of no par value was entered at $10,890,545, or $5 a share. Had this stock been entered at the estimated book value of $70 a share, the capital stock liability would amount to $141,577,085, or sufficient to eliminate the stated surplus, and if at the market price at the date on which the balance sheet was issued, would have indicated a deficit of $30,782,512.

John T. Caine III, chief of the Packers and Stock Yards Administration of the United States Department of Agriculture, was the guest of honor at a luncheon Saturday at the Central Manufacturing District Club. The luncheon was attended by a representation of local packers, commission men and stock-yards officials.

J. A. McNaughton, vice-president and general manager of the Los Angeles Union Stock Yards, acted as toastmaster. Fred L. Washburn, president of the Los Angeles Live Stock Exchange, and Frank Hauser, representing the packers, were on the program and also spoke. Others who spoke briefly were James Christensen, western supervisor of the Packers and Stock Yards Administration; C. H. Beauchamp, local representative of the Packers and Stock Yards Administration of the Union Stock Yards; E. H. Agee, secretary of the California Live Stock Breeders' Association, and Dr. L. M. Hurt, county live-stock inspector.

Crop Prospects Good

H. C. Vogelsang, assistant vice-president of the Citizens' National Bank of Los Angeles, has returned from a trip of inspection through Yuma

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

Three new wells were reported in the Inglewood field yesterday, making an aggregate of about 5750 barrels per day. Production of the field yesterday was estimated at 60,000 barrels, the high point for the field so far.

The Standard Oil Company reported two completions on its Vickers No. 1 lease yesterday, with a third well due for completion today. Vickers No. 1-8 went on production with an output of about 3000 barrels per day, and Vickers No. 1-9 was brought in making about 2250 barrels per day. Both these wells are down about 2500 feet. Vickers No. 1-10 is expected to go on production today.

The Associated Oil Company added Vickers No. 13 to its string of producing wells at Inglewood, the well making a little more than 500 barrels per day. This well is down 2240 feet, and is flowing by agitation.

Wildcat Fishing

The Union Oil Company's wildcat well at Saugus is fishing for a lost bit at 2477 feet, according to official reports. Nothing except gas showings at about 1300 feet has yet been found in this hole.

The Newlin Well which the Union is drilling at Ocean Park Heights is down 5810 feet without showings, it is said. The bit has been in hard shell formation for some distance, and according to geologists, the well should find oil sand below this formation, if there is any to be found at this location.

Down 1700 Feet

E. J. Miley's wildcat well near San Luis Obispo known as the Smith No. 1 is drilling ahead at 1707 feet according to official reports. The well has some encouraging indications, it is said, but nothing productive has yet been penetrated.

Miley's wildcat well on Red Mountain, north of Ventura is down 1220 feet without definite showings, it is said. This well has shown stringers of oil sand almost from the surface, according to drillers, but two tests have not demonstrated a productive formation as yet.

Recomplete Old Well

The Superior Oil Company will have its Wardman No. 2 at Santa Fe Springs back on production again within a few days, after killing the well and almost losing it. Wardman No. 2 has one of the best production records in the Santa Fe Springs field, having produced in its lifetime oil valued at nearly $1,500,000. During the first month of production the well made 300,000 barrels of oil.

The Superior put down three wells on the Wardman lease which have produced nearly $4,000,000 worth of oil.

Gets Large Lease

The United Oil Company has acquired 800 acres in the Butsonwillow district southeast of Lost Hills and adjoining the Standard Oil Company's large holdings, it was officially reported yesterday. The lease is divided into five 160-acre tracts and is located on the eastern side of the Standard's holdings.

Other companies to purchase acreage in this district on the strength of the Standard move, are the Petroleum Midway Company with 640 acres, the Empire Oil Company with 800 acres, and the Transport Oil Company with 160 acres.

The Standard is preparing to drill four wells in this district for the purpose of testing the structural conditions. The wells will be put down to about 2000 feet, and on their findings will be based plans for further development or abandonment of the property.

Plan Many Wells

A drilling campaign which contemplates the completion of possibly eight wells is proposed by the Dominion Oil Company on the Shaw Ranch in the Cat Canyon district of the Santa Maria fields, according to reports from the field. This property recently was acquired by the Dominion from the Santa Maria Oilfields Company, headed by the Maggenheimer and Hancock interests of Los Angeles. The same interests control the Dominion Oil Company, which also operates in the Rosecrans field of the Los Angeles Basin.

RUBBER PRICE DROP ATTRACTING BUYERS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 17.—Attracted by the declines crude rubber prices have undergone in the past few days a small volume of buying made its appearance in the market today. Although no large amount of business was transacted the better inquiry was sufficient to check the downward movement and hold prices steady with slight gains recorded in some grades.

Spot arrivals up 1 cent, at 73 a pound and other grades put on fractional advances. Manufacturers are displaying little interest, however, and importers are of the opinion that this hand-to-mouth buying policy will only serve to create a further tightening in the situation as the distant months draw closer. The advances in tire prices is still proportionately far below the advance in the commodity and in this connection reports are prevalent that another tire price restriction will be forthcoming around July 1. In the meantime or at least until the margin of profit is reduced by some means this makers will naturally pursue a cautious buying policy. MORE PIMA COTTON IS BEING SPUN

Product Grown in Delta of Nile Deteriorating in Quality is Report

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, June 17.—That New England spinners of fine cotton goods again are looking toward use of Pima long-staple cotton is declared by Dwight B. Heard, who has just returned from a session of the United States Chamber of Commerce, of which he is a director. He states:

"The famous Sakellarides cotton, grown in the delta of the Nile, is steadily deteriorating in quality, owing to the planting of mixed or run-out seed since the British control of the industry has ceased, and many large American spinners of fine cotton yarns are now genuinely interested in the revival of the Pima industry, preferring to purchase Pima cotton grown from pure seed, instead of Sakel grown from hybrid seed. It is now evident that Pima cotton has found a definite place in American industry. It is no longer used in making tire fabrics. The prophecy of John A. Todd, the great English textile expert of England, made to me in Phoenix six years ago, 'in a few years you will not use this fine cotton in coarse tire yarns, but in fine fabrics,' has come true."

Mr. Heard expresses belief that, owing to the strength, uniformity and length of this cotton, an annual market can be developed for it among American manufacturers of from 150,000 to 200,000 bales. He found only a small carry-over from last year's crop of long staple. Manufacturers might be induced to assent to the laying of a duty of about 7 cents a pound on long-staple, in order to develop and protect the American industry and thus assure a dependable supply, uninfluenced by foreign complications.

SEES GAIN IN MOTOR EARNINGS

Economy Permits Large Profits for Quarter on Smaller Volume

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 17. — Earnings reports of automotive companies are becoming more and more satisfactory as the year advances, according to Motor of New York. Increased efficiency and economy permitted substantial profits in the first quarter on a smaller volume than last year. The extraordinary sales of the second three months will result in balances two or three times as large as the first and almost as much ahead of the same period of last year.

There is every reason to expect a large, although not a record-breaking, business the rest of the year and stabilization of production will make it possible to add materially to the earnings of the first half. It is practically certain there will be no sharp recession such as followed the overproduction of 1924. As a consequence the showings of virtually all the major companies in every branch of the industry will be better than in any previous year except, perhaps, 1923, which marked the peak for all time.

One of the most gratifying features of the situation is that reports from majority of passenger car distributors and dealers also are making more than they did last year. The same is true of parts and accessory jobbers. In the merchandising as well as in the manufacturing fields there has been a notable increase in efficiency.

Short Crop of Fruit Expected in Middle West

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, June 17.—Fruit crops are short. Apples and pears, as well as peaches, are expected to be in lighter supply than last season.

The shortage of fruit is announced today by the United States government Bureau of Agricultural Economics, and is stated to be due to a severe winter, or spring freezes in some sections, and of dry weather in others.

Prospect of fewer peaches than last year is especially apparent. The estimated production is slightly more than 47,000,000 bushels, 11 per cent less than in 1924, although 500,000 bushels above a five-year average. Shipping point prices are almost twice those of last year.

Decreases in the peach crop appear in the region starting with New Jersey and Pennsylvania, extending south into Georgia and west through Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas and Oklahoma. Decided gains as compared with last season are reported in the peach production of Missouri and California. The California crop of 16,000,000 bushels may prove the largest since 1922.

BONBRIGHT PRIZES ARE AWARDED

Young Canadian Wins $5000 for Essay on Electric Development

Prize winners in an international competition for $10,000 of cash awards offered by Bonbright & Co., Inc., New York bankers, for the best essay on the development of the electric industry for the ten-year period, 1920-1930, were announced at the National Electric Light Association convention in San Francisco this week.

First prize, consisting of $5000, was won by David Cowan, a Canadian, whose paper was considered the best of 438 which were submitted to the board of directors of the American Superpower Corporation, which served as judges. Robert M. Davis of New York City was awarded the second prize of $1000.

In 1930, another prize will be awarded to that contestant whose forecasts of future developments will have proved most accurate. This prize offered by the American Superpower Corporation will be $10,000 cash.

Davis Cowan, winner of the first prize, was born in London, Eng., October 16, 1903; went to public school in Canada and was graduated from McGill University with first-class honors in economics, political science and French. He is now with the Sun Life Assurance Company in Canada, with offices in Montreal.

Robert M. Davis, winner of the second prize, was born February 8, 1882 in Chico, Cal.; attended the Oahu College, Honolulu, T. H., and was graduated in 1907 from the college of civil engineering at Cornell University. He is now statistical editor of "Electrical World."

In addition to the above prizes, John Denkendorf of Milwaukee, Wis., was awarded third prize of $500. Ten were awarded prizes of $250 each, and ten $100 each. An analysis of the six highest papers showed many interesting conclusions, among which there was a surprisingly close agreement.

COTTON OFF AS TRADERS TAKE PROFIT

Price Declines Forty Points With Realizing by Local and Southern Interests

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 17.—The market went off about 40 points, or the equivalent of $2 a bale in today's trading after yesterday's bulge. It was due more to a general desire of local trade and New Orleans interests operating on the bull side of the market at times during the past two weeks to realize some profits, than to anything actually new in the general situation.

After the maximum rise of 150 to 160 points from the low levels reached the day the government's crop report was put out on June 2, the temptation to cash in by the trading element proved irresistible, especially as the Liverpool market closed at a little lower, and the government's weekly weather and crop bulletin issued at noon proved a little better than had been expected and there was not much disposition shown by either Wall street or local trade commission houses to follow the advance any further for the present.

In today's decline July went off to 23¾; October, 23¾; December about 23.20; January, 22¾, and March to 23¼. This was followed by a rally of 10 points from these quotations during the late afternoon on the usual covering of shorts and a moderate amount of new local speculative buying for some recovery. There was no rainfall in Texas the past twenty-four hours except a few very light scattered showers, mostly near the Louisiana border and around the Galveston district. The official forecast contained no indication for any general rains in that State as yet, with only probable local showers for the Panhandle region and the extreme Southeast Texas section. Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana will, however, probably have some showers, both tonight and tomorrow. At Liverpool cotton futures closed barely steady at a net decline of 7 of their points on July to 1 on the new crop months, which compared with 8 to 12 advance there early in the day and what should have been a sustained rise of 9 to 15 to have met our late advance of yesterday.

LIRA'S FALL ANNOYING

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

ROME, June 17.—The constant depreciation of the Italian lira, which has reached 26.22 to the American dollar, is causing comment in financial circles. Many believe stabilization can be obtained only by legal devaluation of the lira, thereby enabling Italy to place her currency on a gold basis.

Issue of Iowa Utility Bonds Offered Today

A $2,000,000 issue of Iowa Power and Light Company first mortgage, series "A," 6 per cent gold bonds, dated May 1, 1925 and due May 1, 1955, will be offered today by a syndicate of investment bankers at 101 and interest, to yield about 5.93 per cent.

Those participating in the sale of the bonds are: E. H. Rollins and Sons, Harris Trust and Savings Bank, Halsey, Stuart & Co., Spencer Trask & Co., and Marshall Field, Glore, Ward & Co.

The Iowa Power and Light Company is controlled through the ownership of its common stock by the Des Moines Electric Light Company, which is a subsidiary of the Illinois Power and Light Corporation. The company has leased its property to the Des Moines Electric Light Company for a period of fifty years. The terms of the lease provide for a fixed annual rental equal to 12 per cent of the cost of the plant and new transmission lines.

The bonds are secured by a first mortgage on the new Des Moines power station and transmission lines, and will be a first mortgage on property hereafter acquired, subject to underlying bonds if any.

DECREASE IN DAILY CRUDE OIL PRODUCTION

Offer Bonds for Chicago Skyscraper

A new issue of $7,000,000 Jewelers' Building of Chicago, first mortgage 6 per cent sinking fund gold bonds dated the 1st inst. and maturing June 1, 1950, will be offered today by the Federal Securities Corporation and Blyth, Witter & Co., at 100 and accrued interest to yield 6 per cent.

The building will be erected by the Riverside Plaza Corporation on the corner of East South Water street and North Wabash avenue. The building will be a modern, fireproof, forty-story office and shop building and will be the tallest in the United States west of New York. There will be approximately 491,200 square feet of rental space.

The bonds will be a direct obligation of Riverside Plaza Corporation and will be secured in the opinion of counsel, by a first closed mortgage on approximately 22,624 square feet of land and on the building to be erected thereon. The land and building has been appraised at $11,704,830. The amount of this loan is, therefore, less than 60 per cent of the appraised value.

A surety bond guaranteeing completion of the building and fee title insurance for the full amount of the funded debt will be carried payable to the trustee. It has been estimated that net earnings from the building available for interest after deducting all operating expenses, maintenance, insurance and taxes, will exceed $900,000 a year, or more than 2.14 times the maximum annual interest charges on this issue, and over 2.66 times the average annual interest charges over the life of the loan.

Saloniki is to have several new railroads under way this year.

Interest payable semi-annually June 1st and December 1st in Chicago. Coupon bonds in denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100, registerable as to principal. Redeemable as a whole or in part at the option of the Corporation on 60 days' notice at 105% on or before June 1, 1928; thereafter at 104% up to and including June 1, 1931; thereafter at 103% up to and including June 1, 1935; thereafter at 102% up to and including June 1, 1939; thereafter at 101% up to and including June 1, 1949; thereafter at 100% until maturity, plus accrued interest in each case.

CONTINENTAL AND COMMERCIAL TRUST AND SAVINGS BANK, TRUSTEE

Interest payable without deduction for Normal Federal Income Tax not in excess of 2% which may lawfully be paid at the source. The Corporation agrees to refund, upon timely application as provided in the Mortgage, personal property tax paid by residents of Pennsylvania, California and Connecticut not in excess of four mills, and of Maryland not in excess of four and one-half mills, and of Kentucky not in excess of five mills, and the Massachusetts Income Tax not exceeding 6% per annum on income derived from these bonds.

From a letter of Mr. C. V. Dickinson, President of the Corporation, we have summarized as follows:

General: Riverside Plaza Corporation owns in fee approximately 22,624 square feet of land located at the southwest corner of North Wabash Avenue and East South Water street, and will erect thereon a building to be known as the Jewelers Building of Chicago. The building will be a modern, fireproof, forty-story office and shop building and will be the tallest in the United States west of New York.

Members of the Jewelers Association of Chicago, together with numerous allied trades, have made arrangements to take leases over a term of years on a considerable portion of the building. This organization was founded in 1876 and is one of the oldest and strongest trade associations in Chicago. In 1924 its members were credited with doing a business aggregating about $300,000,000. There is at present a tendency, which is generally recognized in large cities, for certain types of business to concentrate within a certain locality and in this particular instance the urgent need and unusual demand for such a structure by the jewelry trade is favorably met by a location which is particularly satisfactory for this type of business.

Location: The location of the Jewelers Building of Chicago is easily accessible to all lines of transportation, close to the main shopping district of the city and near practically all of the downtown commercial and industrial centers. It is one city square from the Michigan Avenue bridge, which is now the center of Chicago's greatest development.

The site will undoubtedly be subject to a similar development as it is in the heart of the new district which will be created by the South Water Street Improvement, which will make that thoroughfare one of the finest, modern boulevards and high-class business streets in Chicago and the northern boundary of the loop. Work is now in progress toward the consummation of this development program, which will entail an original cost exceeding $25,000,000.

Building: Upon completion the Jewelers' Building of Chicago will be forty stories high with basement, sub-basement and multi-storied garage. It will be of modern, fireproof construction throughout with heavy steel reinforcement and will afford the maximum of north lighting especially desirable in the jewelry trade. The building will be surrounded by streets on four sides, giving outside light and air to all offices. The main part of the building will contain twenty-three stories and the tower will contain seventeen stories, giving a total net rentable area in excess of 450,000 square feet. All of the offices and shops will have outside light and air and that space ordinarily devoted to office buildings to a light court will be utilized for the parking of automobiles in a large two-story garage.

The garage section will accommodate [illegible] cars and will be operated separately from the main building. Equipped with high speed elevators and standard electric automatic devices for the rapid and economical handling of cars, this new service is expected to meet with considerable favor and produce a substantial source of income to the building, from a space otherwise entirely unproductive.

Security: These bonds will be the direct obligation of Riverside Plaza Corporation and will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a First (Closed) Mortgage on approximately 22,624 square feet of land (owned in fee) and on the building to be erected thereon. The land and building have been appraised by Wm. H. Babcock & Son, independent Chicago Realtors, as having a value of $11,704,830. The amount of this loan is, therefore, less than 60% of the appraised value.

A surety bond guaranteeing completion of the building and fee title insurance for the full amount of the funded debt will be carried payable to the Trustee. Adequate liability and other insurance will also be carried payable to or for the benefit of the trustee.

Earnings: It has been estimated that on a conservative basis net earnings of the Jewelers' Building of Chicago available for interest after deducting all operating expenses, maintenance, insurance and taxes, will exceed $900,000 per annum, or more than 2.14 times the maximum annual interest charges on this issue of bonds, and over 2.66 times the average annual interest charges over the life of the loan.

Sinking Fund: Under the terms of the Trust Indenture, a sinking fund will be created to be deposited with the Trustee monthly which should retire more than 64% of this issue before maturity.

Leases: Under the terms of a contract which has been executed, members of the Jewelers' Association of Chicago will take a subdivision of 125,000 square feet of space in this building and applications have already been received for a total in excess of this amount.

These bonds are offered as, if and when issued and subject to the approval of our counsel. Legal details incident to the issue of the bonds have been supervised by Messrs. Winston, Strawn & Shaw of Chicago, attorneys for the Bankers, and Messrs. Clayton, Cleveland & Dixon of Chicago, attorneys for the Company. Appraisals of land and building by Wm. H. Babcock & Son, Chicago Realtors.

COLDEN TELLS OF PORT AIMS

Harbor Commission Head Addresses Convention

Municipal Terminal Railway is Next Objective

Handicaps to Commerce by Private Lines Told

Anything but a combined ownership and control of both ship and shore facilities is hazarding that port's future, C. J. Colden, president of the Los Angeles Harbor Commission, told Pacific Coast port authorities in convention at San Francisco yesterday. Los Angeles has accomplished the one, municipal development of her water front, and is determined to effect the other, he said, that of a complete municipal terminal railway serving all sections without partiality.

He told of handicaps to commerce by private railways bottling up whole sections of the harbor, delays occasioned by shunting of cars from one line to another, and indifference to truck facilities where railways control water front. He declared absorption of terminal charges a fallacy, as the waiving of switching charges would have to be made up on the whole by higher line haul charges, which likewise discouraged commerce.

LINE OPENS UP NEW ISLAND PORTS

New ports have been opened up to the last year by Struthers & Barry's Shipping Board ships, particularly in the Philippines, some where the ship had to tie up to palm trees, according to Capt. E. Svedstrup, who brought in the freighter West Sequana yesterday, her hold bulging with oriental freight. Hardwood, copra and rubber are being discharged, from ports never visited by wood sailed vessels before, or rarely before. A thing ran to the tall trees fearing a new type of sea monster.

Capt. Svedstrup also told of an explosion of 700 cases of gasoline on a lighter at Singapore, and the burning of the lighter, alongside his ship, the wharf and the warehouse, which also set aside the spirits. Svedstrup's crew cut the craft adrift, and it floated into a near-by village, setting fire to a native house of early bark. A third Chinese, peacefully smoking his opium pipe on the lighter was undisturbed.

The West Sequana will sail for the Orient Monday night or Tuesday with 5000 tons of Southern California products, including more than 100,000 cases of oil, the largest cargo of its kind ever taken from this port.

Jack Rael, fisherman, suffered minor burns about his head, his boat, Joe Bar, was destroyed and the spread of fire to the General Petroleum station and the Chanslor-Canfield wharf averted yesterday, when his gasoline tank overflowed and ignited from an overturned forward light. The boat drifted to Terminal Island, where it burned to the water's edge. Rael singing his head while his companion dived overboard. The loss was a few hundred dollars.

Maj. C. A. James, manager of the Marine Exchange and Clarence Mallott's assistant in the Chamber of Commerce traffic bureau, will leave Friday night for Seattle to attend the convention of foreign trade representatives. He also will visit Seattle in addition to all port cities with a view to adapting their improvements.

The steamer Tiger, of 11,000 tons deadweight, is due tomorrow from the Puget Sound on her return on her first trip in the intercoastal service for the Williams Line, under a long time charter. She is owned by the Standard Transportation Company and formerly operated in transpacific trade by the Dollar and the United American Line service. She makes the seventh ship in the Williams Line's regular fortnightly service.

Representatives of the Harbor District chamber of Commerce will be entertained by the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce at the Catalina Yacht Club at luncheon at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, after which they will make a cruise of the harbor. Dr. Ford W. Neff of Chicago will speak. More than 150 delegates will attend, according to Lou Johnson, Wilmington chamber secretary.

The American-Hawaiian Line is celebrating its twenty-fifth anniversary of its intercoastal service this month. It was on June 16, 1900, that the beginning of its service between the two coasts by way of the Straits of Magellan, with four 8500-ton steamers, the Hawaiian, the Oregonian and the American. Today it has twenty-seven, including the two largest motorships under the American flag.

Definite announcement has been made that the huge new United States Lines' Resolute of 20,000 registered tons will call at Los Angeles on her globe circuit February 16, 1926, it has been received by the Los Angeles Harbor Bureau. Second cabin Los Angeles passengers already booked for passage are by Peter Janss, president of the Janss Investment Company, and Miss Janss. The liner will proceed from here to San Francisco, Honolulu, Japan, China, Philippines, Borneo, Java, India, Egypt and Europe.

The Luckenbach Steamship Company, operating from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast via the Panama Canal, announces a change of schedule which reduces the time in transit from all ports by one day to San Francisco, and by two days to Oakland, Portland, Seattle and Tacoma. Previous to this the Luckenbach Steamship Company maintained the fastest weekly service in the intercoastal trade. The change of schedule still further shortens the time in transit. This change supplements a recent reduction of one day in the time from Boston.

ELSWORTH SUES WIFE OF ONE DAY

Clubman Seeks to Divorce Extra Girl on Charge of Desertion and Threat

The hospital romance which had its climax in the marriage of Alfred D. Elsworth, wealthy New York clubman, to Catherine Elsworth, a motion-picture extra and a nurse by turns, had its sequel a day after the marriage, according to a divorce complaint filed by the clubman at White Plains, N. Y., yesterday.

The sequel was the end of the marriage, according to the clubman's petition, for after one day of married life his wife became dissatisfied and left, threatening to "expose me if I did not pay her a large sum of money."

The marriage was solemnized May 8, 1924, after Mrs. Elsworth, in the capacity of a nurse, had won the wealthy clubman's life while he was recovering from the mental shock given him by the death of his first wife a few months before.

In his petition, Elsworth set forth that he gave his wife of one day $15,000, and signed an agreement to pay her $75 a month during life and $2500 a year from his estate after his death. He also charged that last November private detectives employed by him found his wife in an apartment with another man, who gave the name of R. M. Gibson.

Mrs. Elsworth formerly lived in Hollywood. She left Los Angeles about six weeks ago and is now living at San Francisco.

FIGHT BEGUN ON STREET'S ABANDONING

Arguments on Demurrer in Barranca Suit Heard by Judge Hardy

Arguments on a demurrer to the suit brought in the name of the State to enjoin the city from vacating Barranca street, between Avenues Eighteen and Nineteen, were heard yesterday by Judge Hardy preliminary to hearing testimony on the merits of the case.

The complaint, filed by the Attorney-General's office, declared acts of the City Council in passing an ordinance of intention to declare the street abandoned were a "gross abuse of the discretion confided to the Council by the laws of the State of California."

It was further charged that the Frank Graves Sash, Door and Mill Company, which occupies property on both sides of the street at the point of the proposed abandonment, would be the sole beneficiary of the abandonment.

The defendants entered a general denial of the charges and set up the defense that the street was used but little by any except the mill company.

The defendants demurred to the complaint on technical grounds, seeking to have it stricken out on the ground that its assertions were too ambiguous to constitute a cause of action for an injunction.

NOTICIAS MUNDIALES DE ULTIMA HORA

En obsequio a nuestros numerosos amigos de habla española, y para beneficio de los lectores americanos de "The Times" que estudien esa lengua, publicamos diariamente esta columna en castellano, con un extracto de las más importantes noticias de última hora.

Buena parte del futuro progreso de Los Angeles, que es la metrópoli de los Estados Unidos que más cercana se halla a territorio latino-americano, habrá de depender de las relaciones que logremos establecer con nuestras hermanas, las repúblicas del sur. Para que lleguen a ser enteramente cordiales, no hay nada tan importante como que nuestros ciudadanos se familiaricen con la lengua castellana. Tan se dan cuenta de este hecho nuestros habitantes, que hay al presente más de 25,000 personas que estudian español en Los Angeles. A ellas les conviene leer todos los días esta columna, en la que encontrarán español correcto y enteramente moderno.

CUDAD DE MEJICO, Junio 17. Los círculos oficiales y extraoficiales de aquí gradualmente han venido comprendiendo el verdadero motivo de la declaración del ministro Kellogg. El tono de los periódicos de hoy es mucho mas reposado, por más que el Demócrata sigue lanzando violentas diatribas contra Kellogg y sus declaraciones. En un artículo de El Universal se compara la nota del señor Kellogg a "una andanada completa que hubiese sido disparada sobre un velero que se atreviera a atravesársele a un buque de guerra". El Excelsior publicó un artículo, en el que dice que "los círculos comerciales" conservan el optimismo.

Sábese aquí que Calles y el ministro de Relaciones Saenz tuvieron una conferencia ayer tarde, y que se decidió ordenar se suspendiera la publicación de ciertas declaraciones oficiales del ministerio de Relaciones, que iban a aparecer hoy. Ya se está serenando el ambiente de Méjico, pues parece que el país ha comprendido que la nota de Kellogg llevaba por objeto ayudar a Calles, y proporcionarle una palanca para supetar a los elementos perturbadores de la nación.

El ex-Presidente Obregón ha telegrafiado a Calles desde su hacienda de Sonora, aplaudiendo la respuesta del primer mandatario, y tanto el mensaje de Obregón, como el de la confederación regional de obreros mejicanos a William Green y a Coolidge, protestando contra la declaración de Kellogg, son aquí los más generales temas de conversación.

Dice Obregón en su telegrama que juzga que la respuesta de Calles es una defensa del decoro nacional, y que nadie puede negar que sea justificada. Según Obregón, Kellogg pretende demostrar con cada uno de sus conceptos que la suerte del gobierno de Méjico está en manos del ministerio de Estado americano, y "parece ignorar que, en lo pasado, se ha demostrado ya al mundo entero, con irresistible elocuencia, que en Méjico puede funcionar y existir normalmente un gobierno emanado del voto popular, sin el apoyo oficial de la Casa Blanca".

Añade Obregón que "el gobierno de Carranza no tuvo el apoyo de la Casa Blanca, ni de Wall Street, y sin ellos logró establecerse; más tarde, cuando ya contaba con la amistad de los Estados Unidos, fue derrocado por trastornos políticos de orden interior. Agrega Obregón que su propio gobierno se consolidó hasta alcanzar la más completa normalidad, en condiciones análogas, y que el de Calles, que está procurando cumplir con sus obligaciones domésticas y exteriores, no depende, felizmente, de los actos de ningún funcionario público de potencia extranjera".

El mensaje que venimos citando aplaude a Calles por no haber hecho aprecio de la presión extranjera. Dice también Obregón que "las declaraciones de Kellogg son inexplicables; pero ninguna tanto como la de que Méjico está siendo enjuiciado ante el mundo". Manifiesta, por último Obregon, que "no ha podido ver la silueta de al opinión americana tras la declaración de Kellogg, y que la que él distingue es muy diferente de esa".

NOTAS LOCALES

Curioso Plan de Defensa del Dentista Criminal

A pesar de la confesión del doctor Thomas W. Young, de que asesinó brutalmente a su hermosa mujer, cuyo cadáver se encontró debajo del piso de hormigón de un aljibe en su casita de Beverly Glen, la noche del último sábado, filtróse ayer la despampanante noticia de que el dentista de Los Angeles está fundando el andamiaje de su defensa en la aseveración de que la señora Young murió de muerte natural.

El doctor Young, según se sabe por personas que están en contacto con los abogados de la defensa, no negará haber metido el cuerpo de su esposa bajo el piso del aljibe; pero tratará de burlar la horca, sosteniendo a capa y espada que la muerte de la víctima vino por causas naturales.

La curiosa defensa del dentista, que hace prever uno de los lujados de más reñidos debates que habrá en la historia de este Estado, va a fundarse en el informe de autopsia presentado por el doctor Wagner, quien no encontró en el cadáver pruebas que revelaran la causa de la muerte. Dícese que Louis Collings y los otros defensores de Young van a hacer venir autoridades médicas, para que testifiquen que, si la señora Young hubiera muerto por estrangulación producida por el gas, se habría descubierto una congestión cerebral; y que, si la muerte se hubiera producido por sofocación, habríase manifestado una congestión de los pulmones.

NUMERO 41

La llegada a Avalón es muy bonita y animada (the arrival at Avalon is very pretty and lively), pues casi todos los turistas que se hallan en la isla van al muelle a ver la entrada del vapor (as nearly all the tourists in the island go to the pier to see the entrance of the steamer).

En menos que te lo cuento (in no time), el buque quedó abarloado y amarrado al muelle (the ship was alongside the pier and moored thereto), y los viajeros empezamos a salir por la escala (and the passengers began going out by the gangway).

Los músicos, que habían bajado al muelle antes que el pasaje (the musicians, who had got down on the pier before the passengers), empezaron a tocar, y los viajeros desfilaron al son de la música (began playing and the voyagers filed out to the sound of the music).

Muchos de los excursionistas pasaron del Catalina al "Princess", un barco con fondo de cristal, en el que va uno a ver los jardines submarinos (many of the excursionists passed from the Catalina to the "Princess", a glass-bottomed boat, on which one goes to see the submarine gardens).

OUSTER LAID TO ENMITY BY RUSSELL

Ex-Principal Calls Many Character Witnesses in County Board Hearing

Declaring he intended to show the County Board of Education that charges of immorality were brought against him as the result of factional differences in Huntington Park, Thomas A. Russell, former principal of the Huntington Park High School, called numerous character witnesses in his defense yesterday at the second session of a hearing being conducted by the board to determine whether his license to teach is to be revoked.

The Huntington Park Board of Education dismissed Russell two weeks ago after a hearing conducted before board members on charges of immoral and unprofessional conduct and unfitness for teaching. The school board hearings came as an aftermath to the filing of a complaint in Juvenile Court accusing Russell on four counts of contributing to the delinquency of minors and his conviction later in Police Court on an immorality charge. The contributing charges were dismissed by Judge Archbald after Russell's attorney pointed out his client had been "once in jeopardy" in the Police Court case.

While two teachers at school denied they had heard of or taken part in any plot to dislodge Russell, one admitted she had aided in circulating a petition against Russell which was designed to create a movement among taxpayers and others demanding his removal as principal.

The hearing is being pressed by several Huntington Park residents.

Among the character witnesses summoned in behalf of Russell were Mrs. Lela C. Crause, president of the Board of Education of San Diego; F. V. Martin, former District Superintendent of Schools of National City and at present City Superintendent of Schools of Santa Monica; Oscar Kellogg, who formerly was associated with Russell in Sunday-school work; Mrs. Mabel A. Barnes of Long Beach, and her son, Milton Hand.

The board adjourned last evening to resume the hearing Saturday.

Negro Pageant to be Repeated in Bowl Tonight

"The "Star of Ethiopia," a pagant presenting through music, drama and song the history of the negro race will be presented again tonight at the Hollywood Bowl. On the opening night, Monday, the pageant drew nearly 10,000 persons.

More than 700 negro men, women and children are assisting in the staging of the pageant, which is the work of Dr. W. E. B. Du Bois, one of the foremost of his race.

The story of the pageant dates back across the centuries to the days when men were little more than savages and takes up the rise and fall into slavery of the negro races and their eventual progress again to freedom.

Smart Attire for Coming Months Exhibited

STYLE SHOW HAS VARIETY

Preview Indicates Few Changes of Concern to Men But With Women it is Vastly Different

All varieties of clothes, from georgeous frocks to gingham aprons for women and tuxedos to pink suspenders for men, were placed on exhibition by the Associated Apparel Manufacturers of Los Angeles at their preview of fall styles, which opened at the Biltmore Tuesday and will close tonight.

Exhibits were presented by practically every garment manufacturer in the city, and the show is being attended by representatives of the clothing trade from all parts of Southern California. The purpose of the exhibition is primarily to acquaint retail dealers with what will be smart attire during the coming months, but the show is open to anybody interested in clothes.

The exhibit in men's clothing is extensive, but to the layman's eye the styles do not show such differences as to be particularly marked. The same old coat, vest and trousers arrangements will continue. Spats may be added by those sufficiently hardy to wear them. Colors are either light or dark, according to the preferences of the wearer. Belts will continue in vogue and likewise suspenders, preferably pink, it was stated by those who know. Very cautious men will wear both. But bell-bottom trousers are on the wane.

STYLE TOPIC

There is too much conservatism in the make-up of the Yankees to permit this picturesque style to flourish here.

But when it comes to women's clothes—that's something else, as Abe Potash would say. The styles are bewildering and the colors in many instances a riot. And the skirt will remain short, even shorter than before, it was stated by the manufacturers, who asserted that the nether hem of a woman's outer garment this season would fall short of reaching the ground by anywhere from twelve to eighteen inches.

Softness and lightness will characterize women's hats. The hat will be drawn far down over the ears and will come in different sizes to accommodate difference in crania. Superstructure will appear in both large and small sizes, preference being given, perhaps, to the helmet effect. Colors will run to odd shades of red or pink, though white hats will be extremely stylish.

Sports suits will be all the rage and will display a bewildering variety of bright colors, plaids being among the favorites. Straight silhouette tailored lines will predominate in construction. To those whose taste runs to more quiet colors, there is a great variety of pastel tints.

Satins in navy, black and rosewood color will be the smartest thing in street wear. Many of the styles shown reveal a wealth of embroidery. After seven years' obscurity, the circular skirt has again made its appearance and will be one of the smartest features of this season's street clothes. Also, long and voluminous sleeves are once more back in favor.

Both frills and straight lines will characterize evening frocks. The frilly ones appear as a revival of the old basque effect, and the straight ones are a continuation of the prevailing mode in women's gowns for the last several years.

Plum, purple and mahogany will be the dominant colors in coats, except the sports models, which exhibit large plaids and hues of extreme brilliancy. To harmonize with the circular skirt, the coat will also present a circular effect, known to the trade as the "barrel" coat. Furs will lead in trimmings, appearing on collar, cuffs and at the bottom.

GOVERNOR WILL SHIFT CAPITAL

Long Beach Will be Summer Home of Executive

Residence to be Leased There for July and August

Expected to Announce New Appointments Soon

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, June 17.—Long Beach will be, as it has been for the past two years, the summer capital of the State. Definite announcement of Gov. Richardson's intention to establish a summer residence here again this year was announced today by Frank Merriam, Speaker of the Assembly. Arrangements have been completed, it was said, to lease the home of a Long Beach man for the months of July and August and this home will be the Governor's residence for that period.

Gov. Richardson plans to take a complete rest in Long Beach, following a strenuous winter and spring, it was said. As little official business as possible will be transacted by the executive during his stay here.

It is expected, it was said today, that shortly after his arrival here with his family, the Governor will announce some appointments of interest to Southern California. Included in this will be the naming of several judges to the new Municipal Court bench of Long Beach and Los Angeles. In the matter of the Long Beach court if the Governor follows the recommendations of the Long Beach Bar Association, Attorneys Chris Wilson, John K. Hull and Charles Wallace will receive the appointments here, it was said.

The appointment of a Southern California man to the State Railroad Commission and the appointment of a State Real Estate Commissioner, to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Commissioner Keyser, are to be made by the Governor. Mr. Merriam declared he is ignorant of the Governor's attitude on any of these appointments.

WOMAN IS SURPRISED BY FORTUNE

Wife of Pasadena Baker Will Receive $33,000 by Unexpected Decision

Unexpectedly plunged from poverty into wealth by the decision of a Vancouver (B. C.) court, Mrs. Pearl Ellen Seybold of 81 Mary street, Pasadena, was worried last night over her financial problems.

Mrs. Seybold, the wife of a baker, seemed less surprised by her good fortune than troubled by the question of what she should do with the money. She was informed by a Times representative last night that Justice McDonald of Vancouver had decided she was entitled to $33,000 of her foster mother's estate on the grounds that an adopted child in California has the same inheritance rights as one adopted in British Columbia.

"Oh, is that so?" she queried without emotion. "That's the first I've heard of it. I took the case to court last February, but had almost forgotten about it and had thought nothing ever would come of it.

"But what will I do with the money?" she asked on second thought. "I haven't a single idea. I suppose I'll be worried half to death now, thinking about what I'm going to do with it."

Mrs. Seybold, a young woman, was adopted as a child by Mrs. P. C. McAdams. Mrs. McAdams died at Vancouver last December and her will left virtually nothing to Mrs. Seybold.

PETITFILS CONFISERIE PURCHASED

Former Cafeteria Man Buys Entire Business for Sum Said to be $500,000

Involving an approximate consideration of $500,000, the lease, furnishings, equipment and business of the Petitfils Confiserie, 731 South Broadway, yesterday was purchased by Glover E. Stith of 6933 Franklin street, according to announcement by officials of the W. Ross Compbell Company which handled the transaction.

The establishment will henceforth be known as Stith's and will conduct the same type of catering business as the former owners have been conducting.

Stith was formerly president of the B & M. Cafeteria.

DR. AKED IS PLYMOUTH ASSOCIATE

Pastor Resigns Pulpit of Wilshire-Boulevard Church to Engage in New Fields

Dr. C. F. Aked, formerly pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church of New York, yesterday announced that he has resigned his position as preaching colleague with Dr. Frank Dyer of the Wilshire Boulevard Congregational Church to become associate pastor with Rev. W. H. Hopkins of the Plymouth Congregational Church.

DR. C. F. AKED.

Following his work at the New York church, of which John D. Rockefeller is a member, Dr. Aked became pastor of a Congregational church at San Francisco, later resigning to accompany Henry Ford on the peace ship to Europe. Later Dr. Aked accepted the call to become pastor of the First Congregational Church of Kansas City, and last January resigned to become preaching colleague with Dr. Dyer.

Dr. Aked will begin his new ministry next Sunday morning when he will preach on "The Goodness of Gladness" at the West Coast Boulevard Theater, where the regular Sunday morning services will be held. Plymouth church recently merged with the Olivet Congregational. The old Plymouth church will be sold and the old Olivet church will be demolished and a new building erected.

Dr. Dyer will continue his duties as pastor of the Wilshire church which recently was completed at a cost of $251,000. Within the last three weeks the congregation has subscribed $151,000, which leaves the church free of indebtedness. The Wilshire Boulevard Church was founded three and a half years ago by Dr. Dyer and now has an active membership of 536, with a large Sunday-school enrollment. The new church is one of the most beautiful temples of worship in California.

Convention of Educators to Open Monday

More than 1000 nationally known educators are expected to attend the National Physical Education Association convention which will start next Monday at the Ambassador. The convention will last through Saturday, the 27th inst.

A daily program of lectures, of demonstrations and health activities has been planned and will be open to the public. One feature of the week will be a huge demonstration at the Coliseum at 2 p.m. Tuesday. More than 10,000 school children will participate.

The convention will be in charge of the Southern California Interscholastic Physical Education Association. The association has 800 active members in Southern California.

CAPT. SMITH IS CREATED CHEVALIER

French Bestow Title and Medal in Honor of Hero Who Circled Earth

Capt. Lowell H. Smith, who led the history-making flight about the globe, was made a chevalier of France's immortal Legion of Honor yesterday in recognition of the achievement.

The heroic flight commander was presented with the medal of the Legion by order of the President of France and the grand chancellor of the Legion.

The medal was presented to Capt. Smith, together with the order creating him a chevalier of the Legion, by Eugene Genis, acting consular agent of France, in the absence of Louis Sentous, local French Consul.

Capt. Smith at present is on leave at the Christie Hotel in Hollywood. He is one of a scant number of foreigners to be presented with a medal of the Legion for service in peacetime.

SOLDIERS TO GATHER

Quartermaster Day to be Observed at City Club Meeting

Several hundred regular, National Guard and reserve officers will gather at the City Club tomorrow evening in annual observance of Quartermaster day. Col. Harry F. Rethers, corps area quartermaster of the Presidio of San Francisco, humorous lecturer of the Army, will be the speaker of the evening.

The session will be the last monthly banquet and meeting of the Los Angeles sector, Association of the Army of the United States, before the summer recess of two months. Col. Perry W. Weidner will preside and Lieut.-Col. J. B. Chaffey will have charge of the program. Entertainment will be furnished by the Kay California Kadets.

"Communications of the American Expeditionary Forces in France," will be the subject of a lecture by Lieut.-Col. William H. Fairbanks.

PALMER HAILS SEA CONQUEST

Admiral Visiting Here Sees Cargo Ship Revival

Fleet Corporation Head Has Praise for This Port

Pacific Activity is Presaged; Expects Congress Aid

America is ready for the development of a great merchant marine, a restoration of the power when her merchant banner ruled the seas, according to Admiral Leigh C. Palmer, president of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, who arrived here yesterday from Washington to begin a survey of the Shipping Board's activities on the Pacific.

Admiral Palmer believes that the Pacific with the Orient as a limitless field of trade, will play a major part in this new era and he thinks Los Angeles has before her boundless opportunities as a world port.

"Spirit, not capital, is the thing that brings about the great things in commerce," he said. "Los Angeles's boundless spirit is the reason for the wonderful things she had done since the war in building her port, as well as building the trade that must go with a great port.

IMPRESSED BY SPIRIT

"We are always impressed by the spirit and confidence of the men from your city whom we meet back in Washington and their confidence makes us confident that you have great things in Los Angeles."

The Pacific, the sea, commerce which is in mere infancy, is breaking into a great stage of development, Admiral Palmer declared, and added that Los Angeles, by spirit and geographical location, is going to be in the van of that development.

Government aid for the merchant marine is something that it needs and something that it will get, Admiral Palmer says.

"I am already able to realize that members of the next Congress are going into session with favorable feelings for the merchant marine," he said. "They are going to thresh things out from every angle and I think that by fall some definite, constructive plan will be worked out. I don't know whether a ship subsidy will be that plan but I feel that some form of government aid is needed and will be made available."

FOR PRIVATE OWNERS

Admiral Palmer is in favor of the government retiring from the shipping field as soon as possible and believes in helping private ownership while the government is getting rid of its fleet.

He pointed out the proposal of the United States American Lines and Moore & McCormack to buy, or otherwise acquire, the Shipping Board's six great trans-Atlantic liners of the Leviathan-George Washington group as a notable example.

"The Shipping Board's overhead in operating these six ships is as great as would be required for a fleet of eighteen vessels of the same size," he pointed out. "If we can sell them to an established line like the Harriman interests, of long experience in the game, it would be to the nation's advantage to do so."

Plans for the sale of these six ships of the United States Lines are still in midair, he said, as are the several proposals to buy the 500-odd ships which the Shipping Board wants to scrap. He mentioned the United American Lines or Harriman interests, as likely purchasers of the six liners and Henry Ford or Bethlehem Steel as buyer of the scrapped ships, in case either deal might be closed.

DIESEL DAY COMING

Diesel power is the ultimate thing in the merchant service, Admiral Palmer said, in discussing the action of the Fleet Corporation in converting to Diesel-drive twenty-five of its best cargo carriers. The country's merchant fleet is one of the greatest factors in national defense, a point that must be considered in favor of government aid, the fleet chief declared.

Admiral Palmer is the youngest chief the Emergency Fleet Corporation and Shipping Board have had and is likewise the most distinguished.

He graduated from the United States Naval Academy in 1896 and, still well this side of 50, resigned from the Navy following the World War with the grade of Rear-Ad-

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

SOMETIMES the mills of the gods grind with horrible finality and precision.

Death and misfortune have just been handed out to one of a circle of Los Angeles men who were followed by a singular vengeance.

Inasmuch as they have all felt what would seem to be the wrath of Providence, I think it would be improper to tell their names.

But these were the circumstances:

A PITIFUL VICTIM

Several years ago this group used to sneak away to a walled-off yard in Sonoratown and hold dog fights.

The star fighter was a pitiful loyal little white female bulldog. Her forefeet had been chewed off. At the word of command from her master, this poor little creature used to hobble into the fight and fight to the death.

RELENTLESS VENGEANCE

The owner of this dog lost a leg by the slow agony of putrefaction. Later he was sent to State's prison.

Another of that gang lost an arm and an eye.

NOBILITY OF DOGS

Parenthetically, I might add that there are two brave characters I can never look at without a feeling of shame; one is a policeman; the other is a watchdog.

It has been the lot of many of us to sit shuddering in the house while we call an officer to hunt the burglars we do not dare to go after. And thereafter we feel sheepish whenever we see a policeman.

It's even worse with a dog. When a noise comes, sometimes I am covered with shame to sit quietly by while an Airedale dog with a heart of gold goes plunging out into the night—unafraid and undismayed.

Whether it is a herd of wild elephants or any army of murderous burglars—it's all the same to him.

HOW PROVIDENCE PAID

To return to the amazing workings of Providence—

I know of an old Spanish estate which has been pursued by an awful doom.

In order to seize an inheritance, a daughter of the family disclosed the shame of her mother which had never been suspected.

Now she sits alone—poverty stricken, ill and forsaken.

HORTON LEADS Y.M.C.A. CLUB

Ray Horton, president-elect, and Douglas Campbell, newly chosen secretary, are the new officers of the latest local luncheon group—the Y's Men's Club—recently organized under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association of the city. The Y's men meet for a luncheon hour every Thursday at the Hope-street Y.M.C.A. Age limits for membership in the organization are 20 to 40 years.

BUDGETEERS LAY ON HEAVY

Even Animals Must Die Easier in Campaign to Cut Down Expenses of City, is Order of Board Assigned to Economize on Income

The Humane Animal Commission sharpshooters who kill wounded or injured animals must improve their marksmanship.

This was the order issued yesterday by the City Council's Budget Committee, which is trying to make the city's income of $20,000,000 do the work of $30,000,000, which must be done during the fiscal year beginning July 1. So the committee meets daily and figuratively speaking sings this song:

"Trim, brothers, trim with care.
Trim the budget and get somewhere.
Slash; cut. The cupboard's bare.
Save the money, or we'll get the air!"

So when Mrs. E. M. Waddell, secretary of the Humane Animal Commission, asked for an appropriation of $70 for ammunition, Councilman Criswell sharpened his pencil, wrinkled his brow and did some figuring, which showed that this was ammunition at the rate of ten bullets per animal killed by the commission.

"What's the matter with you people," cried the economical Councilman. "Can't your Buffalo Bills shoot better than that?"

"Maybe they have been using

Congressional Public Land Body Will Confer Here on Big Pines Recreation Camp

The City Club at noon today will entertain members of the Congressional committee inquiring into administration of public lands, en route from Sequoia National Park to Riverside. They will confer also with Supervisor Chairman McClellan concerning the 5000 acres recently added by the government to Los Angeles county's Big Pines Recreation Camp.

The party was scheduled to arrive here at 7:40 o'clock this morning from Three Rivers, which is at the entrance to Sequoia Park. Stephen T. Mather, director of national parks, is in charge of the party and will confer with Supervisor McClellan at 11 a.m.

Early in the afternoon the party will leave for Riverside to visit the Sherman Indian Institute. The Riverside Chamber of Commerce will give a banquet at 5:30 p.m. at Mission Inn in honor of the party. It will leave Riverside on the Continental Limited at 7 o'clock this evening for Moapa, Nev., and on arrival there early tomorrow morning will go by automobile up Arrowhead Trail to St. George, Utah, for a luncheon with citizens there, and thence to Zion National Park and the north rim of the Grand Canyon.

race. And this regeneration is more marked in the farmer class than in any other. Conditions here make the old type of farming impracticable, and so a new one is developing, one that sets a new pace, that specializes in production and applies business principles to operation."

REASONS ARE GIVEN

Referring to some of the conditions that have made a new type of farming necessary, Dr. Clements mentioned especially the need of capital, stating that without this requirement farming in the Southwest is a hazardous undertaking. "There are 1,500,000 acres in California open for the farmer of the new type I have described, but hardly an acre for the old type," he said. "It would not be advisable for anyone to launch into farming in this section with a capital of less than $5000."

Dr. Clements concluded his address by a recital of some of the difficulties with which the farming industry has been beset generally during the last few years, thus emphasizing his statement that a new type of farmer must develop.

"Low prices and high cost of living have reduced the farmer's earnings to a point where the old style of farming offers no inducement," he said. "The farmer must learn to produce more and must receive better prices for his product. He must not be forced to labor under a handicap of inflated land prices and credits must be provided for him at least as favorable as those at the command of other classes of business men. The only escape for the farmer is to become a business farmer, to improve his methods, to co-operate with his fellow-farmers, and to work for a better understanding between himself and the business men of the cities."

TELLS BANK STRENGTH

Speaking on the subject of the banking strength of the Southwest, J. A. H. Kerr, vice-president of the Security Trust and Savings Bank, stated that the finances of this section have kept pace with its economic development, emphasizing the desirability of greater co-operation among financial institutions for promoting that development.

"As the economic unity of the Southwest becomes more clearly defined, the necessity of the banks of Southern California, Arizona, Nevada and Utah participating jointly in financing projects will become increasingly evident," said Mr. Kerr. "No doubt banks will discern their duty in this regard and find the means of its accomplishment, possibly through the medium of such a conference as we are at present conducting. The fact that a great number of the banks are members of the Federal Reserve System will facilitate to some extent their co-operation."

GREAT INCREASE

Mr. Kerr concluded his address with highly significant statistics showing the tremendous percentages of increase of bank clearings and bank deposits during the last ten years.

"In Los Angeles deposits increased 472 per cent and clearings 582 per cent," he said. "In Reno, deposits increased 120 per cent, clearings increased 108 per cent; in Salt Lake City deposits increased 81 per cent and clearings 130 per cent. In banking capitals the increase during the last decade have been: Los Angeles 167 per cent; Phoenix 80 per cent, Salt Lake City, 14 per cent. The grand total of bank capital in Los Angeles, Phoenix, Salt Lake City and Reno was $24,017,000 in 1915 and $52,810,000 in 1924, this making a combined increase during the decade of 119 per cent."

L. P. Bell of the Chamber of Commerce discussed the rapid development of the West Coast of Mexico as a factor that will have a bearing upon the Southwest. Mr. Bell has lived in that part of Mexico for a number of years and is thoroughly conversant with conditions in that region.

FARMING GROWS

"Western Mexico is rapidly coming to the front along agricultural lines," said Mr. Bell. "Its lands are being taken up by a desirable class of European colonists and it is expanding in the production of cotton, fruits and vegetables. It will look to Los Angeles for a market for a large amount of these products, thus promising a field of important trade developments.

CHASE DECLARES HE WAS MISQUOTED

That he was misquoted regarding the Colorado River situation by F. A. Reid of Phoenix, in the course of the latter's talk before the Southwest Economic Conference Tuesday, was the assertion last night of Lucius F. Chase, director of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and active participant in the conference.

"Mr. Reid stated in his remarks that I had expressed myself as believing Arizona would be willing to leave the allocation of Colorado River waters between Lower Basin States, to Herbert Hoover," stated Mr. Chase last night, following the close of the conference.

"What I really said in my talk Monday afternoon was that the designation of Herbert Hoover as referee in the water allocation came as a suggestion from the Phoenix Chamber of Commerce, which suggestion was ratified by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Hoover declined the appointment and directed our attention to the fact that the compact itself provided the machinery by which our problems could be settled and adjusted.

"While I believe Mr. Reid did not intentionally misquote me in this regard, I feel certain that those who read the accounts of yesterday's meeting will get the wrong impression of this chamber's attitude on this matter, and I have therefore called attention to this error in quotation."

DELEGATES THANKED

The completion within a few months of the last link in a continuous railway line from Los Angeles to Mexico City will furnish a decided impetus to Mexican trade, it will also prove an attraction to the tourist traffic because it will furnish facilities for travel through a new region. The development of the Mexican territory is one in which all parts of the Southwest are interested."

At the close of the program President Pridham of the Chamber of Commerce thanked the delegates for their attendance at the conference, which he said he believed would prove the first step in a program of greater co-operation than ever before among the different sections of the Southwest, with common interests.

On motion of Preston Nibley of Salt Lake City, the conference just before adjournment passed a resolution expressing the appreciation of the courtesies shown the delegates by the Chamber of Commerce and citizens of Los Angeles during the visitors' stay here.

"And he reaches out, 'r' and 'l,' and does it, too. A good trick, but it doesn't mean anything.

"'Mr. Hopper,' we say again, 'now, what about this picture, now—'

"But Mr. Hopper doesn't wait for us to finish. He puts a bunch of wire and batter in my hand. It's an invention of his, a little light to wear on his finger in the projection and dark rooms, to light up notes he makes. A good invention, I suppose, but it doesn't start the picture.

"So we say again, 'Mr. Hopper, now, this picture. How do you want to cast it?' We had been there three hours already.

"'Well, now, gentlemen, if you really want to know how I cast a picture I'll show you,' says Mr. Hopper.

"And he picks up a goldfish bowl, dumps out the fishes and dumps in a bunch of cards.

"'The cards, gentlemen,' he says, 'have names of actors on some of them and of roles on others. I pull out a card. John Jones. I pull out another card. Ha, the heavy! So. John Jones, heavy. Simple, isn't it?'

"We agreed that it was simple, very. And we went home.

"Next we send up our art director to see Mr. Hopper.

"'Mr. Hopper, now, about this picture, now,' the art director says.

"'Picture? What's that? Seems to me I heard about a picture once. How strange! And in that connection, have you heard about the yacht club I am going to start? Oh, yes, I am going to buy up Tulare Lake. Great idea, don't you think?'

"So the art director came back. Well, judge, the costs were going on and we had to start shooting the pictures, positively, the next morning. So we got William Selter to do the directing. And that's how it happened that Mr. Hopper didn't direct the picture."

Today Hopper is scheduled to tell his account of the proceedings.

In the meantime, Judge Stephens is pondering over the countenance of Kenneth Harlan, who came to court also as a kind of Exhibit A, all made up, to show the court just how angelic or otherwise his face really is. On the stand he said that Hopper had refused to direct the picture if he had the male lead.

GIRL AIDE ACCUSES YOUNG

Germ Poison Plot to Kill Grogan Heir Is Ascribed to Wife-Slayer as Miss Leopold Visits Keyes

Proof that Charles Patrick Grogan, heir to a fortune of $3,000,000 and 13-year-old son of Mrs. Grace Young, whose body was found buried in a concrete cistern last Saturday night, was doomed to a fate similar to that of his mother, was presented to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Harold L. Davis late yesterday afternoon by Miss Dorothy Leopold, office assistant of Dr. Thomas Young.

Miss Leopold had read a statement made by the father of the slain woman, and published exclusively Tuesday in The Times, that Dr. Young had plotted to slay his wealthy stepson before he murdered his wife. She voluntarily visited the District Attorney's office late yesterday and told the following story:

Several weeks prior to the murder of Mrs. Young, wealthy club woman and society matron, Charles Patrick Grogan was treated for a minor dental operation, the filling of a tooth. After Dr. Young had treated the youthful heir's tooth, young Grogan was stricken ill and was at death's door for three weeks. His life was saved by expert medical men at a time when it was feared he would not live longer than a few days.

EXPERIMENTS TOLD

"At about this time," Miss Leopold told Dep. Dist.-Attys. Davis, Costello and Dennison, "Dr. Young was making experiments with a solution which, he explained to me, was to be a serum for the curing of poisonous infections.

"Dr. Young, for quite a long time, had been taking samples of the poisonous infection cases that came into his office. He preserved these infectious specimens and kept them in his office. His explanation was that he was using them in perfecting a serum that would cure such infections.

"Then Patrick came to the office to have a tooth filled. He was taken critically ill after the treatment and Dr. Young told me that the boy was only suffering from an attack of the mumps."

Investigators of the District Attorney's office were of the belief early last night that, when young Grogan submitted himself to his stepfather for the dental treatment, Dr. Young may have injected—in his novocaine injection—poisonous germs from one of the samples of the infection cases which he had previously handled.

DEFENSE REVEALED

Despite the confession of Dr. Young that he brutally murdered his beautiful wife, the news leaked out yesterday that the dentist is planning a defense based on the assertion that Mrs. Young died a natural death.

Dr. Young, it was learned from a source close to the legal firm he has retained, will not deny that he sealed the body of his wife in the cistern, but will attempt to cheat the gallows by clinging to the assertion that death came of natural causes.

BITTER FIGHT INDICATED

The dentist's remarkable defense, indicating one of the bitterest fought murder trials in the history of the State, will be based on the autopsy report of Dr. Wagner, which found no evidence of a cause of death in the body. Medical authorities will be summoned by Louis Collings and other attorneys for Young, it was said, to testify that if Mrs. Young had died from strangulation by gas a congestion of the brain would have been discovered—and that if death came from choking, a congestion of the lungs would have resulted.

Young's story, it is now believed, will be that he and his wife became intoxicated and that death came to her from a heart attack. The dentist will then contend that in his drunken condition he believed he had murdered his wife and that in terror of the consequences he stuffed the body into the dirt of the cistern and sealed it there beneath a concrete floor.

The defense plans, it is understood, to contend further that Dr. Young continued to believe he had murdered his wife and for this reason he began to spread the stories that she was in New York; that the Hunts were cognizant of her whereabouts and that he had retained a private detective to search for her. It will be submitted that the dentist never wavered in his murder belief until after the autopsy on his wife's body was performed.

NO INSANITY PLEA

Present indications are that not the slightest attempt will be made to offer an insanity defense. This would be the natural defense if the murder had been discovered soon after it was committed, it is contended, and if evidence could be introduced to show Mrs. Young was killed by her husband in a drunken rage. But it is understood that the attorneys for the dentist realize that the cold-blooded nature of the crime precludes any possible success in defending the act by pleading insanity.

The fact that Dr. Young, after disposing of his wife's body, went to such elaborate ends to convince investigating newspaper men that she had simply left home following a quarrel and that he sought so shrewdly to throw the burden of suspicion on her blood relatives, is recognized as proving the man not only was sane in every respect but also cool and calm throughout a period which might have made a maniac of any man already touched by dementia.

The dentist's attorney visited the District Attorney's office yesterday and it is believed the visit had much to do with the defense theory of a natural death.

MRS. YOUNG BURIED

The body of Mrs. Young was laid to rest in Evergreen Cemetery yesterday, after services at the Strother & Dayton mortuary under the direction of E. G. Chouteau, business partner of Mrs. Young's brother. Rev. Willsie Martin preached the funeral sermon, and the body was borne to the cemetery following the singing by Mrs. Vergie Lee Mattoon of two favorite hymns of the dead woman, "Lead Kindly Light" and "Abide With Me."

F. W. Hunt, Mrs. Young's father; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hunt and their son James; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hunt and their three daughters, and Mrs. Young's son, Charles Patrick Grogan, were the immediate relatives attending the services. Other friends present were Mrs. Roberts Dudley, a niece of the late Patrick Grogan; Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hahn, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Thompkins, Mrs. Blanche Comer and Mr. and Mrs. John Gray. Many floral tributes surrounded the casket, among them a great bunch of scarlet dahlias from the Grogan boy.

WAS CENTRAL FIGURE IN SANTA BARBARA DEATH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, June 17.—Dr. Thomas W. Young, confessed slayer of his wife in Los Angeles, was the central figure in a Coroner's inquest held here on September 18, 1919, over the body of Joseph Barrabecchia, who died in his office following the extraction of sixteen teeth, county records reveal. The verdict of the jury gave the cause of death as "shock from extraction of teeth and chronic disease of heart and nervous shock to system."

At the inquest, Dr. Young testified as follows: "I am practicing dentistry in the San Marcos Building. I have practiced here for two years. I came from Pittsburg, Pa. I saw the deceased in the room this morning and the remains are those of the man who died in my office yesterday. He came in with his son-in-law, M. Butera."

"How long was he in the chair before he passed away?"

"He was in the chair about an hour all together. I had extracted sixteen teeth and pieces."

"In your opinion what was the cause of death?"

"I think he died from shock following the general weakened condition and heart trouble."

"Did you know about his condition?"

"Yes, his son-in-law informed me and I also noticed his weakened condition. I gave him a mild anesthetic."

Dr. C. S. Stevens, who was called after the man died, testified: "To my knowledge there was no anesthetic given by the dentist." Butera, who was present when Barrabecchia died, testified: "He took something to prevent pain. I don't know what it was."

miral, one of the youngest officers ever to attain flag rank.

During the war with Spain he saw active service aboard the old U.S.S. New York and the dynamite cruiser Yesuwius and in the World War served with the British Grand Fleet aboard the U.S.S. New York as chief-of-staff to Admiral Hugh Rodman. Later, he was in charge of all naval personnel and in the spring of 1919, when Admiral Rodman brought the Pacific Fleet to this base, Admiral Palmer commanded the U.S.S. Georgia.

ME KNOWS SHIPS

A sailor all his life, Admiral Palmer distinctly gives one the idea that he knows ships—the men that man them and the problems that beset them—from every angle.

Admiral Palmer was met yesterday by a committee headed by R. D. Pridham, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Frank W. Reyes, Pacific manager of the Shipping Board of San Francisco; E. E. Remsberg, district manager of the Shipping Board, and a group of shipping men from this and other Pacific ports.

At a banquet at the Alexandria last night Admiral Palmer told his listeners that it is the policy of the Emergency Fleet Corporation to give both the government and the shipper a fair deal in the sale and operation of ships.

He pointed out that an increasing interest in waterborne commerce is being taken by large industries and financial institutions throughout the country. This interest, he believes, will result in the sale of government ships to private owners and some form of a subsidy for operators.

"Foreign lines are not making money at present, and I believe that the government as well as private corporations, will seize the opportunity to expand their trade and lay a foundation to handle a bulk of the world's commerce in the future," he said.

"The American flag can not be kept on the seas while foreign shipping rates are less than American operating expenses and some assistance will ultimately be afforded American ship owners in the same manner that the protective tariff gave the steel and other industries a chance to get started years ago.

Samuel L. Kreider, local shipping agent and Chamber of Commerce director, told Admiral Palmer of the desire on the part of many local shipping men to have a direct-to-the-Orient passenger service from Los Angeles harbor. He asked the Admiral's aid in furthering such a project.

R. W. Pridham, president of the Chamber of Commerce was toastmaster at the banquet.

Today Admiral Palmer will inspect the harbor following luncheon at the California Yacht Club. Tonight he will leave for San Francisco. Portland and Seattle and after a day's visit at each place will leave overland for Washington.

FORWARD DRIVE OUTLOOK BRIGHT

Three of Seventy Workers Raise $40,000 Total

Group Leader Gets $20,000 in First Hour's Effort

Flint Urges Importance of Move in Statement

One of the group leaders of the Southern California forward movement campaign yesterday reported to Frank W. Hellman, campaign director, that he had raised $20,000 of his share in the first hour of his work. He made the call incident to leaving Los Angeles on a personal business trip and gave the definite assurance that the supplementary $30,000 of his $50,000 quota would be raised in a few days after he returned two weeks hence. This makes $90,000 of the $1,000,000 campaign goal assured and this with only three of the seventy workers reporting.

Motley H. Flint, who was most aggressive in obtaining the Shrine Conclave for Los Angeles and who as director-general was in charge of Shrine week here, yesterday made the following expression on the utility of the Southern California forward movement:

FLINT STATEMENT

"The Southern California forward movement is to devote its funds to the bringing of new people and new industries to Southern California.

"If you ask me if this work is of definite value to Southern California, I will answer by pointing to the visit of the Shriners which has just concluded.

"They had a good time. They enjoyed every minute of their stay. Los Angeles, too, enjoyed their presence. They gave us new ideas. We undoubtedly gave them some new ideas. They poured a stream of new dollars into our commercial life. From every angle the visit of the Shriners was a whole some thing both for them and for us.

"Our average summer or winter visitor is not so conspicuous as the Shriner. He isn't in uniform, and he doesn't bring a band. But he is as much an asset to us. When they come in the hundreds of thousands as they now come they become a most significant factor in our lives.

DESERVES SUPPORT

"An organization that devotes itself to bringing visitors here deserves the earnest consideration of every citizen. When an organization like the All-Year Club comes to us for consideration it should have an unqualified approval and financial support. It should have this because by its work it has earned the classification of the foremost example of successful community advertising in the United States.

"In the six years that the Chamber of Commerce has been devoting itself to industrial expansion the value of our manufactured product has doubled, and is now about $1,200,000,000. The value of this work is so apparent that I will not dwell on it.

"The Southern California Forward Movement has now come to the citizens, asking for a fund of $1,000,000 so that these two organizations can be adequately financed. The work is so sound in conception and so well executed that the response should be quick and certain. It is as wise an expenditure of community money as we can possibly make."

FILM RIDER HURT IN WATER-JUMP SCENE

Another casualty was added yesterday to the list credited to the George Fitzmaurice company on location near Santa Ysobel, screening "The Dark Angel," a production sponsored by Samuel Goldwyn. Jack Palmer, a rider in fox-hunting scenes, suffered fractures of two bones in his foot and ankle. I taking a water jump Palmer purposely threw himself and horse, while other riders catapulted into the water all about him. He successfully negotiated his fall and struggled to his feet, only to be struck by the vaulting horse of another rider. Tuesday Mildred Ahlgard, a woman rider, was injured in a similar scene.

MORE VICTIMS OF MAJOR'S MAGIC

He Made Them What They Are Today

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

If Tarzan of the apes could see this he'd hunt the tallest tree in his private jungle and stay there. Note the literary aspect of the upper meadow? Mr. Burroughs said that he got that while trying to decide whether the jungles of Oak Park, Ill., or the wilderness of Tarzana would be more suitable for the plot of his next story. The smile is said by his friends to be a remarkable likeness.

HUGO BURGWALD

Stalked into his lair in the Lane Mortgage Building, Mr. Burgwald, who is named after H. M. Burgwald & Co., produced the pipe and prepared to suffer. Meanwhile, he tried successively to sell the artist five lots in three subdivisions, half a dozen bonds, two second mortgages, memberships in six country clubs and half a dozen shares in an oil-promotion project.

OLE HANSON

"How much does it cost?" was the greeting Mr. Hanson extended to Major. After he had seen the sketch he tried to collect wages for his time. The former Mayor of Seattle was just going to lunch, which accounts for the lean and hungry look of the lower jaw, and the rest of the hawk-like expression is responsible for his success in the profession of real estate.

FRANK HERRLEY PETTINGELL

This man is gradually getting a reputation of being one of the greatest wild-animal tamers in the world. In his habitat in the jungles of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange he runs across more rampant bulls and bears than are inclosed in any zoo. The scalplock defiantly waving in the breeze is an indication of his bravery. And if Mr. Pettingell can't stop them any other way he bites them.

C. C. MOSELEY

This gentleman is one of the highest flyers on the Pacific Coast. Formerly in command of Clover Field, he made such an awful record that he was promoted to a majority and sentenced to take charge of the air service of the California National Guard. Since that time he has been active in a movement to eliminate all trolley wires from the downtown section that landing may be made easier for his aviation students.

A. G. ARNOLL

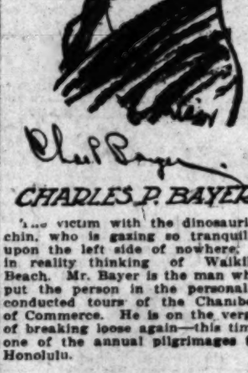
The gentleman above, who happens to be one of the mainsprings of the Chamber of Commerce, is bashful. He won't pose for photographs for, he says, they make him look too young. He didn't want to pose for a caricature because of the results shown herewith. Now, he says, he'll never pose again for anything. Mr. Arnoll is secretary of the chamber.

CHARLES P. BAYER

The victim with the dinosaurist chin, who is gazing so tranquilly upon the left side of nowhere, is in reality thinking of Waikiki Beach. Mr. Bayer is the man who put the person in the personally conducted tours of the Chamber of Commerce. He is on the verge of breaking loose again—this time one of the annual pilgrimages to Honolulu.

ADDISON T. SMITH

Addison T. Smith, member of Congress from Idaho and chairman of the House Committee on Arid Lands, had just announced the completion of a plan to irrigate the Mojave Desert with water from the Ohio River when this sketch was made. The lines in the arid region just above the spectacles are supposed to be a relief map of the series of canals. Congressman Smith is a visitor in Los Angeles these days.



JESS E. STEPHENS

One of the principal reasons why telephone companies fail to pay more than 64 per cent yearly dividends is shown above in all his glory. City Attorney Jess Stephens, when he was sketched, was trying to convince the Railroad Commission that the maximum monthly telephone rental for Los Angeles, Culver City, Newport Beach, Yuma, Tucson and vicinity should not be more than $00.000000000%.

ASSISTANT COLLECTOR OF CUSTOMS IS NAMED

Charles W. Salter, for the last three years in the customs service at Seattle, has been appointed assistant collector of customs in the Los Angeles district, it was announced yesterday. He will succeed William S. Mohar, who has resigned. Mr. Salter entered the customs service in Los Angeles in 1909.

HUNT FOR 'WOLF' IS QUICKENED

Pursuers Leave Hurriedly, Supposedly on "Tip"

Officers Believed to Have Clew Elsewhere

Worthington's Daughter is Located in Hollywood

Rapid developments in the search for John W. Worthington, swindler and bucket-shop operator, known as the "Wolf of La Salle Street," who disappeared from the Glendale Sanatorium last Wednesday, were predicted last night, when it was learned that Department of Justice agents, accompanied by detectives from the Burns agency, had left Los Angeles, supposedly working on a hot tip as to the whereabouts of Worthington.

Although complete secrecy enveloped their movements, the government officers and Burns men, it is understood, made preparations for an automobile trip of several hundred miles and were expected to be gone from the city several days.

In the meantime, Alice Worthington, daughter of the convicted confidence man, who was with him when he left the sanatorium last Wednesday, after having been missing for two days, was located by investigators in Hollywood, it was learned, and her movements are being closely watched.

SUDDEN DECISION

While no official information was forthcoming yesterday from either the Department of Justice agents or Burns detectives, it is known that their decision to look for Worthington outside the city and apparently at a definite point was made suddenly and it is believed they acted upon the receipt of information from outside sources.

It is known that for several days steamship offices, railroads and other transportation offices have been checked by investigators working on the case from Seattle to San Diego, the general belief being that Worthington would try to make his way from the United States. It was considered likely yesterday that one of the detectives working on the case in another city had unearthed a hot clew.

All the resources of the government, aided by private institutions interested in locating Worthington, will be brought into play in the search.

When Worthington left the hospital it is known that he carried a suit case which he refused to let anyone touch and in which the detectives believe is concealed between $50,000 and $100,000 in money and negotiable securities.

Worthington was supposed to have been dying from a lingering disease in the Glendale Sanatorium, where he had been confined for more than six weeks, Federal officials stated, but apparently he concealed his real condition even from Federal physicians, and when the time came took the first good opportunity to place himself outside the clutches of the law.

The former bucket-shop operator was convicted in Chicago for using the mails to defraud and in 1923 was sentenced to three years in Atlanta prison. He gained a stay of sentence on the plea that his health was failing and came to Los Angeles. Since that time, Federal officials say, they have evidence connecting him with several big bond robberies and a $9,500,000 mail robbery in St. Louis two years ago. The District Attorney's office here issued a complaint against him containing six counts of embezzlement and two counts of grand larceny in connection with the investigation of Balentine & Co., a stock-and-bond concern, in which Worthington was said to have acted as a silent partner and in which investors are said to have sunk more than $20,000.

Murder Trial on as Result of Port Death

Earl J. Clark, asserted bootlegger at San Pedro, went on trial yesterday in Judge Reeve's court on a charge of murder in connection with the fatal stabbing of Charles Silva, a sailor, in Clark's home during an altercation said to have arisen over the price of drinks.

According to the charge, Silva and three companions had been drinking in Clark's home when the altercation took place. The quartet left for their ship, but on the way Silva is said to have exclaimed that he was stabbed. He died the next morning.

A jury had not been obtained at time of adjournment yesterday. The case will be resumed this morning.

The case is being prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Attys. Dennison and Sheineman. Clark is represented by Attorney John F. Groene.

'Other Woman' Sought Parley, Asserts Wife

Very little sympathy Mrs. Mabel Dawson received from the "other woman," according to her testimony in her suit for divorce from William George Dawson, heard yesterday by Judge Summerfield.

She brought to court with her a letter she said she had received from Miss Alice Willard, co-respondent, in which modern views as to the relation of wife and the "other woman" were expressed.

"I wish you would enlarge your mind enough to see that not being able to hold your husband is no one's fault but your own. You can't blame me. Could you arrange to come to my place Saturday afternoon? I will be glad to have a face-to-face talk with you. Please don't bring your old lady friends and don't let Billie lie to you."

Mrs. Dawson got her divorce.

STUCK ON HIMSELF
The doctors now say that mumps starts with a microbe. That must be a microbe with a swelled head.

STOP MONKEYING
Other States should remember that they cannot prove the antievolution theory by aping Tennessee.

OR ANY OTHER
The worst thing about those Chinese Boxers is that they won't abide by Marquis of Queensberry rules.

NOT SO ANGELIC
Sometimes a woman is called an angel, but nobody ever head of her using her wing feathers to dust the furniture.

NAGS STILL WITH US
The automobile has fairly driven the horse off the city streets, but the divorce court allegations make it appear that there still are plenty of nags in the homes.

NOW WE KNOW WHY
When we read a headline in the sporting page of our daily paper that "Pat O'Brien is to manage the Rosenstein baseball team" we begin to understand the why and wherefor of "Abie's Irish Rose."

ANATHEMA
Those people who never fail to take the joy out of life now claim that thin silk stockings cause thick ankles. For the sake of politeness they call them "erythema," but to the flapper it is anathema just the same.

IN FEAR
The fiend for trouble announces that jewel thieves are increasing their activities notably of late, which makes the young man during this merry month of June twice as nervous as ever regarding his chances with the only girl in the world.

IN BIG FIGURES
Postal receipts in fifty representative industrial cities of the nation increased 12 per cent during April over the corresponding month last year. The automobile production for the same month was the greatest in the history of the industry. These may be signs that the country is on a wrong basis, but if they are the signs are upside down.

NOT FREE-FOR-ALL
Critics of the League of Nations should bear it in mind that all great movements for peace and freedom have been beset by trials in their youth. The American Union came near going to pieces before our Constitution bound it together; and now it is evident that the Irish Free State is a success, though at first it looked as if it ought to be named the Irish Free-For-All State.

HARD LINES
A friendly soul in Seattle has loaned something over $500 in small sums from time to time to convicts as they were discharged from the penitentiary and it is said that only $2 of all these advances has been returned to him. This is not a hopeful showing, but a man out of prison has a hard row to hoe. He doesn't often get the chance to which his expiation would entitle him.

LAND SPECULATION
Here in Los Angeles, as elsewhere, there are real estate dealers who make their living by incessantly playing with land values, taking profits from day to day. These sharks do not see land from a useful viewpoint, but merely as dice in a game. The abuse of city growth by land speculators is its chief impediment, but real estate speculators do not do business in land or with land; they do business in land values and there is a world of difference.

THE CRIME GERM
Some students of criminology are trying to make out that it is a germ that impels people to steal and burgle. If the germ once lodges in the system it inspires a passion for plunder and obscures all sense of right and wrong. If this theory should chance to be partially correct we should take more of our burglars to hospitals. When a bandit is captured we might have a skilled surgeon open him up and take out the pernicious germs that incite him to wrong.

OUT OF THE HAREM
The breaking up of the harems in Turkey compelled a good many of the surplus wives to get out and hustle for themselves, but most of them like their independence and are developing a competence. In the old days they just sat around and grew triple chins, but now that many of them must work they are showing finer figures and increased activity. They used to wear veils to hide their muddy complexions, but now that they get sunshine and exercise their faces are getting clearer and their eyes brighter. There used to be a lot of hokum about the beauties of the harem. If they took off their veils there wouldn't be much romance left. Now that they are traveling on their own they are doing better and are more impressive.

THE RED-YELLOW PERIL
Unless the signs are misleading we may again have to take up the white man's burden of policing and pacifying China, as we and our allies did in 1900. So far as the general situation in that country is concerned, there would seem to be little difference between the old Boxer rising and that of today. The avowed object of the Boxers was to drive out all European and other foreigners. They massacred missionaries, threatened the foreign legation at Peking, placed that city in a state of siege and killed over 300 white soldiers who rushed to the relief of beleaguered Americans and Europeans at the capital. What the white nations did twenty-five years ago they may have to do again.

The recent decision of the powers to refrain from intervention in Chinese affairs beyond what is necessary to secure full protection for foreign subjects and property is of the order of the first decisions as to the Boxer affair. Protection was about all that the foreign intervention amounted to in the beginning, though later it was determined to punish the offenders, as was done.

It is sincerely to be hoped that the present trouble will blow over, but every day seems to add to the outrages committed by Chinese hotheads against missionaries and others. The slaying of the British subject MacKenzie and the wounding of Miss Duncan, his companion, are acts which England is not likely to overlook, though they were committed in revenge of the nine rioters killed by British police who were defending the British concessions in Hankow. While these slayings have strained Anglo-Chinese relations, it should be easy to patch up the difficulty, unless the attitude of the rioters becomes more defiant.

The attack of Gen. Chang Tso-Lin upon Peking is not an act of benevolence on his part for the protection of foreigners, as he and his Japanese backers would have it appear. It means that he wants to make himself dictator of China. This would spell Japanese dominance over that country, as Chang has been working hand-in-glove with Japan.

Lloyd George, former Premier of Great Britain, thinks he sees in the present condition in the Orient a great world peril. He says that the well-intentioned act of the United States government in giving its share of the Boxer indemnity for the education in America of young Chinese boys has not been without its evil effect on Chinese development. "These boys," he says, "receive the education of the West, become familiar with western methods in Europe and America and are inoculated with that ferocious civilization which the great war laid bare. They return to China and help to swell the discontent among their brethren." With other observers, Lloyd George sees the work of Russian Reds in China. He says that in Moscow there is a school in which young Chinese are trained in Bolshevik principles and sent back to their native land to spread the new gospel.

A Red-Yellow Peril thus is seen upon the horizon. It has been seen before, but never quite so plainly as now. And yet it may be dissipated by such action as Gen. Feng Yu-Hsiang took the other day at Peking when 30,000 students and workers paraded the streets, crying in unison to avenge Shanghai and Hankow and "down with the British and Japanese." Feng feared the demonstration might take on a Bolshevist nature. He massed heavy military forces where they would do the most good, and the paraders attacked no foreigners. Another factor in the case is pointed out by the astute S. T. Wen, recently in America, who said that Bolshevism would gain no great foothold in China, "because practically everybody in China owns something."

Still, the inoculation of so many young Chinese with the Bolshevik virus bodes no good to the peace of the world.

WHAT PRICE WHEAT?
By his recent attacks upon the grain gamblers Secretary of Agriculture Jardine has won the applause of economists all over the country. The Country Gentleman has dubbed him "our Cowboy Secretary," and an enthusiastic eastern editor yells "Ride 'im, cowboy!" Mr. Jardine is trying to eliminate, so far as possible, the evils of wild speculation, which showed themselves in the wheat market early in the year. He holds that speculation rather than the law of supply and demand is responsible for price fluctuations. The suggestion has been advanced by the Secretary that a rule limiting the spread in daily quotations would prevent overspeculative trading. He says that in the event of the failure on the part of the exchanges designated as contract markets to take some effective measures he will be obliged to suggest additional legislation giving his department authority to meet the situation effectively.

Here is the sort of thing Secretary Jardine had in mind when he sent out his warning to the price-fixers: In the latter part of January wheat for delivery in May sold at $2.05 a bushel. In about two months the same wheat had dropped to $1.36 a bushel. The economists want to know what could have occurred to wheat which possibly could have made so great a difference in price. Also they want to know who profited by that decline of 69 cents a bushel in wheat and who lost? They say if it is a jailable offense to peddle worthless stocks and bonds through the mails, why not make it a crime for grain speculators to raise world-wide fears through false crop reports and trade conditions?

If the wheat-grower were helped by the action of the price-fixer in boosting figures the crime would not be so great, but prices are subjected to the greatest manipulation after the grain is out of the farmer's hands and rarely does he profit by the rise, which often is of an artificial nature and does not represent demand of any kind.

There are many critics of Secretary Jardine's recent utterances regarding the punishment he purposes to inflict upon the grain gamblers, but these are found in urban centers to which the exchange is a holy place and not the resort of folk whom the rural element is likely to look upon as one of Satan's footstools. Of caurse, nobody wants to injure legitimate business by harsh rules, but the evil of "corners" is obvious. It should not be difficult to limit daily fluctuations so as to keep them within reasonable grounds. This is done by cotton and other exchanges. Why not in the wheat exchange?

Secretary Jardine's position is a sound one. He will have performed a great service if he can prevent a condition by which the real harvester is the man carrying the big sack out of the wheat pit.

OUR NEW LIBRARY
It is gratifying to local pride to note that the walls of the new Los Angeles Public Library are mounting skyward and pleasant to be assured that the promise of its occupancy in January of next year will be fulfilled.

The interior plans for the new building have been perfected recently, and a scrutiny of them shows that they will afford models of convenience to the enormous number of book lovers in this city. While the building will be of huge dimensions, it will take but a few minutes to obtain a book after one has entered the place. Those who have threaded the mystifying labyrinth of the central library of a big American city and have wasted valuable time in gaining access to the section wherein a certain book was to be found will appreciate the improvement resulting from the careful planning of the great Los Angeles Library. Visitors will realize that Los Angeles was not content with having a handsome and commodious structure, but that it planned and built for an age in which every moment counts.

By the time the new library has been completed and occupied there will be at least 600,000 books accessible to the public in the main building and branches, as many as there are in the University of California book depository, said to be the greatest west of Chicago at present. There are now in our public library over half a million books, and the number is rapidly increasing. The tremendous growth of the population of this city during the past decade has been such that it has been necessary to buy books and periodicals to the value of over $100,000 each year, and when there is more room to store and stack them, as there will be when the new building is ready for occupancy, a far greater amount will be expended. At the present rate of increase it will be only a few years before we shall have acquired 1,000,000 books.

The use of books at the various branches is now three times greater than at the central library, and when the new branches, for which bonds were recently voted, are ready to be occupied the proportion probably will be still greater.

CAMP FIRES
A jolly automobile party made a little camp in the mountains up near Santa Barbara. Then they went away, but their camp fire stayed. It stayed and thrived and went out to see the world, as is the way of fire in the hills. Wherever the fire went it marked its progress. It left hideous devastation. After twenty-four hours it had destroyed 50,000 acres of valuable timber land.

All the men and the boys and most of the women went out to fight the fire, but they made little headway until it had almost burned itself out for lack of fuel. Fifty thousand acres of burned trees are left to tell the story of the camp fire and the jolly campers.

The sad part of it is that the campers suffered no harm whatever. Today they are probably little concerned about the damage they did. There is a high feeling of irresponsibility manifested by campers who leave fires in the woods. They belong to that class of Americans that feels everything is all right as long as it is not found out. "Finding out," of course, means the identification of the campers and the administering of punishment of some kind.

Probably it is no use to preach to men who leave fires in the woods. Were they amenable to reason or heedful of the common good there would be no need to preach to them. Only utter selfishness and callous disregard of the rights and interests of others can be responsible for acts of this kind. To such individuals there is no appeal. Preaching is wasted effort. The only hope is in general education. Keep on preaching, and if certain individuals are beyond reach the American people as a whole may be responsive. The discouragement lies in the fear that while the process of general education is in progress the unregenerate individuals may do damage which is quite beyond repair.

Just About It

POETRY FOR THE PEOPLE

Do not fear to face a fact;
Tell the truth!
Let your statements be exact;
Tell the truth!
If a man whom you abhor
Asks you what you dodge him for,
Say: "Because you're such a bore!"
Tell the truth!

Of all quibbling make an end,
Tell the truth!
When a concert you attend,
Tell the truth!
Say to Mrs. Jones, "How sad
That your singing is so bad,
Honestly, it drives me mad!"
Tell the truth!

When the folks next door drop in,
Tell the truth!
Say you have a case of gin—
Tell the truth!
But observe, "It's not my aim
To regale you with the same,
Though I know that's why you came,"
Tell the truth!

Though your friends all leave you flat,
Tell the truth!
Though avoided like a rat,
Tell the truth!
Lone forsaken and forgot,
Pitiful will be your lot,
Which, of course, is why you'll not
Tell the truth!

JUNE DAYS
Has it been borne in upon you what radiant mornings and June nights the last few days have brought in Los Angeles? Have you stopped, Mr. Busyman, to note the wonder of the skies? Did you see the sunset the other evening after the rain, when a gigantic cloud stood zenith high against the flaming west and took on for a time the panoply of a king? Did you see it pale to gray and vanish like a ghost into the starry night?

Do you ever stop, Mrs. Featherhead, to mark the beauty of our roadside flowers? Have you found the nooks where, like shy children, the poppies cluster? Have you seen the old Pacific lately, as blue as a heather bell, as wild as a wood-bird, as peaceful as a brooding dove? Where were you the other night when out of the sullen storm cloud the "light that never was on land or sea" enfolded the city, and the world hung like an emerald in a topaz sky?

NEVER KNOWS IT
After all, the man who is too busy to realize that the country is going to the bowwows is in a position to be envied.

SHOW THIS TO THE ASSESSOR
Whatever your tax report says you are worth, science says you are actually worth only 98 cents. At the prevailing high prices of material that is the full value of your body. Seven bars of soap may be produced from it, enough iron for a chickencoop and enough phosphorous to cover the heads of 2200 matches. Show this to the assessor when he comes snooping around.—[Capper's Weekly.

LOSS IN HALF-DAY PLAN
"I had some workmen who did not want to work on Saturday afternoon," remarked J. D. Van Winkle to a reporter of the Dallas Morning News. "I suggested we figure it out and I showed them that in not working that half day they were losing one-twelfth of their time, or one month out of each year, and in twelve years they would lose an entire working year. I guess they had never thought of it in that light before, as on the next Saturday they worked right on through, making a full day."

LETTERS TO The Times

Everything in Its Place

LOS ANGELES, June 13.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Los Angeles is to be "broad gauge," but there is an eternal fitness of things that should not always be overlooked. The letter of Frank Gordon Whitnall in Evening's Times brings up the question of placing statues in public places, anent the very proper disapproval of placing a statue of Robert E. Lee in Pershing Square.

There is no statue of Gen. Ulysses S. Grant in Pershing Square! Is there a statue of Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman in the Plaza square at Atlanta? Or of the gallant "Little Phil" at Winchester? Or of Abraham Lincoln, the great emancipator, at Columbia, S. C.?

Let us, as a united nation recognize the personal valor of brave men, but it is incongruous, illogical and un-American to glorify overmuch those who sought to make this a divided nation! The limit has been reached in the consent of the United States government to issue a souvenir coin in celebration of the Stone Mountain statuary scheme in Georgia, which gives no place to Gen. Sherman. As to placing the tomb of Gen. Lee in Arlington, it would be desecration of the idea of patriotism.

Boosts Beat Knocks

MIAMI (Fla.) June 10.—[To the Editor of The Times:] An article entitled "A Native Son Explodes" recently appeared in the Liberty Magazine of Chicago. This was a lampoon on Florida and written by Frank Condon of California. A citizen of the State and formerly a citizen of California for twenty-five years wishes to state that the article in question does not give the facts about Florida. He places California and all Californians in a false position before all fair-minded Americans.

Representative W. J. Sears recently stated before the Miami Club, "The California Congressmen, through their solid support of the Miami item of the harbors and rivers bill, were largely instrumental in getting Miami its $1,600,000 for a deeper harbor."

Florida and California have both been adopted by the nation as its "playgrounds and winter homes." Each has distinctive features which make each of them a wonderful national asset. Let's show ourselves as broad-minded Americans and help both of them to realize their greatest possibilities. Let's "Boost, Not Knock."

S. W. COLLINS.

For Beauty First

LONG BEACH, June 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] We are grateful to Mr. Gordon Whitnall for his stand regarding the building restrictions on Wilshire Boulevard.

In the struggle against greed and ignorance it begins to look as if Los Angeles is never going to possess much beauty but that of her clear skies and distant mountain views.

Among the mass of the uncultivated has been bred the idea that nothing counts in the importance of a city but the size and height of its buildings. To please their civic pride you must have skyscrapers everywhere, whether they are fitting or not.

It is time we got over this childish conception.

A campaign of education would doubtless help in the matter. Show people pictures of the lovely planted boulevards of Paris, with the long, even skylines—impressive and dignified in the extreme—and compare them with the up-and-down, nondescript character of a wrongly restricted American street. They cannot fail to see which view is better.

Meanwhile, the question is, Are they going to spoil Wilshire?

ALICE HAGAN.

A Warning

LOS ANGELES, June 5.—[To the Editor of The Times:] There seems to be a poisoner at large in the neighborhood of Crenshaw Boulevard, between Wilshire Boulevard and Tenth street.

Fortunately, perhaps—he has confined his deadly work to dogs—but there is no telling what a fiend like that would do.

In the past week three valuable dogs—all pets of the different families—two Airedales and one Llewellyn Setter, who has been a member of the family eight years, have been poisoned by strychnine.

This letter is written in the hopes of saving a few dogs' lives and warning owners of dogs that the murderer has covered his traces fairly well, but the police are working and may round him up.

Anyone who has murder in his heart, even for a dog, may escape the police, but he can never escape God's law—"As ye sow so shall ye reap."

MRS. W. F. LLOYD.

Signs of Development

LONG BEACH, June 13.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In this morning's Times Mr. Payran thinks he has solved the "monkey business" by stating that if there is anything in evolution monkeys would be evolving into humans.

This prompts me to ask: When monkeys light and smoke cigarettes (as they are doing in shows) are they not well on the way to civilization?

W. C. PROBASCO.

"Oft in the Stilly Night"

LOS ANGELES, June 13.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Three times a week the tenants of some of our most prominent downtown apartment-houses are awakened about 3:30 a.m. by the official tin-can collectors. The noise they make is so disturbing, so utterly unnecessary and inexcusable at that hour that we sincerely hope the authorities will force these men to start their tin-can collections at a more decent hour—say, after 6 a.m. Such stupidities give our fair town a very bad reputation.

DROWNINGS STIR ACTION

Red Cross to Call Southland Mayors to Conference on Rescue Plan for Beach Cities

To reduce the growing number of deaths by drowning, a conference of all mayors of Southern California is being arranged by the local Red Cross chapter in order that a uniform and effective plan may be put into operation at all beach cities for rescuing swimmers.

A definite date for the conference has not yet been set but it was stated that the final details will be arranged within a few days after conferences with civic leaders interested in the plan.

Dr. G. H. Richardson, assistant director of first aid and life saving for the western division of the Red Cross, is heading the movement. He stated he will recommend the placing of buoys at fifteen-foot intervals at all the beaches and the stationing of rafts at some distance from the beaches to serve as lookout points for lifeguards.

NEED OF GUARDS AT LONG BEACH STRESSED

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, June 17.—The City Council here will be told in no uncertain terms at its meeting next Friday of the urgent need of additional life guards for the balance of the summer bathing season. Several rip tides and an unprecedented influx of summer tourists have created a situation that was described today by Superintendent of Recreation Duree as serious. Only three regularly paid life guards are now on duty here. The usual number on the city pay roll at this time of year is sixteen. Mr. Duree said. Lack of money is given as the cause for the failure of the city to patrol its bathing beaches. The new salary ordinance, which becomes effective July 1, provides for twenty-five life guards, however, and all members of the guard last year have been directed to report for duty on that date.

JAIL DRIVER WHO FAILED TO SHOW UP

Truck Operator Sentenced to Cell for Thirty Days for Ignoring Tag

Failure to appear in court in response to a speed tag presented him about two months ago, brought Stanley Morton of Lankershim, a truck driver, a thirty-day jail term yesterday. Sentence was imposed by Justice Blake, who announced at the same time that failure to appear in court will be treated as a greater offense than infraction of the traffic laws. Morton was charged with having driven his truck at excessive speed on Santa Monica Boulevard. Sentence on this charge was suspended and he was jailed because of his failure to appear in court.

Armour Phillips, husband of Clara Phillips, hammer murderess, also was scheduled to appear before Justice Blake yesterday on two speed charges, but his request that the case be put over until today was granted.

About 150 others also were present in court to answer to traffic violation charges. They paid fines ranging from $5 to $20.

BULLETS TO BE GREETING FOR GUNMEN

Gangsters Are Reported Descending on City for Vacation

A leaden reception was promised by Chief of Police Heath yesterday for the Chicago gun "mob" reported to be mobilizing for a descent on Los Angeles this summer.

Chief Heath declared that no quarter will be shown Eastern gunmen should they come to Los Angeles. They will not be permitted to take root here, he declared. Every arm of the department will be brought into play against them and every police car will be equipped with a machine gun and hand grenades if necessary.

The police sharpshooters, however, Chief Heath declared, are more than able to meet any possible emergency created by professional gunmen.

BARONESS WILL SPEAK

The Masonic Club of Los Angeles will listen to an address by Baroness Otilly De Ropp on "What Bolshevism Has Done for Russia," tomorrow noon. The Baroness is familiar with conditions in Russia and an interesting and instructive address is assured.

JULY 4 RAIL RATES

Special Reduced Fares Announced for Holiday Excursions

Many residents of Los Angeles and other Southern California cities are planning short vacation trips over the Fourth of July holiday, according to reports received by F. S. McGinnis, assistant passenger traffic manager of the Southern Pacific Company.

Ample train service to provide for the crowds who will visit relatives and friends in other parts of the State or spend the holiday at various resorts is being arranged by the Southern Pacific.

Special excursion railroad fares have been made for the holiday on the basis of one and one-half fares for the round trip between all points where the regular one-way fare is $30 or less. Tickets will be on sale July 3 and 4, with return limit of July 7.

WESTINGHOUSE HEAD TO ARRIVE TOMORROW

E. M. Herr, president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, will arrive in Los Angeles tomorrow morning from San Francisco for a brief stay, during which he will inspect the company's plants at Seal Beach, Long Beach and adjacent towns. Mr. Herr at present is in San Francisco attending the National Electric Light Association convention there.

every kind of bread is good. But bread can be—should be—one of the most delicious and appetizing things on the table. The women of Los Angeles have found Gordon's is just such bread.

If you want to know how outstandingly fine bread really can be, try a loaf of Gordon's Bread. Cut one slice from that big, fresh, golden-brown loaf. Note the fine texture, the snow-white color, the lightness. Its appearance alone seems to whet the appetite. Then take one bite! You'll know instantly why Gordon's Bread has been the preferred bread in Los Angeles for eighteen years. Look for the dust-proof wrapper and the name "Gordon's Bread."

The Truth about Castile Soap

A frank discussion that every mother should read

About the year 1239, in Marseilles, a product was created the use of which was destined to spread, first through France and then throughout the world.

It was used by everyone who could afford it, and its reputation spread to all.

That product was Castile Soap.

For years the name stood for purity and all that was known as good in soap. Castile became the best known of all soaps.

Because it was known as the best, it became in time, the most imitated.

Soap makers, who are in a position to know, will tell you that much that was very bad was made to look like and to sell as Castile, so that you no longer had any means of knowing that you were getting pure Castile.

This is still true.

In the meantime, the art of soap making and the knowledge and history of chemistry have developed.

Today—seven hundred years later—after years of study and trial, the advantages of Castile at its best and properties that were unknown to soap then, have been combined in one—in Castolay.

So pure are the ingredients used in Castolay, so rich is it in olive oil, that it causes none of that slight irritation so often experienced by a delicate skin—which, if repeated day after day, gradually coarsens its texture.

The woman who has experienced in many toilet soaps this tendency to irritate her skin and lessen its fineness of texture, will delight in the wonderful mildness of Castolay and the way it helps to keep her complexion soft, fresh and young. Castolay has the marked quality of helping the skin to retain its childlike freshness and delicacy.

The thousands of mothers who used to regard Castile as the only safe soap for their babies' baths now turn to Castolay as the ideal soap for this need. For Castolay has all the qualities of old, genuine Castile, and advantages which Castile at its best never had. It lathers freely and rinses quickly.

Ask your dealer for Castolay. 20c a cake; 3 cakes for 50c. Made by The Andrew Jergens Co., the world's largest exclusive toilet soap makers.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

Transformed into a veritable bower, the First Presbyterian Church in Grand avenue was the scene of an exquisitely appointed wedding last evening when Miss Elinor Remick Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Garfield Warren, became the bride of Dr. Raymond Huntsberger. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Hugh Kelso Walker, who had just returned from a tour around the world, assisted by Rev. Herbert Boothe Smith, D.D.

The color scheme employed by the bride was pink and blue with gladioli predominating and a touch of blue delphinium. The pulpit was banked with the flowers and ferns. Great fan-shaped clusters of the gladioli with background of ferns and tied with pink tulle decorated the sides and back of the pulpit. Tall candelabra with great white candles stood on the pulpit and at the side and rear of the bridal party were cathedral candelabra with candles. The two aisles were flanked with candelabra and at the base were banked ferns and flowers. The kneeling bench was banked with Easter lilies, pink roses tied with tulle. Preceding the ceremony the Orpheus Club, seated in the rear balcony, sang "Believe Me If All Thy Endearing Young Charms" unaccompanied, while one of the delightful features of the service was the singing of Lawrence Tibbett of one of the bride's own compositions, "We Two" and later "Sanctuary," written by Frank La Forge, who was the bride's teacher in New York.

Mr. Warren gave his daughter in marriage. The bridal gown was a quaint old-fashioned tight bodice with full skirt, a touch of tulle in the skirt, which was slightly hooped. The wedding veil was of rose-pointe lace and fell to the hem of the train, being caught into a flat band and slightly wired at the back of the head. She carried a shower of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

Miss Violet Andrews was maid of honor. Mrs. Stuart Cooper (Helen Huntsberger) sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor, while the bridesmaids were Miss Jane Walker and Miss Evalyn Warren Payne, cousin of the bride. They all wore frocks fashioned alike of chiffon over satin in the pink tones, the bottom of the skirt built in petals, that of the bridesmaids being deep pink, and they carried arm bouquets of pink sweet peas with a touch of blue delphinium, while Mrs. Cooper's gown was of the paler shade and she carried Columbia roses and a touch of the blue, and Miss Andrews's gown carried out the three tones, the lower layer of petals being in the deep pink tones, the second paler and the top layer and rest of the frock of pale pink tones. She carried Cecile Bruner roses with blue delphinium, the tiny buds forming a shower, tied with sprays of maidenhair ferns, and a touch of the blue delphinium. Little Joyce Russell in crisp pink organdie with blue taffeta bows on either shoulder, carried a basket filled with rose petals.

Dr. Harold Witherbee served Dr. Huntsberger as best man and the ushers were Stuart Cooper, Fred Ford, Frank Payne and Leland Sweeney of San Francisco. Following the ceremony a wedding supper was given at the home of the bride's parents, only relatives and a few close friends being bidden. Here the same color scheme was carried out, the bride's tables being in lilies of the valley and ferns.

Dr. and Mrs. Huntsberger are motoring through the State and will be at home after July 15. Dr. Huntsberger is graduated from University of Southern California and Northwestern University Medical and is a Kappa Sigma and Nu Sigma Nu, medical fraternity member. Miss Warren attended Mills College for a year and studied music for several years in New York.

Morning Wedding

Miss Helen Lacy, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Lacy of San Marino, plighted her troth to James Peter Fitzpatrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fitzpatrick of Winfield street, yesterday morning, the ceremony followed by nuptial mass taking place at 11 o'clock in the Church of the Holy Family, South Pasadena, with Rev. Father Sullivan, S.J., officiating. The decorations of the church were effectively carried out in pink gladioli and blue delphinium with myriads of candles on the main and side altars. Mr. Lacy gave his daughter in marriage, her sister, Miss Elinor Lacy, assisting as maid of honor, while Miss Cecelia Bottiller, Miss Margarita Schneider and Miss Constance Lacy, sister of the bride, were the bridesmaids.

The bride wore a gown of white chiffon over satin embroidered in seed pearls, the veil of tulle with coronet of rose-pointe lace and pearls was caught to her head by sprays of orange blossoms and she carried an arm shower of orchids, gardenias and lilies of the valley. Miss Elinor Lacy wore periwinkle blue chiffon over satin with leghorn hat trimmed with pansies and she carried an armfull of long-stemmed pansies with sprays of maidenhair ferns. The bridesmaids' gowns were of orchid chiffon over satin, and they also wore leghorn hats trimmed with pansies and carried armsfull of the same exquisite blossoms and maidenhair ferns tied with tulle to match.

John O'Neil was the best man and the ushers were Raymond Burney, Leo Hardy and George Donohue.

A reception and wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, "Wildwood," followed the ceremony the decorations being effectively carried out with summer flowers and ferns.

The bride was graduated from Ramona Convent and University of California in Berkeley and is a Kappa Alpha Theta, while Mr. Fitzpatrick is an alumnus of Santa Clara College and a Delta Kappa Epsilon. After a motor wedding trip in the north Mr. and Mrs. Fitzpatrick will make their home here.

Wedding Announced

Halbert Paine Gardner of 315 South Harvard Boulevard, formally announces the marriage of his daughter, Miss Dorothy Darling Gardner, to John Cochran Thurman, yesterday afternoon at the family residence, Rev. Charles E. Deuel of Santa Barbara, fraternity brother of the bridegroom, officiating.

Mrs. Joseph F. Jewett, III, sister of the bride, assisted as matron of honor, while Dorothy Haven Jewett, niece of the bride, was the flower girl and Clarence Dale served Mr. Thurman as best man. The bride was graduated from Waynflete School, Portland, Me., and from Dana Hall, Wellesley, Mass., while Mr. Thurman is from Columbus, O., and a great-grandson of the late Allan G. Thurman, United States Senator, Ohio. He is an alumnus of the University of Pennsylvania, a member of the University football team, 1920-1921-1922, selected by Walter Camp for the all-American team, 1922. He served a year with the Thirty-seventh Division in France during the recent World War, and is a member of the D.K.E. fraternity and now in business here.

Mrs. Allan W. Thurman, grandmother of the bridegroom, from Columbus, O., came west for the wedding.

The house was beautifully decorated with summer flowers and ferns, the ceremony taking place before the immense fireplace, which was banked with ferns, tall bronze vases holding pink dahlias and foliage at either side. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin embroidered in seed pears with rose epoint sleeves. The veil of rose point lace fell to the hem of the skirt and was caught into a coronet by sprays of orange blossoms, and she carried sweet peas, orchids and lillies of the valley. Mrs. Jewett (Helen Gardner) wore pink georgette with large gray hat and carried salmon pink sweet peas, while the dainty little flower girl wore crisp pink organdie and carried sweetheart rosebuds and maidenhair fern.

Fish-Wakeman

The marriage of Miss Blanche Margaret Fish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Willis Fish of Windsor avenue, to Maurice Mahany Wakeman, was one of the events of Tuesday, the ceremony at high noon at the family home with Rev. Edward Brown officiating in the presence of both families only. The decorations were in summer flowers and ferns, roses predominating, and following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served. The bride wore her going-away ensemble suit of green silk with hat to match and carried orchids and lilies of the valley. There were no attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Wakeman left in their machine for a wedding tour through the State, and after their return will be temporarily at the home of the bride's parents, 1207 Windsor Boulevard. Among the guests at the wedding was the grandmother of the bridegroom, Mrs. E. B. Wakeman, of Hollywood.

Delightful Affair

One of the delightfully appointed affairs of recent date was the bridge-tea given at the Women's Athletic Club by Mrs. J. B. Norton and Mrs. Dick Smith, the bridge tables being arranged in the card-room, while the tea was served overlooking the court. Baskets filled with summer flowers and ferns adorned each of the ten tables, forty guests being bidden. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stuyvesant Brown, the latter a daughter of Mrs. Norton, are traveling abroad, being now in Florence, and after several months' sojourn there, they will go on to Germany and later to England, planning to return home early next year. Mr. and Mrs. Norton are planning to pass the week-end at Catalina.

POPULAR RENO GIRL VISITOR

Honor Guest at Bridge Tea Here

Miss Alice McManus

One of the charming visitors to Los Angeles this month is Miss Alice McManus of Reno, Nev., who is the house guest of Miss Marjorie Hamlin at her home in South Kingsley Drive. Miss McManus is a niece of William Andrews Clark, Jr., and was the honor guest at a beautifully appointed bridge tea given by her hostess recently. Miss McManus and Miss Hamlin were classmates at L'Ecole Francaise in New York and have just returned home.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

BLEEDING GUMS

If the gums bleed every time the teeth are cleaned, a dentist should be consulted to ascertain if there is any serious reason for the bleeding. The gums may just need building up and a tonic of some sort will prevent future trouble.

A PRESSING TIP

Sponge the garment on the right side, but press on the wrong, unless a dampened cloth is laid over the material and the pressing is done on this.

OLDER DISHES

Remove the food from fine china before putting it in the refrigerator and place it on less expensive dishes. Fine china is very apt to chip and break when used as containers.

SUMMER MENUS

Lighten the menus now that the warmer weather is here. That full feeling that seems just comfortable in winter turns out to be awfully heavy and warm in summer. Fewer starches and meats and more fresh vegetables and fruits.

REMOVING INK STAINS

Ink stains on the fingers will come off immediately if rubbed with a cloth dampened with household ammonia. Rinse in clear water following the application.

FIGHT OVER BUILDING RESTRICTIONS NEARS

Owners of property in Lafayette Square will meet tonight to further their fight against possible breaking of building restrictions in their exclusive community. The meeting will be held at the home of Joseph Schumacher, at 1705 Wellington Road. At that time a date will be set for a general meeting of all interested citizens to complete the organization of what will be known as the Lafayette Square Protective Association.

The following temporary officers have been elected: Joseph Schumacher, president; Gene Webb, Jr., secretary, and W. R. Morehouse, treasurer. The district included in Lafayette Square lies between Washington Boulevard and Sixteenth street and between Victoria avenue and Buckingham Road.

Report Shows 22 Explosions In One Month

Omaha, Neb., June 15.—There were twenty-two fires caused by the ignition of gasoline vapor in one month last year, according to the annual report of the fire department here.

The vapor from gasoline is a deadly explosive. If a tub or pan is filled with gasoline, the vapor rises and spreads from room to room. And, that vapor finds its way back to an open fire somewhere and ignites.

That vapor lingers long after you think it has gone. It clings to the clothes you wear. That's why 500 women in the United States were killed cleaning clothes at home last year. Send your garments to a master cleaner. National campaign for your protection.

The Woman and Her Job

BY VALERIE WATROUS

[Questions, the problems of women will be answered in this column if addressed to Mrs. Watrous at The Times.]

POINTERS FOR THE CORRESPONDENT

The trite opening paragraph is "we would state," or "we would say," or "we beg to inform you," and "we beg to acknowledge receipt." Such a beginning is faulty because it is meaningless. Your correspondent is not interested in you, but in himself and his business. He is not interested in what you would state, but in that which concerns him and you will be given his best attention if you will get to the first requirement of advertising, the opening paragraph of advertising. Don't forget that it is only used for selling.

Don't be born of the shortsighted "department," reads your letter. It's a nice assortment of pronouns, but what does it mean? Are you going to do about it? That's what your reader wants to know. The reader is rarely known to find out the better satisfied than in this locality. Climate and wild flowers are there, and in profusion.

Don't "wish to explain." More than likely you "would as to advise you." Omit these phrases. "Will you please to send me" Why not "send"? It is simple, concise just what it means.

In answer to your letter of the 15th inst. we beg to state that another pet aversion, oblique, proximo, is not used in our correspondence. Use June, May or the present, the present.

Don't say you should follow the rules of advertising. Be emphatic, they should create desire that is action.

Don't let your paragraph is important as is the opening sentence across the Canyon we frequently read, "Don't hit that cow!" and again. Or, with voice high pitched she would almost scream, "Don't hit me! There comes a locomotive!" Imagination thus was brought into play, to aid in her motor education, and I believe that this same method had much to do with her driving efficiency. There are many dangers, instantly avoidable, that have been instrumental in the acquirement, when, recently, a motive actually did loom up, we were about to pass a car. But, during her learning days in lane, she chanced to glance at a watching her, was a farmer, whose facial expression betokened what he thought that an escaped lunatic had taken on his lane. "Learning to drive my car!" And out; and the farmer nodded sympathetic understanding.

A high note in millinery is the huge flower of crestonne, worn on the front of the crown upon which are wholly veiled in net or georgette of a neutral tint that serves to enmist the blossoms and to soften the fabric of the hat.

The Lingerie Frock

Many of the newest dresses of net and lace look as though they were "side-before," the trimming being almost wholly in front and the slenderness toward the lower edge. Give 'Em a Belt

The unbelted dress has relinquished some of its popularity in favor of the belted; and the fancy is for triple belts, crossed at the front in a simple lattice, emerge from underneath side seams of the straight frock and have no apparent reason for being, apparently. They do not add any augmentation of the graceful silhouette—not even by an optical illusion—or create a flutter; and there's no reason that flutters do distract the eye from the svelt-line.

No garment is more subject than the strictly tailored suit or coat. First the fabric must be the best and in fashion, as well as of excellent workmanship. Next the line must be right, however intricate the cut may be in fact it is just this simplicity which by means of its accuracy which by means of its ment attains distinction. The mannish coats are the highest tailoredness at present, and in being them, one is likely to see our city at those stores where clothes are dispensed with a few especial garments of a kind stocked for an exacting clientele.

Fashion's After-thought

Especially in the frocks for girls is the higher waistline stressed.

For general wear gloves are long, although for afternoon they does see short capes.

VETERANS UNITE TO AID DRIVE

Foreign War Organizations Lend Support to Campaign for $5,000,000

Veterans of all foreign wars, through their organizations, have united with the American Legion in its endeavor to secure a $5,000,000 endowment fund for the relief of orphans of veterans and disabled ex-service men of the World War. Locally, members of the United Veterans of the Republic, the Disabled American Veterans, the Disabled Veterans of the World War and the Spanish-American War Veterans organizations are assisting in securing the quota which has been assigned to Los Angeles.

Indorsements have been given the legion undertaking by the grand parlor of the Native Sons of the Golden West, the national executive board of the United Veterans of the Republic and the Disabled American Veterans' State convention, as well as similar meetings of the Spanish-American War Veterans and the Disabled Veterans of the World War.

Members of the Arnama Club, a local organization with several hundred persons who served in the World War, on its rolls, have pledged their co-operation to the campaign which is being made for Los Angeles's $145,000 assignment. A letter by Harold H. Scott, chairman of the club's endowment committee, has asked that members give assistance in the campaign team work.

Announcement was made from the headquarters of the local endowment campaign committee yesterday that the directors of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce have indorsed the endowment fund campaign and that they expect to assist in the work of collecting funds for the endowment.

Following the opening meeting of the local drive Tuesday noon at the Biltmore, contributions commenced to come in to the local committee's headquarters in the Van Nuys Building, it was announced yesterday by Linton H. Smith, executive vice-chairman.

CHEF WYMAN'S Suggestions for TOMORROW'S MENU

Breakfast

Strawberries and Cream
Bacon Omelet
Toast Cherry Jam
Milk Coffee

Luncheon

Astor Salad
Raisin Bread Sandwiches
Plum Turnovers
Grape Juice Cup

Dinner

Connecticut Chowder
Radishes
Baked Rock Bass, Redondo
Fried Parsnips, Potato Croquettes
Cucumber and Tomato Salad
Watermelon Sherbet
Macaroons

CHERRY JAM

Place five pounds of stoned, ripe, firm cherries in a preserving kettle with five pounds of sugar, and let stand over night; bring slowly to a boil and boil until a little will form a jell when dropped on a cold plate. Place in clean, hot glass jars and seal tight.

ASTOR SALAD

Mix in a cold bowl one-and-one-half cupfuls of diced cooked lobster, two-thirds of a cupful of diced celery, two-thirds of a cupful of peeled and diced cucumbers, two chopped hard-boiled eggs, one chopped pimiento, one chopped green pepper, twelve chopped ripe olives, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of paprika, and one cupful of tarragon-flavored French dressing. Let stand in a cool place one hour, drain and place on six cold lettuce-covered plates. Cover with mayonnaise, sprinkle with chopped parsley and garnish with peeled cooked shrimps and ripe olives.

BAKED ROCK BASS

Wash, clean and leave on the head of a four or five-pound rock bass. Mix two cupfuls of fine bread crumbs with two-thirds of a cupful of soft butter, grated rind of half a lemon, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, one teaspoonful of powdered marjoram, a seasoning of salt and paprika, and two eggs well beaten with two teaspoonfuls of water. Fill the cleaned bass with the mixture, sew up, score each side in four places and place in the scores thin strips of salt pork. Cover the bottom of a baking pan with half of a finely chopped onion, one chopped stalk of celery, two sprigs of parsley, one sliced carrot, half of a bay leaf, and one cupful of water. Set the fish upright in the pan and bake in a moderate oven. Lift out the fish carefully and place on a hot platter. Add to the pan two-thirds of a cupful of tomato sauce, boil up and strain into a sauce boat. Garnish the fish with lemon slices and branches of parsley.

CUCUMBER-TOMATO SALAD

Peel and cut in dice three medium-sized cucumbers and mix in a cold bowl rubbed with a clove of crushed garlic with three peeled and diced firm ripe tomatoes, six sliced radishes, half a cupful of finely chopped celery, a seasoning of pepper and salt, and two-thirds of a cup of French dressing. Place on lettuce-covered plates.

WATERMELON SHERBET

Carefully remove the red part from a watermelon, save the juice and press the pulp through a sieve to remove the seeds. Mix three quarts of the pulp and juice and the grated rind and juice of half a lemon and one and a half cupfuls of sugar; pour into a freezer and turn until half-frozen; add the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs and finish freezing. Serve in tall glasses.

New Action to Condemn Arroyo Land Ordered

New proceedings to add to those pending were yesterday ordered started by the City Council for the condemnation of a two-mile strip of land on both sides of the Arroyo Seco from Avenue 35 and Pasadena avenue to Avenue 57. Much of the land is owned by the os Angeles Rock and Gravel Company and is valued at about $250,000.

If the land is condemned removal of the company's rock crushers from this part of the Arroyo, which has long been sought by the people of that section, will result. The city will use this and other land also being condemned for the new Victory Park, from the South Pasadena line to Avenue 35, and for the proposed Pasadena-South Pasadena-Los Angeles Scenic Boulevard, connecting at Dayton avenue through the proposed Figueroa street tunnel with the administrative Civic Center north of First street.

LAWMAKER TO SPEAK

Chicago Congressmen Addresses Postal Workers Tonight

Congressman John J. Gorman of Chicago has arrived in Los Angeles and will be the principal speaker at this evening's postal employees' meeting at Disabled Veterans' Hall, 346 South Hill street. He also will speak at the letter-carriers' picnic at Echo Park, July 4. Congressman Gorman was for many years in the postal service as a letter-carrier and clerk and was then admitted to the bar and is now a practicing lawyer in Chicago.

While in Los Angeles he will take an active part in assisting the local branch of the letter-carriers' association in arranging for the Fourth of July picnic. The proceeds of the all-day and evening picnic will be applied by the letter-carriers to their sick benefit fund. Letter-carriers are permitted by the postal laws to sell picnic tickets, but are prohibiting from soliciting for their sale.

PLANS MADE AT DEFENSE DAY SESSION

Army Officers and Civil Contingent Arrange to Fill Units of Reserve

Plans for observance of National Defense Test in Los Angeles on July 4, were initiated at a meeting of civilian members of the Organized Reserves with Army officers yesterday in the Detwiler Building.

Three thousand reserve officers in this area will form the foundation for the observance and it is expected approximately 13,000 men will be enlisted in the test.

Col. Dwight M. Green, physician and senior reserve officer in Los Angeles, will be commanding officer of the defense forces here. Col. Perry W. Weidner, bank president, will be chief of staff.

Enrollment of volunteers by unit commanders will proceed immediately and it is expected that the quota of each unit will be filled in time for the test.

Noon on July 4 will be the hour at which all gatherings of persons will be expected to join in the salute to the flag. The observance will be a combination of defense test with the celebration of the Declaration of Independence.

Five Los Angeles reserve officers yesterday were called into active service. They are Col. Clayton S. Adams, Maj. Leslie G. Bryant, Lieut. Russell U. Ingram, Lieut. Charles G. Buckner and Lieut. J. Clyde Simms. They reported for duty at the liaison office and will serve as student officers in the Army for the next fifteen days.

Jail Trusty is Badly Hurt in Breakfast Riot

A quarrel between two trusties in the Lincoln Heights Jail over who should wait on a certain table started a before-breakfast free-for-all fight in the jail yesterday.

Before police quelled the riot-ers one prisoner, Pedro Esquibal, 21 years of age, received severe stab wounds, asserted to have been inflicted with a paring knife by Salizar Savino. Esquibal was taken to the General Hospital after Police Surgeon Goodrich had performed a major operation. One wound penetrated his lung and he may die.

Savino was placed in solitary confinement pending the outcome of Esquibal's wounds.

SALESMAN ON STAND IN FRAUD TRIAL

Told to Make Prospects in Park Project Believe Lots Worth $5000, He Asserts

Testimony that he had been ordered to use high-pressure sales methods and more man power in the sale of lots in the Valhalla Memorial Park project was given yesterday in Federal Judge McCormick's court by T. J. Kemp, former branch office salesmanager for the company.

Kemp was on the stand virtually the entire day as a witness for the government against the four promoters of the project, who are charged with using the mails to defraud. He identified more than 100 sales bulletins issued to salesmen by the company and detailing the methods to be used in the sale of lots in the park.

The high light of Kemp's testimony was reached when he told of a casual conversation between himself and John C. Osborne, one of promoters.

"You don't get this idea over to enough people," the witness quoted Osborne as saying. "These sections are worth $5000. Whether you believe this or not makes absolutely no difference. Make the prospects believe it."

Special Assistant United States Attorney Norcop also read into the record during the day a long speech attributed to W. L. Halberstadt, a lecturer for the company. In this speech, it was set forth that the city and State laws prohibited the establishment of any more cemeteries and that the project headed by the defendants therefore was certain of success and the investors assured of large returns.

CITY SCORES IN WAR ON TRUCKS

Drivers Convicted Under Burbank Ordinances

Atlas Mortar Company Serves Notice of Appeal

Constitutionality of Motor Vehicle Act Involved

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BURBANK, June 17.—Two recently enacted ordinances of this city to protect the street pavements from destruction by heavy trucks were upheld in the local court today by Judge I. S. Watson and may be of far-reaching importance in determining the authority of municipalities to protect their thoroughfares and the constitutionality of the State Motor Vehicle Act's definition of an improved highway.

The Motor Vehicle Act defines any street an improved highway, which is paved with cement concrete, asphaltic concrete or hard surface with artificial binder of four or more inches in thickness.

CITIZENS PROTEST

Cypress-street citizens protested that their street, which comes under that classification, and for which they had paid by assessment, was being destroyed by heavy trucks. The City Trustees then enacted an ordinance virtually controlling traffic on city streets, disregarding the definition of the Motor Vehicle Act. Drivers of the Atlas company were arrested under this ordinance. Habeas corpus proceedings brought about their release and the company filed a demurrer, which was heard before Judge Shaw in Superior Court. The demurrer was denied by Judge Shaw and the company given ten days in which to file an amended demurrer. The company failed to exercise its right and the cases went back to the local court for hearing.

The drivers pleaded not guilty, but were found guilty by Judge Watson and fined $1, the fine being suspended. Counsel for the company claimed the right to use the street for 32,000-pound loads and filed notice of appeal, but privately expressed doubt that an appeal would be taken.

WOULD WELCOME APPEAL

Counsel for the city would welcome an appeal to settle once for all the constitutionality of the Motor Vehicle Act's definition of an improved highway and the city's right to protect its own thoroughfares from destruction.

The second action, which was similar to the first, was on a blanket ordinance which pertains to streets improved with less than four-inch surfacing, which throws it out of the jurisdiction of the Motor Vehicle Act and applies to the majority of the city's paving, which is about three inches thick. The ordinance prohibits loads of more than 8000 pounds on these thoroughfares.

The driver arraigned under this ordinance also pleaded not guilty, but was found guilty by Judge Watson and the same judgment passed as in the first case.

Monterey Park Runaway Girls Returned Home

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

MONTEREY PARK, June 17.—Three Monterey Park girls who were said to have run away from home during the past few days have been found in Los Angeles and returned to their homes here. The girls are: Virginia Dixon, 17, Alhambra High School student, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Dixon, 501 North New avenue, Monterey Park, Ethel Smart, 17, a stepdaughter of E. W. Rawlings, 427 North Elisabeth street, Monterey Park, and Aletha Fox, 16, an adopted daughter of Arthur W. Langley, city clerk of Monterey Park.

The Dixon and Smart girls, who were reported to have disappeared Monday forenoon, were found this morning at a rooming-house in Hollywood by Lieut. Kling of the Hollywood police division. The pair were said to have gone to the city in search of employment. They were without funds when found, it is said.

The Fox girl left home mysteriously last Friday. No reason could be given for her disappearance. She was located by officers in Los Angeles today.

The finding of the trio of girls ended a frantic search on the part of relatives and friends, aided by the police of Monterey Park, Alhambra and Los Angeles and the Sheriff's office.

DRUID MEET NEARS END

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BURBANK, June 17.—Burbank was practically Druidless this afternoon when delegates and members attending the State convention of the Ancient Order of Druids were taken on a sightseeing trip of San Fernando Valley.

The Grand Grove balloted today on the officers nominated yesterday. The results of the secret ballot will be made known tomorrow morning.

The Grand Circle elected the following officers at its forenoon session: Grand Arch Druidess, Elisabeth Wilson, San Francisco; First Bard, Del Eden, San Francisco; Second Bard, Marie Barrerri, San Francisco; Grand Conductress, Caroline Blair, San Francisco; Grand Secretary, Louise Zazzi, San Francisco; Grand Treasurer, Della Wolfe, San Francisco; Grand Guardian, Olympi Tognazzini, Guadalupe; Grand Sentinel, Mary Collins, Stockton; Grand Chaplain, May Clarke, Burbank; Grand Trustees are Mary Thomason, Chico; Emma Widemeyer, San Francisco; Mary Shelbe, San Francisco., Matilda Petterle, San Francisco; May Nicholson, San Francisco, and Della Maiso, San Francisco, were chosen Grand Auditors. Resolutions of appreciation were adopted for the reception tendered to its members by the Woman's Club and as a testimonial voted the sum of $25 for the club.

Scores of autos and busses took the visiting Druids on a tour of San Fernando Valley, Glendale, San Fernando, Van Nuys, Lankershim and Universal City were visited. At the picture town a band was out to greet the visitors and the party was warmly welcomed in the valley towns.

The temple degree team of San Francisco last night initiated eight Burbank men into the mysteries of the order. The eight candidates were: W. E. French, Martin L. Bryant, Thomas R. Morris, Henry D. Eastman, Joseph Telford, C. H. Tipps, Arthur F. Palmer and Jack Pickell.

The Circle Grand officers initiated the following Burbank women at the same time: Adel Montanden, Mary Guerra, Caroline Musiano, Flossie Bean, Stella Martin, Sarah Sigueigo and Jessie Minna.

Following the return of the Druids from their sightseeing trip tonight there was a convocation of the Grand Chapter. The convention closes tomorrow with morning and afternoon sessions of the Grand Grove and Grand Circle and a grand ball in the evening at the Palais Majestic.

COMBINE FOR PROTECTION

County, State, Nation Work Together to Prevent Fires in National Forest Reserves

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, June 17.—Arrest and prosecution of persons responsible for timber and brush conflagrations in Riverside county this summer are to be made as important a duty of the rangers and wardens as controlling the fires, Riverside county forestry officials decided at a meeting held here today.

Sifting around a table at the Reynolds Hotel in what M. B. Pratt, State forester, declared in his talk to be the first meeting of its kind ever held in the State, the twenty-five unit leaders made plans for a vigorous campaign to be maintained by constant vigilance and close co-operation between every official in the county.

Announcement of plans for protecting the "twilight zone," the territory between the boundary of the forests and the cultivated lands of the valleys; talks by H. A. Nash-Boulden, supervisor of the Cleveland National Forest; by Mr. Pratt, and by Francis Cuttle, Riversider, who is a member of the State board, were important features of the meeting. The rangers were called together by Fred M. Baird, Riverside county district fire ranger.

Riverside county, the State Board of Forestry and the Federal government have entered into a pact by which the sections of land officially left unprotected because they are outside the boundaries of the national forests are to be included in the territory which is protected by the forestry officials in case of fire, it was announced by Supervisor Nash-Boulden. In the pact it is agreed that the United States forest lookouts on Tahquitz Peak and Black Mountain will report all fires in the twilight zones to Ranger Baird. The United States rangers will take charge of fires in these sections. The State rangers, the agreement provides, will assist government rangers. United States Forest Service tools may be used in the twilight zones, but must not be taken beyond the limits of these zones unless under extraordinary conditions.

Santa Monica May Construct Joint Sewer

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, June 17.—City Commissioners of this city are arranging a conference with Venice Trustees to definitely determine the question of an outfall sewer that will serve the bay cities—Venice, Ocean Park and this city, or a joint line for all.

It has been definitely decided that the Speedway will not be used for the laying of sewer mains. It has been pointed out that the Speedway at the present time is the main thoroughfare and such action would greatly interfere with traffic. Members of the Del Rey Improvement Association recently voiced their disapproval of such action, with the result that Venice Trustees have decided not to use the road until another route along the front is established.

It is believed that a definite contract between this city and Venice will be reached this week. Although Santa Monica has not voted bonds, Venice recently voted $325,000, which are to be placed on the market July 1, it is stated.

Commissioners have instructed City Attorney Comin to draw a contract for the approval of Venice Trustees. Sewer mains will go south from this city through Venice to connect with the Los Angeles outfall at Hyperion. All expenses are to be paid by Santa Monica. The plan that the city be allowed to take care of its own outfall, which was previously suggested, has been abandoned.

POMONA OIL STATION ROBBER IS SOUGHT

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

POMONA, June 17.—A man about 30 years of age, weighing 160 pounds, six feet tall and dressed in sport clothes, was the object of search by local police today, following the robbery of a Standard Oil filling station at Second and Oak streets at 10 o'clock last night. A motorcycle policeman had just left a few minutes before the robbery and it is believed that the robbery had been planned after days of watching. The attendant was confronted by a gun when the bandit pulled up in his car and was ordered to get behind some oil containers while the contents of the cash register were taken. Thirty-four dollars in cash and $65 worth of scrip books were obtained by the burglar and, other than a description of the man and the fact that he was driving a Dodge roadster, the police have no clews.

VISALIAN VICTIM OF TRAFFIC CRASH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VISALIA, June 17.—Funeral services were held in Santa Cruz this afternoon for Jessie Place, 46 years of age, former resident of Visalia, who recently made his home at Santa Cruz, and who was killed in an automobile accident there on Monday, according to word received here.

Details of the accident are not known, further than the car in which Mr. Place was riding went off the grade near Santa Cruz, resulting in his death. The deceased is survived by one sister in Visalia, Mrs. T. M. Collins; one sister in Woodlake, Mrs. Jake Bierer; one sister in Turlock, Mrs. W. E. Prothers, and a fourth sister in Modesto, Mrs. Sallie Howell. His brother, William, lives in Santa Cruz. Mr. and Mrs. Collins have gone to Santa Cruz for the funeral.

HAS FINGER CRUSHED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, June 17.—Lewis F. Beck, age 56 years, of 129 Miramonte avenue, had the index and middle fingers of his right hand badly crushed today when they were caught in a cogwheel of a well rig operated by D. A. Beck & Son in the Alta Loma district. At the San Antonio Community Hospital, Dr. Craig found it necessary to amputate a portion of the index finger, but will make an attempt to save the other digit, although it is badly crushed.

DIES IN CITY PARK

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, June 17.—Charles A. Eastman, identified later as a cook, who has been employed at Corcoran, was found in a dying condition from heart disease in the County Courthouse park here last night. He had been about this city and Corcoran for a considerable period. Only 30 cents were found in his pockets, and some heart medicine. He attended the Camp trial here yesterday afternoon. He was 72 years of age.

FIRST CAR OF GRAPES

Chamber of Commerce Workers Stage Intensive Drive for New Members

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, June 17.—Forty-four workers from the Santa Monica-Ocean Park Chamber of Commerce are canvassing the city for new members to bring the membership of the local body to 1000 members. The Chamber now has 750 enrolled.

The three-day drive, which was opened yesterday, is in charge of T. A. Johnson, who has cited city planning and community chest projects to those interested.

A program of development in the Bay District, the largest ever planned, is now before the chamber. Among projects which have already received favorable action are: Opening of Second and Third streets into a widened main street, Beverly Boulevard; widening of Wilshire, Pico and Santa Monica boulevards, the extension of Santa Monica Boulevard through Los Angeles to connect with the San Bernardino and Old Trails east route, increase of municipal water supply, successful movement for the new postoffice in its present location, Southern Branch of the University of California in Westwood, the placing of the new campus of Occidental College in Brentwood district, advertising the city extensively through the efforts of the Greater Santa Monica Club, and aiding in the many different conventions scheduled here.

Canvassers have received copies of the annual report of the chamber, which will materially assist in placing arguments before prospective members.

CITY PAYS TRIBUTE TO SCHOOL MAN

Charles Emory Barber to Retire After Ten Years of Service at Athambra

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ALHAMBRA, June 17.—A remarkable tribute was paid to one of Alhambra's leading citizens tonight when 200 persons gathered at the Alhambra Athletic Club at a dinner in honor of Charles Emory Barber, who will retire from the office of City Superintendent of Schools on July 1. The affair was in the nature of a community token of appreciation, respect and affection for the educator who has spent the past ten years in the service of the Alhambra district schools.

With Judge Frederick W. Houser, acting as toastmaster, and with leading men of Alhambra as speakers, the program was one of eulogy to an esteemed citizen. Among the speakers were Judge William M. Northrup, Herbert Goudge, Judge Herbert S. Farrell and John Steven McGroarty.

One of the pleasing features of the evening was the presentation to Mr. Barber of a beautiful Masonic gold watch, the gift of his numerous friends as a token of their regard.

Entertainment numbers were furnished by singers and dancers from the Mission Play through the courtesy of Mr. McGroarty.

The committee which arranged tonight's dinner and for which many applications were received after the reservations had closed was composed of Judge Houser, chairman; William F. Goble, W. P. Campbell, B. N. Marriott, Dr. G. W. Woodbury, George W. Tobin, Fred A. Turner, E. A. Chubbuck and James B. Scullin.

Start Work on Mountain Road Near Glendora

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDORA, June 17.—Survey of the new Glendora Mountain road, extending to the crest of the Sierra Madre hills and thence into the San Gabriel Canyon, was under way here today by county forces. The road will tap the new $25,000,000 dam site. Also from a point on the Crest of the Sierra Madre foothills it will extend eastward into Camp Baldy.

The survey was ordered by the County Supervisors following urgent request of a committee representing the Chamber of Commerce of this city.

The new road, when ordered built, will cost approximately $200,000. County Surveyor Rockhold and Road Commissioner Bowles of the government forest forces, were high in their praise of the contemplated road, providing, as it does, not only splendid fire protection, but affording also a scenic highway comparable to any in California. The entire San Gabriel Valley would be seen from the road.

PASADENA TEACHERS WIN SALARY VICTORY

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, June 17.—After two unsuccessful attempts to have their salaries raised school-teachers of Pasadena today won their long existing fight for bigger pay checks. The raises will amount to an average of $100 a year for each teacher. When requests were made of the Pasadena Board of Education, they were denied on the grounds that the Pasadena school system was not financially able to meet the increase. After two such requests the teachers employed their own auditor to go over the books. When this report was received members of the Board of Education granted the requested increases.

DETROITER BUYS OUT PASADENA BUSINESS

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, June 17.—S. L. Bird, Detroit business man, has purchased the controlling interest in the Pasadena Furniture Company, thereby becoming president of the business which has branch stores in Los Angeles and Long Beach. Fred T. Emmons, one of the founders of the business, will be the vice-president and general manager and Herbert C. Emmons will become secretary and treasurer in place of Leon V. Shaw who has resigned.

LAWYERS CLASH AT CAMP TRIAL

Murder Case Moves Slowly in Hanford Court

Prominent Physician on Witness Stand

Bring Out Value of Life Insurance Policies

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, June 17.—The Lee Camp murder case proceeded slowly in Superior Court here today. There was the usual crowded courtroom, but spectators found little of interest.

The first witness of the day was Dr. C. T. Rosson, family physician of Mr. and Mrs. W. Stanton Brown, owners of the ranch-house where Lee Camp, their wealthy foster son, met his death by accident or was murdered last December. The doctor is one of the most prominent physicians in the county and is also County Physician. He performed the autopsy on the body of Camp before the Coroner's inquest.

The doctor testified that Camp died as the result of a compound, composite fracture of the back of the skull. There was a contusion over the left eye, due to the fracture. The internal organs were normal and there were no bruises on the body.

A question asked during the cross-examination having to do with a discussion about life insurance or double indemnity when the three defendants were at a sanatorium just before Camp died brought on a long debate participated in by all the attorneys. Dr. Rosson was allowed to answer the question, and stated that Mrs. Brown, Fred Mills, Robert McCamish and Mrs. M. J. Woods were in the sanatorium. Tipton being the only one of the four defendants not there when Mills told him there was a good deal of insurance in the case and the doctor had better look after it.

Mrs. Brown and McCamish were not in the room where the conversation with Mills took place, but in an office thirty feet distant.

The doctor told of his visit to the Brown ranch about 9 a.m., on December 14. He saw a pathway of blood on the porch and on the path leading into the screen porch. Camp was lying on a couch on the screened porch and the doctor administered a hypodermic injection.

The doctor stated he had told those at the Brown ranch that Camp could live but a few hours.

Attorney F. E. Graves testified to being called upon by Lee Camp and Mrs. Brown and of Camp making out deeds in favor of Mrs. Brown, for ranches Camp owned. Both Camp and Mrs. Brown gave instructions as to the making of the deeds.

N. W. Harlan, district manager of the California State Life Insurance Company, testified to paying Mrs. Brown $7741 on a life insurance policy after Camp's death. George Balch of Fresno told of having delivered a $10,000 policy of the Mutual of New York, carrying a double indemnity clause; F. M. Furniss of Fresno, to delivering to Mrs. Brown a policy issued by the Equitable Life, insuring Camp for $10,000 with the double indemnity clause; H. R. Rentch delivered payment to Mrs. Brown of some $28,000 on one $10,000 policy and another $10,000 contract with a double indemnity clause.

Court adjourned at 5 o'clock until tomorrow forenoon.

FUND OVERSUBSCRIBED

Drive at San Diego Provides Home for Y.W.C.A.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, June 17.—As a result of a week's drive, the Y.W.C.A. building fund was oversubscribed $32,000, it was announced today. The sum sought was $175,000, but semifinal returns brought the figure to $207,000, with the possibility that several thousand dollars will be added by belated subscriptions.

The success of the campaign will enable the Y.W.C.A. to erect a modern four-story building as a permanent home from which its many activities, now scattered, will be directed. The future home will cost more than $300,000 of which $100,000 was given in a bequest by the late Capt. B. M. Frees, for many years a patron of the association.

The new home will be built on a site 100x100 feet at Tenth and C streets, which the association acquired some years ago. Of the $207,000 secured by popular subscription, $50,000 was given by Miss Ellen B. Scripps of La Jolla.

DOES DOUBLE DUTY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, June 17.—C. A. Patton, acting constable of Inglewood township, has had double duty thrust upon him by the Sheriff's office. He has been instructed to take over the constable's office at Newhall, taking the place of Constable Jack Pilzer of that township, recently accidentally killed by the discharge of a fellow-officer's revolver. Harry Amend, the acting constable's deputy here, will hold down his superior's job during the latter's periodic absence.

OBTAINS COUNTY AID

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, June 17.—Inglewood is to have the aid of county funds in the construction of a mile of concrete paving, a link of Manchester Boulevard, through this city, it was stated at the Council meeting last night by City Engineer Arthur W. Cory and Acting City Attorney Garner White. Under the provisions of a new law, it was stated, the county can supply 30 per cent of the funds, or $38,400 out of the engineer's estimate of $128,000.

CALL BOND ELECTION

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

HUNTINGTON PARK, June 17. The San Antonio school district will hold a school bond election on July 7, at which time the voters will decide whether bonds for $15,500 will be issued. It is proposed to use the money for four more units at the San Antonio school, and for improvement of the school grounds.

FRIENDS RE-ELECT LEADER

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

WHITTIER, June 17.—Business of primary importance at the thirty-first annual assembly of the California yearly meeting of Friends, now in session here, is the anhual election of officers for this important church body. Canvass of the ballots resulted in Allen U. Tomlinson, of Whittier, being re-elected for the seventh time clerk, as the presiding officer is named by the Quakers.

Other officers chosen were Mary H. Lewis of Pasadena, recording clerk; Nellie M. White, Whittier, reading clerk, and George Taylor of Alamitos, announcing clerk. Harry R. Keates, general superintendent of evangelistic work was elected for the seventh term of office.

In the evening Dr. Courtland Myers, former pastor of Temple Baptist Church, Boston, delivered a stirring address in which he declared: "We are living in the greatest time of apostasy that the world has ever seen." He will continue his evangelistic sermons every evening up to Saturday. The yearly meeting which convened here Tuesday, will continue until Sunday evening.

Messages from the Friends churches at London and Dublin were read yesterday. These messages are called "epistles" by the Quakers; they were in a friendly vein. Thus far no matter of supreme outside interest has developed at the annual meeting, such as were in the limelight during the World War.

JARDINE IN MEETING OF RAISIN MEN

Cabinet Member Attends Session of Directors of Big Co-operative Organization

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, June 17.—That he might gain a broader first hand insight into the workings of the Sun-Maid Raisin Growers of California, William M. Jardine, Secretary of Agriculture, today attended a meeting of the advisory council and board of directors of the co-operative organization, while in Fresno on a tour of the State. Tonight he was the guest of honor and the principal speaker at a banquet given by the Chamber of Commerce, at which 200 of the leading men of Fresno and the San Joaquin Valley were present.

During the meeting with the Sun Maid boards today, at which directors of the Sunland Sales Co-operative Association were also present, President Ralph P. Merritt explained the organization and history of the association. Especial attention was given to the advisory council of thirty grower members, representing all units of the co-operative, meeting monthly and reporting back to their individual units.

Jardine reached Fresno at 1 p.m. from the government experimental station at Shafter. He was accompanied by Merritt and R. Parker Frisselle, chairman of the agricultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

The burden of his message in Fresno was praise for the great co-operative organizations of California, which he says have shown the United States and the world the maximum in co-operative effort. He said that he believes that 1925 will be one of the best on record for American agriculture.

LAY CORNER-STONE OF LEGION HOME

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, June 17.—The laying of the cornerstone of the new Legion building in this city, now nearing completion, will be held next Friday afternoon. The Masons will have charge of the ceremony, conducted by Senior Grand Warden George L. Jones, judge of the Superior Court of Nevada county, acting as Grand Master.

The County Supervisors, City Trustees, G.A.R., Spanish War veterans and other organizations will join with the local Legion and auxiliary in the ceremonies. The Junior American Legion band will furnish the music. In the evening a reception will be tendered at Masonic Hall to visiting officers of the Masonic Grand Lodge.

DESTROYER FLEETS BACK AT SAN DIEGO

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, June 17.—From 8 o'clock this morning until late afternoon a steady stream of war vessels put into port, making the largest mobilization of naval units since the combined fleets anchored here several weeks ago. The arrivals today included the scouting ships of the Atlantic fleet. These vessels coming here from the Hawaiian Islands, where they participated in the recent joint manuevers. Early arrivals today were the cruiser Milwaukee and Destroyer Division Thirty-eight. The latter en route to the east coast. Destroyer Division Fourteen followed. Radio advices this morning said the battleship Wyoming will not reach port until tomorrow.

BANDITS GET CASH OF ALHAMBRA MAN

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ALHAMBRA, June 17.—G. A. McElvy, 1147 Roseland avenue, Los Angeles, was the victim of hold-up men late last night on South Wilson avenue. The bandit pair, said to be Mexicans, relieved McElvy of $80 in cash. The victim was driving north on the avenue when the two men in a small car drove up and demanded his money. Alhambra police early this morning obtained the license number of the automobile which answered the description of the one used by the bandits, and are endeavoring to trace the pair.

CHURCH RESUMES WORK

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SOUTH PASADENA, June 17.—Work on the Onenota Congregational Church, which was discontinued because of lack of funds, will be resumed, it was announced by church trustees, today. An additional campaign for funds has netted the church $25,000, which, it is believed, will be sufficient to complete the edifice. It is believed that the building will be completed and ready for occupancy in the early fall. Rev. Holland F. Burr, the new pastor, is in charge of the building campaign.

PRISON FOR AUTO THEFT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, June 17.—Clifton Chalmers, alias William Chaffer, alias "Wild Bill" Chaffer, negro, was sentenced by Judge J. W. Mahon today to San Quentin penitentiary for an indefinite period ranging from one to ten years.

Chalmers had previously pleaded guilty to a charge of having stolen an automobile belonging to F. J. Carpenter of this city, and explained that he was "fed up" with walking.

Meets Death Under Wheels of Heavy Truck

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, June 17.—Vernon Lusher, 945 Kirkwood avenue, was crushed to death beneath the wheels of a heavy truck loaded with seven tons of cement shortly after noon today. Lusher, who was an employee of the Southern California Edison Company, was riding a motorcycle at the time and collided with the truck at the corner of Calaveras street and Santa Rosa avenue.

According to Detectives Culver and Cropsy, who conducted an investigation, Lusher slid the wheels of his motorcycle for a distance of eighty-five feet before he hit the truck. C. A. Edwards, 1019 Vista street, Hollywood, driver of the truck, which belongs to the county, endeavored to miss the youth by swerving to the curb, he told officers.

Lusher was 22 years of age, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Lusher. The body is at the C. P. Lamb & Sons undertaking parlors.

OFFICERS DOUBTFUL OF SUICIDE ATTEMPT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VISALIA, June 17.—Jerry A. Meyer of Huntington Beach, brought back from Santa Ana to the Tulare County Jail to face trial on a charge of cashing a bad check for $2 in a store owned by Mayor A. F. Kessing of Porterville, will come up for trial tomorrow. Meyer staged something of a thrill for jail occupants Monday night by trying to choke himself to death by tying a handkerchief about his neck and lying down to die. Heavy breathing attracted his cellmates, who, finding him unconscious, called officials, who resuscitated the man. Meyer left a note of farewell for his wife. He had pleaded guilty and asked for probation, but declared he feared prosecution, preferring death to that. Sheriff Hill rather doubts the sincerity of this stunt of Meyers, being rather inclined to think it a clever bit of acting to gain sympathy.

PROPOSED TRIP OF AIRPLANE POSTPONED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, June 17.—The Seattle-to-San Diego nonstop flight proposed by Lieut. Ben H. Wyatt of the naval air station, has been set ahead until the full-moon period next month, it was announced today, following the return of the aviator's plane here after the unsuccessful start for the northern city yesterday.

Lieut. Wyatt's big torpedo plane was forced down yesterday by motor trouble and was towed back to port. The motor will be thoroughly overhauled, and while this could be accomplished in a couple of days, the officer decided to defer the Seattle-to-San Diego flight until the climatic conditions were entirely favorable. The distance is about 1450 miles and will require about fourteen hours' flying time.

HIGH CLASS PRODUCTI

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, June 17.—The Community Theater city has secured for its summer season several productions will combine with amateurs in presenting what is considered difficult of plays. Mary I. Alpaugh and Richard Hunt of the Dobinsin players in Glendale and at the Philharmonic Los Angeles, Harold Howard of the motion-picture world and J. W. Fisher of Hollywood are scheduled to appear.

The next performance will be J. M. Synge's "The Playboy of the Western World," Saturday evening. Ehlers and Howard will appear in this cast, with Lemore Spencer and Sylvia Byers, members of the local organization.

Following the "Playboy," Oscar Wilde's "Lady Windermere's Fan" will be presented. The play was made famous in this country by Ethel Barrymore and Margaret Anglin. Miss Alpaugh, Elizabeth Martyn, J. W. Fisher and William

M-G-M TRAVELOGUE

MANY UNUSUAL ACTIVITIES BEGUN AT STUDIO

By Grace Kingsley

Traveling about the great open spaces of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios, one finds that the said spaces are neither so great nor so open as they formerly were. Many new buildings are being erected. Mr. Erte, for instance, the new costume and set designer, has a big open space all to himself up in a specially built and airy room, which is all in black and cream color, that the sight of colors may not distract his muse from the work in hand. Here his genius may romp at will. Mat Murray is adding to the beauty of the landscape out there, these days. I met her, clad in her smart bright, plaid Parisian made sport clothes yesterday, and she explained she had come out to see about making her next picture. She said she longed to get an airship and go straight back to Paris.

King Vidor was getting all ready to go to San Antonio to finish "The Big Parade," and paused to tell me that he thought Eleanor Boardman would make a great actress of the stage—that, in fact, she was really preparing herself for such a career.

Dashing across the lawn came Mario Carillo, looking as handsome as the dickens. He is hoping for a certain big role, and it really does seem as though he had been patient and industrious long enough.

Fred Niblo is all busy getting ready for the big chariot race. I suppose they left that to the last so that if any of the actors get killed, there won't have to be any retakes of the rest of the story.

Looking very pretty and slim, Carmti Myers was dashing about in a pretty green sport suit, wondering, she said, what was going to happen to her after "Ben Hur."

Speaking of "Ben Hur," Ramon Novarro is coming home today, according to expectations of Director Cabanne, who is already at home. He is going to make the rest of the scenes of "True Blue" here. Kathleen Key, his leading lady, is just waiting for him to come home. She spent nine days on the train and one in Indianapolis during her recent trip East, and as she hates trains; she felt that all that time had been wasted. She might have got a lot of dancing done up, she said.

Lillian Gish was in her dressing room, bending over Erte's designs for her costumes in "La Boheme." For once the world is to have a thin Mimi!

Harry Rapf, up in his blue-and-silver office, waxed enthusiastic over color photography, which happens to be a fad of mine. He told me that Ramon Novarro is to make a California story done all in Technicolor. They are working on the story now.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer are doing much with color photography in their motion pictures. Rubatini's "Bardelys the Magnificent" is to be made wholly in colors, and Jules Verne's "The Mysterious Island" is also to be done largely in colors, especially the undersea stuff. J. E. Williamson, inventor of undersea photography, will direct. "Ben Hur" has some superb color scenes in it, as have also "Pretty Ladies," Adela Rogers St. John's story, and "His Supreme Moment," now playing at Loew's.

A curious fact has come to light regarding the making of undersea scenes, according to Mr. Williamson. A special kind of glass imported from Germany is used in the undersea chamber from which scenes are photographed. The glass has often to be replaced due to the fact that sea creatures, especially swordfish, in their curiosity run against the glass, injuring it by chipping pieces off. So far no undersea denizen has been able to break the glass.

Louis B. Mayer is especially enthusiastic over the introduction of a new organization headed by Dr. Webster Robinson, former instructor of business administration at the University of California, which has been installed at the studio. This provides for the health and entertainment of the studio citizens — directors, actors and other employees — by means of the establishment of sports, mainly boxing and baseball. Some lively boxing bouts were in progress on a big platform at the noon hour yesterday, with Lew Cody acting as referee. Special previews are to be held for the studio citizenry, and many consultations will be held in which heads and employees will alike take part.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer seem anxious to develop new talent and Harry Rapf yesterday descanted enthusiastically over the directorial powers of Edmund Goulding, who is not only writing nowadays, but is directing also.

Tom Chatterton to South Seas

Tom Chatterton, who used to enliven the boards at the Majestic, is, by the time this is printed, testing his powers as a deep-sea-going sailor. Mr. Chatterton sailed yesterday from San Francisco, bound for Tahiti on the good ship Tahiti. He expects to take a vacation until next September, when he will return to appear in a new play here.

The actor established himself in the liking of theater-going people here during the last three years in a number of notable plays at the Majestic, his latest successes being in the role of the steward in "Outward Bound" and in the Macloon offering, "The Doormat," at the Playhouse.

Carrying along his trusty typewriter, Chatterton, who has long cast a wistful eye at the art of writing, expects to record a few hitherto unrecorded facts about the Tahitian Islands in a series of magazine articles, though he admits he must do some busy gleaning after all those O'Brien books.

Spanish Beauty in Films

A proud Spanish beauty of an old family here has consented to lend her charms to pictures. She is Ynez Seabury, whose forefathers settled the land where San Francisco stands, and under Spanish grants once owned vast estates in California.

Miss Seabury has been added to the cast of Hoot Gibson's new Universal production, "The Calgary Stampede," in which she will play the role of a Spanish girl.

This aspiring young actress is on her mother's side directly descended from the Galindo family, who came to California even before Father Junipero Serra established the missions and El Camino Real. They owned a vast fortune over a period of many generations, but their lands were subdivided and sold after California was admitted to the Union.

Miss Seabury came into pictures on graduating from Oakland High School, largely because her father, Forrest Seabury, is an actor of the stage who has gone into pictures.

Grant Withers Busy

Grant Withers is to be kept busy, it seems. The newest addition of the film's sheiks has been signed to appear in another Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production. This time Grant is to play in "The Lights of New York," which Monta Bell is directing.

William J. Kelly in It

William J. Kelly seems to be making the Lasky studio his official home. He has just begun work as a detective in "Trouble with Wives," which Mal St. Clair is directing.

Adventurers in Amazing 'Lost World'

Bessie Love and Lewis Stone

GARRET PLAYERS WILL OFFER SHOW TONIGHT

The Garret Players are about to break forth with another program of one-act plays. Three numbers will be on the bill to be presented in that organization's little workshop, 132½ South Spring street, this evening, tomorrow and Saturday evenings.

First on the list is "Another Way Out," a sketch by Lawrence Langer. Marjorie Driscoll will direct Jean Du Pont, Constance Everman, Ken Chamberlain, Meeka Aldrich and Gerald Maulsby in this.

"Ryland," by Thomas W. Stevens and Kenneth Sawyer Goodman, will probably prove to be the strongest act on the bill. The cast will include W. J. Parker in the title role, Ross Sperry, David Edwards, Eleanor Simpson, Paul Spier, Kate McNenny and Revan D. Komaroff. Don Pullen is directing.

Closing the bill is "East of Eden," with Cecil Storm and Renna Reves as Cain and his wife, and Truman Curtis and Marie Chappelle as Adam and Eve. Lee Ettleson is handling the megaph—pardon, directing.

LAST SCREEN KISS OF NOTED PAIR

Marie and Monte to Go Separate Ways

Will be Starred Separately

IN "Kiss Me Again," Marie Prevost and Monte Blue are said to give brilliant performances, under the adroit direction of Ernst Lubitsch. This Warner Brothers screen classic, which is the attraction at the Forum Theater this week, culminates the teamwork of these two popular favorites. For their many splendid performances opposite each other during the past year the producers have rewarded them by starring them separately. Marie is now being featured in "The Burglar Alarm," and Monte in "Red Hot Tires."

STARS WILL CROWD TO PREMIERE

Reservations Pouring in for Opening of "Lost World" at Million Dollar

If the reservations already made to the Million Dollar Theater's premiere of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's "The Lost World" tonight is any criterion the event will be among the most gala of the season. Film luminaries will be present in large numbers, as indicated by the partial list announced through the office of Albert Kaufman, director-general of the Million Dollar, Metropolitan and Rialto theaters.

Filmland's stars will be at the Million Dollar Theater at 8:15 this this evening. Among those who have made reservations are:

Lasalle Jay, Forma Talmadge, Kenneth Harlan, Marshal Neilan, Elaine Hammerstein, Ruth Roland, Constance Talmadge, Bessie Love, Mary Akin, Mirrie Mason, Hedda Hopper, Bert Lytell, Alice Lake, Flavey, Kathleen Clifford, Lloyd Hughes, Virginia Brown Faire, Bull Montana, Stuart Holmes, Joyce Compton, Al Herbert, Hubert Frazer, Vic Mclaglin, Percy Stenler, Dan Williams, Ricardo Cortez, Maryon Aye, Mr. and Mrs. Monte Blue, Mr. and Mrs. Renee Adoree, Pauline Garon, Marie Prevost, Blanche Sweet, Irene Rich, Viola Dana, Chester Bennett, Jane Novak, Edwin Carewe, Estella Delanti, Dave Thompson, Conrad Nagel, Claire Windsor, Priscilla Dean, Allen Day, Wallace Beery, Jules Cowles, Clara Horton, Hugh Allan, William V. Mong, Dorothy Sebastian, Edward Earle, Anna Q. Nilsson, Barbara Bedford, Robert Leonard, Alma Bennett, Lewis Stone, Arthur Hoyt.

REFUSES CONTRACT

Dorothy Dean, dainty English actress has just refused a six weeks' engagement in the South Sea Islands. "I came to California to play," she declares, "so why run away to the further ends of the earth immediately upon my arrival. I want to stay here." Besides, several other film offers await her locally.

ZOELLNERS WILL HOLD LONG SUMMER SESSION

From the 29th inst. to August 10 the Zoellner Conservatory will hold its summer classes. They will be conducted at the main studio, 1250 Windsor Boulevard, and also at their Hollywood branch, located in the Fuller Building, 6311 Hollywood Boulevard. Normal work for teachers will be given.

The faculty in attendance will include Joseph Zoellner, Sr., violin, viola and ensemble; Amandus Zoellner, violin; Antoinette Zoellner, violin, and Joseph Zoellner, Jr., violoncello and piano. The Zoellners form the personnel of the internationally famous Zoellner quartet, and a splendid opportunity is presented to students for intensive study in repertoire and ensemble work.

Other members of the faculty include Anne McPherson, public school music; Mrs. Lulie E. Crawford, Grace Lovejoy and Olive Englund, piano; Evelyn Pickrell, Florence Duvall, Daisy Walters, violin, and Marjorie Dodge and Antoinette Zoellner, voice. Evangeline Roberts will have children's classes.

The faculty has been strengthened by the addition of Arnold J. Gantvoort, who heads the department of harmony and solfege. Mr. Gantvoort held a similar appointment with the well-known Cincinnati College of Music for a term of over twenty years. He will give both class and private instruction in these subjects. Royal Lemon has charge of the saxophone department.

Registrations show that the summer school will be unusually large, with students coming from all parts of the country.

Albert E. Ruff, famous vocal pedagogue, and teacher of Geraldine Farrar, Anna Case, Olive Fremstadt and many other operatic stars, will conduct a master class in August. Mr. Ruff inaugurated his master classes here last year, which met with extraordinary success.

Clark-Handley Student Program

Edith Lillian Clark, pianist, and Carolyn Handley, vocal teacher, present a group of their pupils in recital at Ebell auditorium Saturday evening, the 20th inst.

Pascal Returns

It is with real pleasure that one notes the return of Julian Pascal, piano teacher, to this city. Mr. Pascal is indeed one of the few teachers with a burning inspiration, and the ability and concept to produce. Among his most successful pupils may be mentioned Myra Hess, an artist of too much ability to be described by conventional phrases.

Huribut Lecture

Harold Huribut, teacher of singing and New York representative of Jean De Reszke, recently gave an illustrated lecture on "Vocal Science from the Mental Standpoint," in Long Beach.

WALLACE MacDONALD BACK AGAIN AT F.B.O.

Wallace MacDonald, who has just begun work in the leading role of "Heirlooms" now being filmed by the Spitzer-Jones productions, is beginning to regard the F.B.O. lot as "Home Sweet Home." This is the third consecutive picture in which he has worked there. He played opposite Clara Bow in "The Primrose Path," shooting of which was completed the day before work on "Heirlooms" began, while just before that he had a leading role in "Two Can Play" for the Embassy pictures.

In "Heirlooms" the young actor makes a transition from the heavy roles in which he has appeared for some time, to light comedy drama.

EGAN SHOW TO START SEVENTY-FOURTH WEEK

It is an hilarious comedy as well as a sound artistic and financial venture that is given us in "White Collars," Frank Egan's tremendous success which is about to start its seventy-fourth week at the Egan Theater. The play deals, though not too heavily, with the problem of the white-collared middle class and the particular trouble created by the marriage into such a millieu of a wealthy aristocrat. The excellent cast includes Craig Ward, Diane Esmonde, Margaret Nugent, Zellah Covington, Marvel Quivey, Stuart Erwin, Gordon White, Betty Sinclair and Paul Kruger.

Frank Egan has supplied an entire new scenic investure, in anticipation of an all-summer run at popular prices.

STUDENT MATINEE OF 'IRON HORSE' SATURDAY

Such an insistent demand has developed that one more of the farewell students' morning matinees of "The Iron Horse," William Fox's historical screen classic, and Sid Grauman's prologue, will be presented at 10 o'clock next Saturday morning in Grauman's Egyptian Theater.

The morning performance at popular prices to students next Saturday will conclude the series, as "The Iron Horse" closes its run the next day, Sunday, the 21st inst., when three final presentations will be given, at 1 o'clock and 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and at 8:15 o'clock in the evening.

BUSHMAN COMPANY WILL LEAVE FOR NORTH

Francis X. Bushman, Jr., who is now engaged in his first starring vehicle, "Never Too Late," at the California Studios, and his supporting company, will leave the end of the week on a location trip to San Juan Capistrano. Forest Sheldon is directing the production.

ALWAYS CRIPPLED

Every time Sam Allen works under Fred Newmayer's direction he seems fated to be a cripple or an invalid. In "Dr. Jack" and "Why Worry," with Harold Lloyd, he was afflicted with gout and the smallpox, respectively, and in two other Harold Lloyd productions he appeared with a broken leg. And now, with Larry Semon in "Duke of Luxembourg," which Newmeyer is directing, he hobbles about as a cripple once more.

But this is only in the land of make-believe. Away from the sets Sam Allen is as spry and jolly as a cricket.

CRYER ELECTION HEARING IS SET

Contest Will Begin First Monday in July

Lawyer to Ask Recount in Specific Cases

Complaint Declared Filed as Civic Duty

The contest of the election of Mayor Cryer at the May primaries will be heard by Judge Fleming beginning July 6, next, the name of the judge and the date having been announced yesterday by Judge Hollzer, acting presiding judge of the Superior Court.

Gesner Williams, counsel for Mrs. Edna Allen, who instituted the contest, declared yesterday that he expected to develop, not minor errors of tabulation, but "gross irregularities," in the recount of the ballots which will be made.

"Mayor Cryer has called attention to the fact that he was re-elected by a margin of 4000 votes, and has said that he did not see how minor errors in the canvass could effect so substantial a majority," Attorney Williams observed. "We are not gunning for minor errors. We expect to show gross irregularities, and according to my best information, we will find about 10,000 ballots miscounted.

"We are not seeking to cause useless annoyance for anyone. Therefore, we will ask for the recount, first, of the vote in certain precincts, where we have reason to believe the greatest results will be yielded. Developments from the recount of these ballots will indicate whether or not there is cause to push the recount to completion. Of course, if the opposition forces us, we will go through the precincts in their order, taking them as they come.

"I would like, also, to correct any impression that there are 'interests' behind this contest not shown on the surface of the pleadings. My client, Mrs. Allen, happens to be a person who will go to the trouble and personal expense of probing into the rumors that have prevailed since the election, simply as a matter of civic duty. Many persons, since the filing of the suit, have come forward with pledges of aid, but this has been purely fortuitous, as far as my client is concerned. She started the contest on her own initiative, without promise or particular expectation of outside aid and will, if necessary, press it far enough on her own resources to show what there is to the account of the election proceedings she believes to be correct."

TWO LIQUOR OFFENDERS SENTENCED

Heavy Fine and Jail Term Given Pilliccino; Search Ruling Withheld

Dominic Pilliccino yesterday was fined $5000 and sentenced to six months in the County Jail on a charge of operating a still. Sentence was pronounced by Federal Judge W. B. Sheppard of Florida, sitting in Federal Court here.

Judge Sheppard also fined G. Russell Wilson $1000 and sentenced him to sixty days in jail on a charge of operating a still. The court was to have ruled on the matter of whether a police officer could enter a house in search of violation of the liquor law without a search warrant, but decision was forestalled when Wilson's attorney, M. G. Phillips, withdrew a motion to dismiss on that ground. The still was asserted to have been found in Wilson's home by police who entered without a search warrant.

TIME LIMIT FOR TAX ON DRAIN NEAR

Assessments on Drain in South Main Street Duc by Tomorrow Night

The time limit for paying assessments without penalties for the completed one-half of the $3,000,000 South Main-street storm drain expires tomorrow night, it was announced yesterday at the branch office at 3427 South Main street at which assessments are being paid. Lincoln Ward, assistant manager of the office, announced yesterday that the office will be kept open until 10 o'clock tonight and tomorrow night for the convenience of the property owners. There are 30,000 owners of property in the district assessed and of these more than 15,000 already have paid their assessments. The largest single assessment paid yesterday amounted to $23,560.

WIDOWS TO MEET

Business Bureau Head to Lecture on Advertising Frauds

The first of a series of open meetings for widows of Los Angeles to combat those who have designs on the "widder's mite" will be held next Monday at 8 p.m. at the Trinity Health Institute hall, 839½ West Washington street.

The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Widows' Protective League of Los Angeles. Faris Miller, manager of the Better Business Bureau of the Los Angeles Advertising Club, will address the meeting on "Advertising Frauds and How to Avoid Them."

The league was founded recently by Mrs. Lillian Paschal Day, president of the organization. She is a writer of children's books and fiction. Mrs. Dana S. O'Brien Wells, past-president of the American Legion Auxiliary of Los Angeles, is vice-president. Mrs. Mary Caldwell is secretary. Dr. Gertrude Wolferman is treasurer. All widows in and around Los Angeles are invited to attend Monday night's meeting.

MILLIONS INVOLVED IN MERGER

Pelton and Levee, Inc., and Reid-Platt, Inc., to Form Huge Combine

The merger of two of the city's largest building material concerns into a $3,000,000 combine to be known as Pelton & Levee, Inc., was announced yesterday.

The companies in the merger are Pelton & Levee, Inc., and Reid-Platt, Inc. The plants of both, adjoining each other on Pico Boulevard, will be combined, it was stated, and the general offices will be maintained at 6011 Santa Monica Boulevard, where Pelton & Levee now occupy the block between Beachwood and Gordon streets.

The two companies in the merger will be headed by A. T. Pelton, who was chiefly instrumental in bringing about the combine. Mr. Pelton went into the building material business in 1920. A year later he organized the Southern California Trading Company and in 1922 he bought out the Santa Monica Boulevard plant of the Risher Fuel and Feed Company. Later the Pico Boulevard plant of the Vineyard Lumber Company was purchased by Mr. Pelton and the firm became known under the name of Pelton & Levee.

Herbert R. Reid will be the vice-president of the new concern, with S. M. Levee as secretary and F. E. Pelton as treasurer. L. B. Platt of Reid-Platt will be identified with the sales organization of the new concern.

ROBINSON ON UNIVERSITY COMMISSION

Local Banker is Named to Succeed Alexander on Stanford National Board

Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles banker and lawyer and one of the three Americans who worked out the Dawes plan for the Reparations Commission, has been elected a member of the Stanford University national board, it was announced yesterday. He will succeed Wallace M. Alexander of San Francisco, who recently was named a member of the Board of Trustees of the university.

The national board is composed of thirty members elected for three-year terms. Its function is to draw from all parts of the country the ideas of men of affairs to aid in maintaining at the university a spirit of broad progressiveness as an institution of national interests.

Mr. Robinson is vice-president and trustee of the California Institute of Technology and a trustee of the Henry E. Huntington Library and Art Gallery.

Stage Stars to Aid Benefit for Lodge Building

Funds for the establishment of a $150,000 gymnasium and swimming pool in the new I.O.O.B. lodge building at Ninth and Union streets, are to be raised at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium on the 24th inst. Plans for the benefit affair were announced yesterday by Police Commissioner Birnbaum.

A program of vaudeville acts, according to the program, will be headlined by Dorothy Devore and will include fifteen acts by famous members of the vaudeville stage. The performers include the following: Buster Keaton, Sophie Tucker, Al Jolson, Trixie Friganza, Sam Wolf's "Plantation Dancers" and an act contributed by Joseph M. Schenck. Fred Solomon's orchestra will furnish the music and the Ernest Belcher School will furnish a dancing number. There will be a Hawaiian trio, accordion and banjo player, Abe Lyman's Cocoanut Grove Orchestra and violin and piano numbers.

The members of the committee, in addition to Police Commissioner Birnbaum and Harry Finkenstein, chairman, include: City Prosecutor Friedlander, Louis M. Cole, Milton E. Getz, Sam Tiernan, D. A. Hamburger, Sam Seelig, Marco Newmark and others.

BOWL INTERESTS EAST

Communities Watching to See if Local Campaign Succeeds

More than a score of eastern cities are waiting to learn the result of the coming Los Angeles campaign to sell 5000 season tickets to the Hollywood Bowl summer concerts, Mrs. J. J. Carter declared yesterday. Mrs. Carter, who recently returned from the East, will discuss, at the campaign dinner at the City Club tonight, tentative plans under way in eastern musical centers for similar outdoor concerts if the local campaign proves a success.

In addition to the speakers on the program tonight the entertainment features will include selections by Mme. De Zaruba, former prima donna and chairman of the campaign committee; Annie Timmner, 'cellist, with Mrs. Rosel Hill accompanying, and an interpretative dance by Yvonne Cook, accompanied by Feodor Kolin composer.

The campaign to sell $50,000 worth of season tickets will open next Monday and close the following Saturday.

PLEAD FOR WORLD PEACE

Speakers at Sons of Revolution Meeting, However, Uphold Policy of Preparedness

Pleas for world peace, coupled with admonitions to prepare for possible war in the interest of national safety were voiced by prominent speakers at the Alexandria yesterday at the luncheon given by the Society of Sons of the Revolution in the State of California, commemorating the anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill.

A feature of the meeting was the presentation of certificates of honor to fifty-seven members of the organization who served in the World War. Thirty-three other members, who have applied for similar certificates, will receive them later. The records of the recipients have been credited by the War Department and the certificates were issued by the officers of the General Society, Sons of the Revolution.

"This will never be a good world for any of us until it is a good and safe world for all races, nations and colors," said Frank G. Tyrrell, speaker of the day. "Today, when the trend of the world is apparently toward good will, when the will of the world is the will to peace, let us consecrate ourselves to the task of binding up the wounds of the nations and making war forever impossible."

NEED FOR COURAGE

Tracing the history of the United States from the landing of the Pilgrim fathers to the clash between the colonies and England, Mr. Tyrrell eulogized the American yeomen whose courage and love of liberty had been bequeathed to them by the Norsemen, Jutes, Saxons and Angles, who once were the terror of Rome.

"Our flag is something more than cloth and color, for its stars are emblematic of that constellation of noble men and brave women whose blood has tinged it with holy crimson and whose loyalty is signified by its heavenly blue," said the speaker. "Self-preservation is the first law of life, but it is not the last law and word of those whose consecration to liberty renders them ever ready to sacrifice life itself on the altar of their ideals."

Following the repetition by Eugene McElmeel of the oration which won for him the second prize in the National Oratorical Contest, a brief address was given by Arthur Burnett Benton, president of the Society, Sons of the Revolution, who declared himself to be a strong advocate of peace.

"Nevertheless, the spirit of war is in the world and it behooves us to be prepared to fight for the right," said Mr. Benton. "The Prince of Peace tells us 'the strong man, armed, keepeth his house in safety.'"

WARNS OF DANGER

Calling attention to the prevalence of crime throughout the country, which he said is caused largely through a decline in that kind of faith which our forefathers had in a benevolent, all-powerful God, Maj. Walter K. Tuller said that no citizen is a true patriot who is not willing to take cognizance of the present situation and to challenge those forces that threaten the nation.

"It is a sad commentary on the average citizen that the National Oratorical Contest was inspired by wise, patriotic men who realized that the time had come when it was necessary to 'sell' again to the American people the Constitution of the United States," said Maj. Tuller. "Today there are countless agencies, under various names, seeking to upset our government—and yet thousands of us lie sleeping in the Temple of Liberty, whose foundation is thus being undermined."

Members who received certificates of honor yesterday were as follows:

Cols. Arthur Williams, S. M. Saltmarsh, E. R. Tilton and S. W. Mudd; Lieut.-Cols. H. Hervey, Starret Ford and L. J. Mygath; Commanders H. J. Abbett and R. R. Richardson; Majs. I. F. Cooke, R. A. Shaw, H. L. Suydam, W. K. Tuller, D. M. Cloud, R. C. Cotton, L. Le S. French, T. E. McClelland, E. H. Pearce, R. G. Peeples, Le Roy Southmayd, W. J. Stone; Capts. H. G. Brown, E. M. Pallette, G. V. Winne, Clare Woolwine, A. J. K. De Paw, H. C. Dunbar, W. R. McNair, N. W. Janner, J. R. Reed, C. J. Titu, W. S. Johnson and E. M. Price; Lieuts. M. A. Albee, W. A. Dashiel, D. L. Ransome, J. H. Russell, J. O. Ashton, D. H. Backus, L. R. Ball, F. B. Belcher, A. H. Clarke, A. A. Clark, W. E. Castolowa, W. K. Dods, worth, H. K. Elder, R. P. Enochs, G. M. Eyferth, P. S. Goen, P. G. Hoffman, C. D. Lockwood, O. A. Martin and J. R. Floyd; Corporal G. C. White, Ensign R. L. Bestolacci and A. W. Teel and D. W. Taggart.

CRESCENTA TOWNS TO CO-OPERATE

Central Commercial Will Work for Development of Valley

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

GLENDALE, June 17.—Formation of a central commercial organization to work for the development of Glendale, Burbank, Montrose and other cities in the La Crescenta Valley was voted unanimously tonight at a meeting at the Oakmont Country Club of representatives from commercial bodies in six communities in this district. The other three towns represented were La Crescenta, Verdugo City and Casa Verdugo.

A second conference to perfect the organization of the central body representing the six communities was set for July 2 at Verdugo City. Capt. Thomas D. Watson, director of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, was elected temporary chairman of the central organization and Howard I. Wood of Glendale, temporary secretary.

Speakers at the conference pointed out that an organization of the sort proposed is necessary to work for the mutual interests of the half-dozen communities included and that no one town would profit above the rest by the formation of such an organization.

The plan must be ratified by the membership of the various commercial organizations represented at the meeting tonight but the approval of these bodies is believed to be assured.

VACATION FIGHT UP TO JUDGE

Couple, Unable to Agree on Time Son Shall Spend With Each, Seek Ruling

Inability to agree on the question of how much of his summer vacation their son should spend with each of them brought Gertrude Miller and her former husband, Arthur Leroy Miller, into court again yesterday.

Their appearance before Judge Gates of the Superior Court was merely another of their annual pilgrimages, which began a year after their divorce and has continued regularly to be timed by the advent of their son's vacation.

They again sought a legal ruling as to how much time their boy should spend with them during his vacation. Judge Gates ruled that the boy, Ellis Leroy Miller, should remain with his father from the 27th inst. to August 1, and that he should spend the remainder of his summer vacation with his mother. At the time of the Millers' divorce Mrs. Miller was given custody of the boy, with the provision that her son should spend half his summer vacation with his father. But they never have been able to agree on which half of the vacation the boy should be with his father, and therefore their annual court pilgrimages.

POLICE SEEK MISSING HEIR TO LARGE ESTATE

Elmer Shull, the mysteriously missing heir, to a large estate in Texas, was being sought by local police yesterday at the request of E. H. Hay, justice of the peace at Joaquin, Tex.

In his request for aid in finding the missing youth, Justice May stated that he had disappeared some time ago and that his mother died recently, making him the heir to her rich estate. He is now believed to be in Los Angeles.

COURT TOLD OF CLIMATE AT MALIBU

Weather Expert Brought in Land Company Case Scheduled to Close Today

The Pacific Coast of the United States has a more favorable all-year-round climate than that of other sections of this or other countries located in the same latitude, according to Dr. Willis A. Moore, former chief of the United States Weather Bureau, former president of the National Geographical Society, vice-president of the Washington Academy of Science, a member of the Royal Academy of Science and a professor at George Washington University.

Dr. Moore expressed this opinion yesterday in Judge Frederick C. Valentine's court, where he was called as a witness by the Marblehead Land Company to give testimony relative to the climatic values of the Malibu Ranch, north of Santa Monica. The county is seeking to condemn 182 acres of the ranch for a highway right-of-way in a suit now on trial before Judge Valentine.

The trial, which has been in progress for almost seven months, is scheduled to come to a close this morning, William J. Clark, chief counsel for the land company, announcing yesterday he expected to conclude his rebuttal testimony at the first session today. The county has finished its case and it was stated Judge Valentine probably will take the whole matter under submission to give him time to deliberate on the vast mass of testimony in the record.

LUNCHEON TO HONOR FORESTER

Conservation Association to Greet Col. W. B. Greeley, on Inspection Tour Here

Col. W. B. Greeley, Chief United States Forester, will be the guest of representatives of the Conservation Association of Southern California at a luncheon tomorrow noon at the University Club. Col. Greeley is on an inspection tour of the national forests.

Following Col. Greeley's visit, the association will launch a campaign in support of Senate Bill No. 4155, which is due to come up at the next session of Congress. The bill means the expenditure of $2,000,000 for the rehabilitation and protection of watershed areas in Southern California, in that it provides a program that will match dollar for dollar the work being done by governmental and private agencies.

OFFICER IS HELD FOR TRIAL IN DEATH CASE

Patrolman Emmet J. Jones, who shot and killed Christopher Malcolm, negro dog catcher, when he mistook the victim for a bandit, was held for trial in Superior Court on a manslaughter charge yesterday by Justice Baird. The officer's bail was fixed at $5000.

Testimony at the preliminary hearing showed that the officer approached the dog catcher's automobile and began to question him. The victim produced a gun, which the officer took from him. Then Malcolm fled. The officer ordered him to halt and when he failed to do so, shot him.

J. W. PHALON, RAIL AGENT, SUCCUMBS

Representative of Great Northern in Los Angeles Twenty Years With Line

John W. Phalon, general agent of the Great Northern Railway and a representative in Los Angeles of that line for twenty years, died yesterday at his home at 1657 West Twenty-fifth street.

He was born in New York City, November 2, 1854, and at the age of 12 years entered the employ of the New York Ledger, learning the trade of press feeder. Later, he entered the employ of the Henry Villard transportation interests and left New York about 1883 for Portland. At Portland he was identified with the Villard company, serving with the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company.

He entered the employ of the Great Northern Railway, June 6, 1896, just three years after the railway laid rails to the Pacific Coast. During the period of the World War his headquarters were in Spokane, Wash., where he assisted in handling troop trains between American Lake and St. Paul. At the close of the government operation of railroads he reopened Great Northern offices in the Citizens' National Bank Building.

Surviving him are his widow and son, Lloyd, Los Angeles, and sister, Mrs. Alicia Graven, residing in Flushing (L. I.) N. Y.

Funeral services will be conducted at the W. A. Brown funeral parlors, 1335 South Flower street, at 2 p.m. today.

Hazen J. Titus is Fined in Trial on Labor Charge

Hazen J. Titus, fruit-cake manufacturer, was fined $25 yesterday by Police Judge Pope on a charge of violation of the State labor law. It was charged that he worked a girl employee more than the legal number of hours a week.

O. W. Moore, proprietor of the Merry Widow Cafe, 7016 Hollywood Boulevard, was before Judge Pope yesterday at the hearing of a wage claim brought by his chef, W. W. Harrison. Moore pleaded not guilty to the charge of withholding the chef's pay and trial was set for July 1. Moore's defense is that the money owed to Harrison is due from the former proprietor of the cafe, then known as the Club Petrouska. It was in this cafe that the famous battle between C. C. Julian, oil operator, and Charlie Chaplin was staged.

Bischoff, Head of California Studios, Home

Declaring that two more avenues for the output of independent pictures have been opened, Samuel Bischoff, president of the California Studios, returned to Los Angeles yesterday. Exhibitors are remaining loyal to their Milwaukee convention agreement to book independent films, according to Bischof, who added that "this will undoubtedly be the greatest year in the history of the independents."

"The California Studios are planning immediate work on thirty-six two-reel comedies and six five-reel features.

HOLLYWOOD HIGH GIRLS DRILL TODAY

Some 400 girl students at the Hollywood High School will engage in a pom pom drill at 3 p.m. today on the front lawn of the school. The drill will serve as a rehearsal for the exhibition to be given by the school children of the city next Tuesday at the Coliseum before delegates to the National Physical Association convention. Motion pictures will be made of the drill today as the girls participating are rated among the best feminine athletes in the city. Hollywood High School is in possession of the Times cup offered some years ago to encourage athletics among girls in the Southland schools. The girl students at Hollywood High won the cup three times running, obtaining permanent possession of the trophy.

WOMAN TRIES TO KILL SELF BY TAKING GAS

Mrs. Sarah Gellman, 25 years of age, was taken to the County Hospital yesterday afternoon after attempting to kill herself with gas in the kitchen of her home at 4949 Leigh street, Belvedere.

The woman was found in a stupor by her 9-year-old son, Herman, who summoned neighbors. Later Deputy Sheriffs Horton and Stewart took Mrs. Gellman to the psychopathic ward at the County Hospital. She will recover. No reason for the woman's attempt to commit suicide was given.

DAMAGE SUIT SETTLED OUTSIDE COURTROOM

As the suit of Santino Andrioli for $10,000 damages against the Santa Fe Railroad for injuries received by his son in a railroad accident in 1922 was about to be submitted to a jury in Federal Judge James's court yesterday, it was announced that the case had been settled out of court and the jury was dismissed. The terms of the settlement were not made public.

CAR STOP PETITIONED

Residents of the district near Thirty-seventh street and Grand avenue have petitioned the City Council to direct the Los Angeles Railway to establish a northbound car stop at this point.

CHINESE BABEL HELD HINDRANCE

Lack of Common Language Noted by Oil Man

Good Feeling Evident in Japan, Says Tourist

M. H. Whittier Finds Korea Advancing Rapidly

The inability of Chinese to understand one another's speech is a formidable detriment to progress in that country, believes M. H. Whittier, oil magnate, who with his daughter Helen arrived home yesterday from three months of travel in China, Japan and Korea.

"There are so many dialects and languages spoken in that vast empire," Mr. Whittier said, "that the Chinese cannot enjoy interchange of ideas and they come to no understanding and knowledge such as is possible in a country, such as Japan, where there is one language. Those people are going to have a hard time getting along until they can talk freely to each other.

"I found good feeling everywhere I went in Japan. Talk of war with that country is nonsense. Korea is much better off. I learned, since Japan has taken a hand in its affairs.

"The countries are amazingly thickly populated. Japan is far more advanced than China and is developing Korea also."

Mr. Whittier said the trip was for pleasure and also to look into the market in the Orient for petroleum products.

"There isn't much of a market there yet for petroleum products except kerosene," he said. "Japan has water power and electricity, but China lights with coal oil. In China there are almost no gas engines to speak of and automobiles are to be found only in the cities and few there, so there is not much gasoline consumption. It is but little better in Japan. There is some market for lubricating oil.

"Streets in China are so narrow that automobiles, and indeed, other vehicles, cannot be used in many of them. It is much the same in Japan, but they are widening streets and in their additions provision is made for wide thoroughfares."

In the party were Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McLaughlin and daughter Evelyn of San Francisco. Mr. McLaughlin is vice-president and general manager of the Associated Oil Company. Mr. Whittier is one of the company's executive managers.

CRYER GOES ON TRIP IN MOUNTAINS

Mayor and Physician to Spend Few Days in Owens River Valley

Mayor Cryer left Los Angeles last evening with his friend and physician, Dr. M. L. Moore, for a brief vacation in the Owens River Valley, and will return to the City Hall on Monday morning.

The few days will be spent in the woods, fishing and resting, the Mayor said.

He will not take his real vacation until late in the summer, as there will be more than fifty appointments to make to boards and commissions immediately after the city government is reorganized after July 1, when the newly elected officials take office and new charter becomes effective. These boards and commissions must then, in conjunction with the Mayor, appoint general managers for each of the sixteen city departments, and the Mayor will appoint a Director of the Budget and Efficiency.

The Mayor has received a large number of applications for commissionerships and general managerships, and has each day received many callers who desired to present suggestions for appointments, so that he said a few days' rest would be welcome.

DON'T CLOSE your eyes to warning which Nature gives when angry, painful boils appear on your neck, face or other parts of your body. Boils, pimples and so-called skin disorders are often the result of an impoverished condition of the blood and are not to be trifled with.

It is nothing more than common sense to expect to get absolute relief from the use of local treatments, such as ointments, salves, etc. Such remedies may afford temporary relief but you want more than relief; you want a remedy that will rid you forever of the humiliating disorders. And the one remedy which has no equal is S.S.S.

S.S.S. stops boils and keeps them from coming. S.S.S. builds rich, red blood-power! That is what you need. Fighting blood impurities. It fights boils, pimples, skin eruptions—eczema, scaly scalp, itching heads, eczema. It gives you new health. S.S.S. has been known for over 50 years as one of the greatest blood purifiers, blood cleansers and blood strengtheners ever produced. There are no unproven theories about S.S.S., the scientific action of each of its purely vegetable medicinal ingredients are fully explained by authorities. Begin taking S.S.S. today and clear your skin of boils and other blood disorders!

S. S. S. is sold at every good drug store in two sizes, the larger size is more economical.

Decides on Best Life Insurance

"Five years ago I was in poor health and could not get life insurance because of my symptoms. Doctors said my trouble was caused from a pressure of gas that came from my stomach. Their medicine did not help me any. I was getting worse all the time. Finally, two years ago my druggist recommended Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. I took a course of it and found it to be the best life insurance money could buy. It helped my trouble at once. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal poisons from the intestinal tract and relieves the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince you or money refunded. At all druggists.—[Advertisement.]

LEAVES HUSBAND FOR ART

Carmen de Blasco Declares Lover Has No Place in Life of One Seeking Film Success

Firmly convinced that no woman with a career should have a husband, too, Carmen De Blasco, descendant of Mexican aristocracy and pretty stage and film player, returned to Los Angeles yesterday from Yucatan, Mex., where she obtained a divorce in forty-eight hours.

The divorcee was the wife of a former Governor of Hidalgo, who is now a general attached to President Calles's staff. The divorce was granted on grounds of incompatibility.

In explaining her action yesterday, Carmen De Blasco pointed out that the door would be shut in her face should she attempt to enter any of the homes where she formerly was a welcome guest.

Carmen de Blasco

TIRES OF ONE PERSON

"I cannot help that," she said. "No woman should have a career and a husband, too. An actress tires of being forced into the company of any one person continually. She should have neither one lover nor many, but none. For success I feel that I must hold myself aloof and not keep company with any one. Work on the stage and screen is so strenuous that I must live according to the laws of health and have many hours to myself for rest and repose uninterrupted by any distractions.

"The majority of actresses learn only from experience that they cannot have husbands and careers. The result is that 90 per cent of them obtain divorces."

Until her arrival in Los Angeles fifteen months ago, the pretty actress had no idea of embarking on a theatrical career. Her entire life had been devoted to managing her large household and entertaining her husband's guests.

As a means of earning a living, several of her friends found her engagements singing in theaters. Later she was attracted to picture-making and has appeared in roles in "Playing With Souls," "The Only Thing" and Douglas Fairbanks's "Don Q."

GAIN NEW IDEAS

"Women of the higher classes in Mexico are more obedient to their husbands than any others in the world," she said in discussing the divorce question yesterday. "Those who have traveled, like myself, have gained new ideas and soon all the women of Mexico will be on the same footing with men. Divorce laws have forced men to have greater respect for women and aided in the progress of the race."

BISHOPS OF NEGROES TO MEET HERE

Representatives of Nearly Million Methodists to be in Attendance

Hundreds of members of Methodist churches for colored people of the Southland are expected to attend the sessions of the A.M.E. Church Bishops' Council to be conducted at the Bethel A.M.E. Church from the 26th to the 29th inst., inclusive.

This will be the first time in the history of the African Methodist Episcopal church, the largest negro religious organization in America, that the nineteen bishops will have conducted a conference west of Kansas City.

While largely represented in the West, the A.M.E. church has not so many members in this section of the country as in the eastern and Southern States. The bishops, who will meet in Los Angeles, represent nearly 1,000,000 members and more than 1,000,000 Sunday-school students scattered over every State in the Union and in parts of Canada. The A.M.E. church was founded at Philadelphia, Pa., in 1816 by Richard Allen, its first bishop.

Pedestrian on Long Trip Does Little Walking

An automobile trip on foot has its advantages, declared Clarence H. Jones, 18 years of age, assistant scoutmaster of the Boy Scouts at Burlington, Wash., who arrived in Los Angeles yesterday en route to San Antonio, Tex. Jones explained his trip as follows:

"I can do everything an automobilist can do and yet I own no automobile. I can do everything he connot do because I travel free, keep smiling and do not swear. Blowouts and engine trouble are not among my difficulties."

Jones is making the trip for his health and since leaving Burlington, May 13, last, has received 396 lifts from motorists, he said. He started the trip with $15.50 in his pocket and upon arriving here had $118.36. He explained this by saying that he had worked at odd jobs on the way.

BANQUET DATE SET FOR SPEAKING CLASS

POLYTECHNIC PUPILS WILL HERE KEYES AS THEIR GUEST OF HONOR

The students of Polytechnic evening high school public speaking class will hold their semiannual banquet on the 30th inst. at 6:30 p.m. at the Women's Athletic Club, 833 South Flower street.

Dist.-Atty. Asa Keyes will be the guest of honor and will speak on the subject of "Education." Principal Benchimall of the evening high school, will talk on "Adult Education."

Short talks also are to be made by various members of the class including the following: Harold Delano of the Union Oil Company, H. M. Atkins of the General Petroleum Company, W. D. Palmgren of the Southern Pacific Company, A. N. May of the Pacific Ready-Cut Homes, Inc., H. O. Weber of the Star Engraving Company, Fred M. Sibley of the Bank of Italy, Miss Rose Hendee and R. O. Shetler.

APARTMENT TO ENTERTAIN

An entertainment of interest will be given this evening at the Alvarado Apartments, at Ninth and Alvarado streets by Florence Hart Allen, dramatic reader and comedienne, assisted by Mrs. A. F. Borden, mezzo-soprano, and Evelyn Kemp, pianist. The entertainment is complimentary to the Alvarado Apartment guests and their friends.

COUNCIL AID IN PLAY SITE REQUESTED

New Member Asks Help be Given Commission to Buy Fifteen-Acre Tract

Councilman-elect Moore of the Sixth Councilmanic District yesterday urged the Council to work out some plan to assist the Playground Commission in the purchase of fifteen acres for a playground and athletic field for the southwestern part of the city to be located between Sixty-second and Sixty-third streets and Western and Normandie avenues.

The land will cost about $112,000, and some of the Councilmen expressed a willingness to contribute $25,000 toward this expense from the general funds, the remainder to be paid by the commission from $650,000 it will receive during the next fiscal year beginning July 1; this will be tax money it will receive directly by the provisions of the new charter.

Further consideration of the matter will be given by the Council's Finance Committee next Monday.

Hope Abandoned for Recovery of Court Receiver

Willard L. Goodwin, court receiver and referee in bankruptcy cases, is critically ill at his home, 2817 Halldale avenue, and physicians in attendance have virtually given up hope for his life.

Mr. Goodwin was stricken with influenza about nine weeks ago. This was followed by a general breakdown and his condition has become steadily worse.

Dr. E. C. Fishbaugh and Dr. Roland Cummings, in attendance on Mr. Goodwin, stated last night that their patient's condition was almost hopeless and that death may come at any moment.

DELEGATE IS NAMED TO BUS CONFERENCE

Tom Morgan of Los Angeles, president of United Stages, Inc., will represent bus passenger carriers of California, Oregon and Arizona at the first national conference of motor stage and bus operators in history to be conducted at Chicago this week. The purpose of the Chicago conference will be to appoint a committee to study the motor carriers' problems and to appear before the coming session of Congress to assist in drafting a bill which the national legislative bodies will be asked to enact into a law governing interstate motor traffic.

DOCTOR IS ARRESTED

E. H. Bogue is Held, Charged With Prescribing Narcotics

Dr. E. H. Bogue, 67 years of age, formerly on the medical staff at the Sawtelle Soldiers' Home, was arrested yesterday by Agents Roberts and Ferguson of the State Board of Pharmacy on a complaint charging violation of the State Poison Act on two counts. He is accused of prescribing narcotics for H. Glasscock and Walter Wilhite, contrary to law. Dr. Bogue appeared before Police Judge Pope and entered a plea of not guilty. He was released in $200 bail for trial next Tuesday.

MAID SUES MISTRESS

Mrs. Arthur Freed, 1721 Ogden Drive, Hollywood, was named in a complaint issued by the City Prosecutor's office yesterday charging her with failure to pay $23.22 in wages to Mrs. Etta F. Haskell, a maid. Mrs. Haskell complained to the State Labor Department of the unpaid wages and when Mrs. Freed is said to have failed to settle the claim the complaint was sought. Deputy Prosecutor Smith made out the charge.

MRS. CONVERSE MAY WED ACTOR

Divorcee Here Reported Bennett's Fiancee

Character Player Refuses to Deny Rumor

Former Hollywood Woman Now is in Europe

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, June 17.—The report persisted on Broadway today that Richard Bennett, famous character actor, is about to take unto himself a second wife in the person of Thelma Morgan Converse, who recently was divorced from James Vail Converse, wealthy club man, by a Los Angeles court. Bennett today would neither confirm nor deny the story.

THELMA M. CONVERSE

But the evasiveness of Bennett's replies, together with the admission by him that he was well-acquainted with the club man's former wife, who has recently attained a place in the motion-picture world at Hollywood, and his admission that he had been with her a great deal prior to her sailing for Europe, led his questioners to surmise that there was truth in the report.

"Do you love her?" Bennett was asked.

"If you please, my friend, I should much rather that the lady herself made public any announcements that might seem to you necessary," he replied.

"You know where she is at present?" he was asked.

"I do. She is at this moment either in the Ritz Hotel in Paris, or at Deauville, France. She is with her sister, Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt."

"Yes, I, too, have heard the rumor," he said. "I don't know where it originated. It is interesting."

The actor then explained that Thelma Morgan Converse had been much in the company of his daughter, Constance, just before she went abroad, and that naturally he had seen much of her and been much with her.

"She is about my daughter's age," said Bennett, "but, of course, age, a little difference in age, doesn't preclude love."

Bennett added that he would soon sail for Europe himself and that he expected to see abroad the woman he is reported to be engaged to.

PRETTY GIRL, MEN HELD IN GEM THEFTS

Suspected of having robbed Los Angeles jewelers of diamonds valued at several thousands of dollars, a pretty young woman and two men were arrested late yesterday by Detective Lieutenants Haeck and Carmen of Hollywood Division near a jewelry store at 1092 North Western avenue.

Fashionably dressed, the trio would enter jewelry shops to inspect diamonds, posing as prospective buyers, according to the arresting officers. Several jewelry stores had reported diamonds missing from their trays following visits by two men and a woman.

The woman gave her name as Dorothy Madison, 21 years of age, a motion-picture extra. The men gave the names of Lon Brown, 33, and Harry Ray, 25. All reside at 1805 Highland avenue.

Among the places reported to have been victimized in the past two weeks by the operation of two men and a woman are S. Weinberg, 321 West Fifth street; J. Braunstein, 771 Loew's State Building; P. Barisoff, 224 South Western avenue, and Charles A. Elliott, 747 South Hill street.

BUDGETEERS TO LAY ON HEAVY

So the committee decided that $40 worth of ammunition was sufficient to kill all the animals that required killing, and that if the work could not be done at the rate of three or four bullets per animal some new animal exterminators should be obtained.

The committee had a poor money-saving day yesterday, as requirements of the new charter played havoc with reductions. For example, the salaries of the next City Council of fifteen members will be $4800 a year each, as compared with nine Councilmen now, each of whom receives $2400 a year, or an increase of $50,000 a year on this item alone. Letterheads, envelopes and other supplies for the fifteen Councilmen will cost at least $500 this next fiscal year, as compared with $200 worth of supplies for nine Councilmen.

The economists also raised the salary of City Treasurer Powell from $5000 a year to $7200 a year to equal that of Controller Myers, whose salary of $7200 was fixed by the voters. The salary of City Prosecutor Friedlander was increased to $500 a month. The new rate for heads of departments and that of Chief Deputy City Treasurer McPherrin and Chief Deputy City Prosecutor Krowl, each was raised from $325 to $400 a month, the new rate fixed for chief assistants by reasons of increased duties provided by the new charter.

CONTRACTORS TO MEET

The annual banquet of the Southern California Chapter, Associated General Contractors, will be given on the night of the 26th inst. at the Biltmore. The banquet will be preceded by a reception at 6:30 p.m. A large number of reservations already have been made, it was stated.

LIEUTENANT-COMMANDER Donald B. MacMillan yesterday left Boston aboard the Peary for Wiscasset, on the first leg of his ninth trip into Arctic polar region. Saturday, the expedition, preparations for which have been under way for months, will leave Wiscasset for the northern base at Etah. The expedition will sail in two ships—the Peary and the Bowdoin—which will carry the three Loening planes, as well as the most extensive and complete radio equipment ever carried into the Far North. Six Naval airmen under the command of Lieutenant-Commander Byrd, who will man the planes in the exploration by air of the vast polar regions, will accompany the party. The possibility that the expedition will be ordered by the Navy Department to search for the lost Amundsen party, adds interest to the departure.
